THIS edition of the North Coptic Version of the New Testament was undertaken at the suggestion of Dr. Wallis Budge, Keeper of the Egyptian Department of the British Museum. The original idea was to ascertain the character of the MSS., and to print a text with various readings of ten or twelve authorities. After the collation of thirty MSS. of the Gospel of S. Matthew, of three Lectionaries, of the Curzon Catena, and the sufficient examination of six other MSS., it seemed best to give the result of this work in full, thereby saving the labour and time of other investigators in a somewhat thankless field, where the recent date of all the MSS. deprives them of great interest.

For the other three Gospels, twenty-two MSS. including the Catena and Lectionaries have been collated, and to these are added four which only contain the Gospel of S. John. Besides collating Mark i, Luke xxiv, John viii as test chapters in eleven other MSS., the whole of the Gospel of S. Mark was collated in two of them, then Luke xxiv and John viii in four more which only contained those Gospels, and many chapters of three of the eleven were collated for all the three Gospels. Thus the character of forty-six MSS. has been determined with adequate certainty, and their contents with unimportant exceptions shewn to be fairly homogeneous.

Though two dated MSS. of the thirteenth, two probably earlier, and one of the fourteenth century were found during a visit to Cairo in 1892, the greater number of the oldest have been brought to the libraries of Europe. Rome, Paris, Berlin, London, and Oxford contain most, while Göttingen and two private English collections preserve some valuable specimens. The collation of many of these, begun in 1890, had been nearly completed in the autumn of 1893, by which time a large number of readings had been arranged and the MSS. finally classified. Printing began in the spring of 1894, but the first sheet was not printed off until August. Since that time the work has slowly but regularly progressed, and the three years have been chiefly occupied in compiling a concordance for the Gospels and a complete comparison with the Greek MSS. and other authorities cited by Tischendorf. This work, however, as well as a dissertation upon the chapters and sections, must be reserved for another publication, which will also contain a collation of the English Revised Version with the Coptic text and various readings.

It was in deference to the opinion of Professors

Ludwig Stern and Ignazio Guidi, and of the late Professor Lagarde that the text of one MS. was printed without attempt at emendation. The last-mentioned scholar deprecated the expense of time upon collation of other MSS., believing that the oldest Bodleian MS. contained the only ancient text. Before this important opinion had been heard, collation had already revealed several interesting facts about the MSS., justifying the performance of the work, and shewing that the printed Bodleian text is not alone in its purity, but while exhibiting more important omissions than other MSS. contains additions absent from two others which may be classed with it.

Until much labour has been expended upon the material collected, no final conclusion can be attained concerning the character of the Version. The first impression produced by a superficial study of the text and various readings tends to confirm the prevalent estimate of the Version, and it appears probable that this estimate will remain established until documents of another sort are discovered in Egypt. The theory of the preservation of an unchanged form of text in the Egyptian Jacobite MSS. is also strikingly confirmed by those collated. Corrections indeed occur in all, yet frequent notes in several state that the corrections are Greek and not Coptic, implying as plainly as possible that the Jacobite Copts jealously preserved a tradition as to the correct readings of their Version against Melchite, i. e. Constantinopolitan readings or innovations.

The text and variants are now submitted to the comparatively few scholars who can use them, with a hope that as regards the Gospels there may be in future no ground for the lament expressed by an eminent German authority, 'We are afraid to use the Coptic Bible.' As for the translation which has been made at the desire of Bishop Westcott and the request of the Clarendon Press, much can be learned from it respecting the peculiarities of the Version; and many interesting facts relating to the Greek text will be now accessible to those English readers who may have patience to bear with the crudeness of the literal rendering.

Besides the debt of gratitude which is pre-eminently due to Dr. Wallis Budge for his first suggestion and continued interest in the work, thanks are most gratefully given to several learned men whose names may also be recorded. It was the favourable verdict of Professors Hyvernât and Guidi, upon a specimen offered by Dr. Neubauer to their criticism, which induced the Delegates of the Clarendon Press to accept the proposal for the work. Dr. Gregory of Leipzig gave important advice as to the method of collation, and such accuracy as may have been attained is largely due to his valuable counsel. Dr. Rieu, Mr. A. G. Ellis, Professor Stern at Berlin, and Professor Zotenberg in Paris, devoted much time to questions regarding the MSS. under their able care, helping chiefly to elucidate the obscure Arabic colophons ; to which task the Laudian Professor of Arabic contributed in still greater measure, his ample store of learning and acute conjecture being seldom consulted in vain. The friendliness of Professor Pietschmann at Göttingen, and of M. Taram, the Librarian of the Catholic Institute of Paris, who most kindly allowed his precious MS. to be taken away for collation, must also be acknowledged ; while several other friends, the Rev. A. C. Headlam, Professors Erman and Steindorff, and Dr. K. Schmidt, have been most liberal in offer of help, and their suggestions and interest have been valued in the highest degree. The Rev. Forbes Robinson also took very great trouble over some sheets of the translation, and would have rendered still more assistance had time permitted. The death of Mgr. Carini prevents any acknowledgement to him for special facilities and increase of time, peculiarly gratifying in the Vatican Library. The ability and knowledge of Professor Guidi are already famous, and require no mention here except that they were always placed ungrudgingly at the disposal of a stranger in Rome. He was also specially kind in procuring photographs of the Vatican MSS. Patriarch Cyril of Alexandria under circumstances of great difficulty could give but little assistance beyond friendly words and a courteous reception, but the Bishop of Sanabau, the Priest Abd al-Malik, and Naklah Bey generously allowed the collation of four interesting MSS. which had not been previously examined. Thanks are also due to Butrus Pasha, Marcus Bey Simaikah, and Habashi Bey for their sympathy and valuable support. The Earl of Crawford and Lord Zouche shewed great interest in the work, their permission for the collation of MSS. is here gratefully acknowledged. After the primary suggestion of Dr. Wallis Budge, it was the approval of Bishop Westcott that determined the undertaking of the work, and his encouragement, with that of Bishop Ellicott and Bishop Wordsworth, deserves very sincere gratitude. The same is also given to Mr. Pembrey, the celebrated Oriental Reader of the Press, whose accuracy, diligence, and versatile ability have been often praised.

INTRODUCTION

TEXT.

THE text of MS. Huntington 17, Bodleian Library, Oxford, called A in the apparatus, has been printed in the form of the original arrangement, shewing the small sections or verses. Occasionally a letter occurs which is rather larger than the ordinary script, and is sometimes reddened. Such a letter is regarded as a capital, and is thus printed wherever it may come in the line. If the letter is not reddened, no attention is paid to the larger size, although possibly referring to some special division of the copied MS. Besides these letters, a larger and sometimes reddened € is occasionally seen as a final letter of a line; but this is seldom noticed in the printed text.

The Ammonian sections and canons have been taken from other MSS., chiefly B, and agree as nearly as possible with the same sections given by Tischendorf. Many slight variations of these sections are found in the MSS., and as none at all appear in A it was thought best to make them suit the convenience of students by conforming them to the Greek. Their differences with those also of the chapters may be reserved for future discussion.

The Chapters of the MS. are indicated by breaks in the printed text, and usually a Coptic letter will be seen therein following the Greek alphabetic notation. When the number is inserted within brackets some mistake or omission of the scribe disturbed the order. In the margin stand Greek uncials to denote the Greek larger chapters, which have been taken from various MSS., chiefly B C₁ and Γ, according to the

are separated except when the suffixed noun is used for a pronoun, as $\epsilon\lambda\pi\omicron\iota$ to me. $\omega\delta\epsilon\delta\omicron\lambda$ &c., $\iota\chi\epsilon\pi\tau\iota\omicron\upsilon$ &c. are regarded as compound forms, and $\epsilon\theta\delta\epsilon$ is always joined to $\phi\alpha\iota$ and $\omicron\upsilon$, though it would have been better kept separate, like the other prepositions. $\pi\epsilon$ is not regarded as enclitic because it may be separated from the previous word by $\tau\alpha\rho$ or $\delta\epsilon$ (Luke xxii. 2, xxiii. 38). $\chi\epsilon$ and $\alpha\pi$ are also separated, and for consistency $\chi\epsilon$ is never united to the following word, though $\bar{\pi}\chi\epsilon$, as having but one merely mechanical use of denoting the subject of the sentence, is always joined thereto. The presubjective regent of the verb (α , $\alpha\rho\epsilon$, $\pi\epsilon$, $\epsilon\pi\epsilon$, &c.) is not joined; and the object is separated from the construct state except when the united form is practically one composite expression, as with the compounds of $\epsilon\rho$, $\psi\iota$, $\epsilon\iota$, $\sigma\iota$, and τ , though τ is separated from $\epsilon\delta\omicron\lambda$ and $\epsilon\iota$ for 'to sell' and 'to clothe;' $\epsilon\iota$ also is separated from $\delta\epsilon\lambda\lambda\omega\pi$, but $\epsilon\iota\omega\iota\psi$, $\epsilon\iota\omega\pi\iota$, $\psi\iota\rho\omega\omicron\upsilon\psi$ are joined. The demonstratives $\pi\alpha\iota$ &c. are always joined with the following word except when $\pi\alpha\iota$ is the plural of the absolute form $\phi\alpha\iota$, e.g. $\pi\alpha\iota \delta\epsilon \tau\eta\rho\omicron\upsilon$ (Luke xxi. 12). $\kappa\epsilon$ is joined and enclosed if π &c. precede. $\phi\eta$ &c. are kept separate, and also $\pi\epsilon$ when followed by $\epsilon\tau$, although at first this rule was not observed in the apparatus. $\pi\epsilon\chi\epsilon$ and $\omicron\upsilon\omicron\pi$ are also never united with the succeeding word.

The punctuation by a full point alone does not follow the irregularities and obvious mistakes (e.g. $\alpha\phi.\rho\eta\tau$) of the original MS., but is intended to simplify the reading of the text, without regard to analysis of clauses. If the sense is made clear in a complex sentence by conjunctions, no point is put (Matt. ix. 15, $\sigma\epsilon\pi\eta\omicron\upsilon$ &c.). The point is always placed before $\chi\epsilon$ of narration, however short the statement of the speaking may be. The abbreviated words of the text are those of the MS. In John i. 1, where the word $\phi\tau$ occurs written in red (for $\phi\iota\omicron\upsilon\tau$), there seems to be the mark of abbreviation which is said to be the sign of the twelfth century writing, and earlier. Elsewhere it has been printed without the mark. MS. B having been written in the earlier style, MSS. D₁ E₁ and MS. Γ in the Epistles and Acts (separate volume) use the mark above $\Phi\bar{\Gamma}$, Γ (Gospels) has it once very plainly, apparently by the original hand, in a marginal addition. In none of the other MSS. does this mark occur; E_2 , though ascribed to the twelfth century, is no exception to the rule. $\pi\overline{\sigma\tau}$ is always printed for $\pi\sigma\omega\iota\varsigma$; but with this form and the others, $\pi\overline{\iota\varsigma\lambda}$, $\pi\overline{\chi\varsigma\varsigma}$, $\pi\overline{\mu\alpha}$, the line ought to have extended over all the letters according to the usual practice of the MSS. $\overline{\omega}$ is found in the earlier MSS. for 200 instead of $\overline{\varsigma}$, which would naturally follow $\overline{\rho}$ for 100. The later cursive form for $\overline{\kappa}$ in the Ammonian sections, pages, and dates is ω , and this suggests that the form with a stroke attached might serve for 200, although ρ with a stroke is properly 2000.

In orthography the MS. has not been always followed: $\eta\rho\omega\Delta\eta\varsigma$, $\mu\mu\Delta\Theta\eta\tau\eta\varsigma$, $\Delta\rho\chi\iota\epsilon\rho\epsilon\tau\varsigma$ of the printed text were almost always $\eta\rho\omega\tau\eta\varsigma$, $\mu\mu\Delta\Theta\iota\tau\eta\varsigma$, $\Delta\rho\chi\eta\epsilon\rho\epsilon\tau\varsigma$; $\epsilon\tau\iota$ is often $\epsilon\bar{\Gamma}$. Wherever a vowel is represented by a very small line or other mark, as $\overline{\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon}$ for $\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon$, a short line has been printed except where a vowel precedes, as in $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\overline{\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon}$, which word is often written $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\overline{\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon}$. Similarly the line has not been printed above $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\eta\eta\eta$, though the later MSS. write $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\bar{\eta}\eta\eta$. Occasionally in the apparatus $\overline{\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon}$ &c. are brought down as part of $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\overline{\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon\epsilon}$ &c., the line doing duty for the vowel, as remarked above. $\omicron\chi\omicron\eta\eta\eta\eta\eta\eta\eta$ &c. is printed instead of $\omicron\chi\omicron\eta\eta\eta\eta\eta\eta\eta$ &c. The η frequently written above another vowel is always printed in the line, though it is quite possible that the original scribe often omitted to add the letter which a corrector afterwards wrote. Other letters also written above at the end of the line are also printed in the line without remark. When however a letter is added above in the middle or earlier part of the line it is regarded as a correction and mentioned in the apparatus.

TRANSLATION.

THE object of the translation is to supply the English reader with some knowledge of the Greek text which was translated by the Egyptians of the North-Western province, whose dialect has survived to the present day in the liturgical books of the Coptic church. This being the main object, it is also intended by literal treatment to give an idea of the peculiarities of the language and the method of the version.

Care has been taken with the vocabulary, yet no claim is made to secure and fix absolutely the best meaning of Coptic words in English. The translated word must be regarded as a token for a Greek word, and stands for that Greek word wherever it may occur, due exception being made for cases where one Coptic word plainly represents two or more Greek words, e.g. ⲙⲱⲛⲓ may be for εἶναι, γίνεσθαι, &c. In the use of many words the Revised Version (R.V.), with archaisms retained from the Authorised Version (A.V.), has been copied. If an unusual word occurs and is the same as R.V., the same Greek word is believed to underlie R.V. and the Coptic. Sometimes a paraphrase of R.V. has been employed, e.g. 'sit at meat,' and it must not be supposed that the Coptic is literally rendered by such expressions, which will usually be found to represent one Greek word. On the other hand, Coptic paraphrases, minutely varying, are often preserved, though they reflect no peculiarity of the Greek; such small changes are probably caused by motive of style or failure of consistency. The rule of translating by the same English word has been kept as much as possible. Accidental variation will be found; and there are places where a variation is made because of some exceptional occurrence (Matt. xx. 21), to prevent ambiguity, and to bring out the full meaning of the Coptic or its accurate agreement with the Greek.

The literal character of the translation requires that the Coptic order of words should be maintained, and this rule has been carefully obeyed where any point of meaning is in question or important difference of order (John i. 26). When however R.V. has departed from the Greek order for the sake of the English, the translation as a rule conforms to this variation. Another common variation arises when the unqualified subject follows the verb, or is preceded by the tense sign of the verb; but in cases of this kind if a Greek variant occurred the variation would not be made.

When the object of the sentence is placed first, conforming with the Greek order, and is afterwards repeated, the translation usually places the object after the verb.

It need scarcely be remarked that while the Coptic often follows the Greek order with scrupulous accuracy, exigencies of the language constantly disturb the arrangement of words; and, further, let the reader observe that peculiarities of the translation which at first sight might be ascribed to the Coptic will be found existing likewise in the Greek.

The punctuation of R. V. has been taken as a guide, especially in the Gospels of Mark and Luke. Occasionally the full stop may mark the end of a verse in the Coptic text. The use of the colon after words of speaking will be found below in the remarks upon $\chi\epsilon$.

Amongst many inconsistencies of the translation, which might be corrected in a careful revisal, it will be found that rules are liable to be set aside in parallel passages (Mark ii. 23; Luke vi. 1). This is often intentional, and means to exhibit the precise correspondence of the parallel words.

After these general statements several points require special treatment which is bestowed upon them in the following grammatical order:

The Articles π , \dagger are always translated 'the,' π , ϕ , τ , θ ('the'): $\pi\iota\theta\omega$, $\pi\iota\omega\tau$ ($\pi\iota\kappa\epsilon\iota\omega\tau$ once), $\pi\iota\overline{\theta\tau}$ never occur, therefore $\phi\iota\theta\omega$, $\phi\iota\omega\tau$, $\overline{\pi\theta\tau}$ are always 'the sea,' 'the Father,' 'the Lord.' Similarly $\phi\dagger$, $\pi\overline{\chi\tau}$, $\pi\tau\Delta\tau\Delta\pi\Delta\tau$ are always 'God,' 'Christ,' 'Satan' because $\pi\iota\theta\omega\dagger$, $\pi\iota\overline{\chi\tau}$, $\pi\iota\tau\Delta\tau\Delta\pi\Delta\tau$ are never seen.

It is occasionally suggested in the apparatus that π &c. represent the absence of the Greek article. The distinction however between $\pi\iota$ and π (as derived from $\pi\Delta\iota$ and $\pi\eta$) is not well defined in the Gospels; although the difference between $\pi\iota \dots \bar{\eta}\tau\epsilon$ and $\pi \dots \bar{\eta}$ is usually observed, and exceptions perhaps admit of explanation.

Proper names of persons never take $\pi\iota$, \dagger ; but if $\kappa\epsilon$ be combined with such a proper name it seems necessary to use $\pi\iota$ or π , e.g. $\pi\kappa\epsilon\bar{\iota}\eta\varsigma$, Luke iii. 21; $\pi\kappa\epsilon\lambda\alpha\zeta\alpha\rho\omicron\varsigma$, John xii. 10. Names of countries always have \dagger , which is not translated; but the towns $\kappa\alpha\pi\alpha$, $\varsigma\alpha\mu\mu\alpha\rho\iota\alpha$, $\varsigma\iota\omega\pi$ being preceded by τ , it is rendered ('the') according to the rule. $\varsigma\iota\lambda\omega\alpha\alpha$ takes $\pi\iota$.

The few nouns suffixed by ς are treated as defined by $\pi\iota$. Such are $\kappa\epsilon\pi\varsigma$, $\rho\omega\varsigma$, $\chi\omega\varsigma$, $\varrho\theta\eta\varsigma$, $\alpha\tau\rho\eta\chi\varsigma$; but should any of them refer to a person, ς is regarded as the usual possessive suffix, e.g. $\alpha\varsigma\tau\phi\iota$ $\epsilon\rho\omega\varsigma$ 'he kissed his mouth.' $\varsigma\alpha\pi\epsilon\iota\epsilon\beta\tau$ 'the west,' $\varsigma\alpha\rho\eta\varsigma$ 'the south,' $\pi\epsilon\alpha\tau$ 'the ends' are translated with the definite article.

$\pi\iota$, regularly 'the,' with $\varrho\alpha\tau$, Matt. xxviii. 15, is rendered 'the silver pieces.' $\pi\epsilon\pi$ before the genitive is ('the') as plural of π &c.

The indefinite article $\omicron\tau$ is translated 'a'; when however it represents the absence of the Greek article or belongs to adjectives ($\omicron\tau\theta\alpha\mu\iota$, $\omicron\tau\pi\iota\psi\tau$) and the adverbial paraphrase ($\vartheta\epsilon\pi\omicron\tau\varsigma\omega\omicron\tau\epsilon\pi$), it must be omitted. $\varrho\alpha\pi$ (plur.) is seldom translated; for the only possible equivalent 'some' is stronger than the Coptic word, and translates $\varrho\alpha\pi\omicron\tau\omicron\pi$. Once or more the plural idea is expressed by 'things' ($\varrho\alpha\pi\pi\epsilon\tau\varrho\omega\omicron\tau$ 'evil things').

The possessive article $\phi\alpha$ &c. can usually be translated 'of'; but 'the things of' must sometimes be used.

The personal Pronouns, expressed frequently in John, almost always correspond to the Greek; though the third person varies much, and has been translated according to R. V., so that it may represent δ , $\alpha\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\epsilon\iota\nu\omicron\varsigma$, and $\omicron\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$. The suffixes, literally 'me' &c., are often translated 'myself' &c., without implying Greek $\acute{\epsilon}\mu\alpha\upsilon\tau\omicron\nu$ &c. The pronominal object after verbs of perception is generally absent in the Coptic, and sometimes has been supplied in round brackets.

The demonstrative pronouns. $\pi\alpha\iota$ &c. prefixed to nouns render δ . . . $\omicron\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$ &c., and there seems no way of following the Greek when the order of the Greek is changed for emphasis. $\pi\alpha\iota$, 'these,' often requires the addition 'things,' which word is bracketed in Mark, Luke, and John; where in Matthew the brackets are omitted it is always supplementary if preceded by 'these' or 'all these.' On the other hand, 'thing' (ΦΗ), 'things' (ΠΗ) are not bracketed after 'the'; and 'the thing' was latterly replaced by the less exact 'that' when followed by the relative: the rendering 'what' being avoided because reserved for ΟΥ (interr.). ΦΗ ΕΤΕΛΛΕΛΛΟΥ is the definite and usual expression for 'that,' ἐκεῖνος; ΦΔΙ, ΠΔΙ, ΘΔΙ, ΡΔΙ very seldom occur with ΕΤΕΛΛΕΛΛΟΥ at the risk of self-contradiction being literally 'this' and 'these which are there,' and the rarity of their occurrence gives suspicion of error.

ΦΗ ΕΤ (ὁ with participle, ὅς, ὅστις) is translated 'he who,' 'that which,' or 'who,' 'which,' according as the phrase can dispense with expression of the antecedent. The same applies to the feminine and plural forms, there being no neuter. A few exceptions of rendering will be noted, viz. 'the sower,' 'the builders,' 'the fatlings,' for 'he who soweth' &c. Similarly the shortened forms ΠΕ ΕΤ and ΠΕΤ are 'he who,' 'that which,' unless prefixed to verbs and adjectives. In both these cases the pronominal particles may be ignored, and the combined form is translated by the simple tense or noun, ΠΘΟΚ ΠΕΤΑΚΧΩ ΞΕΛΛΟC 'thou saidst,' not 'thou art he who saidst;' ΠΕΤΖΩΟΥ 'the evil,' not 'that which is evil.' There are several exceptions in the latter case required by the context. Occasionally (John iv. 10) ΠΕ ΕΤ is used when ἐστίν is expressed, and in some few cases the literal translation is given where ἐστίν is not expressed (John iv. 18).

The possessive pronominal prefix (ΠΔ &c.) corresponding to ὁ . . . μου &c. is the ordinary form and is translated 'my' &c. When ΠΤΔΙ &c. occur apparently for the sake of emphasis (John i. 37) they have been translated 'of mine' &c.; ΦΩΙ &c. being 'mine' &c. The want of a neuter form causes ambiguity with ΠΕΥ, and when any doubt prevails it is always rendered 'his.' The feminine ΠΕC frequently represents the neuter.

ΖΩ with suffix expressed or understood, radically meaning 'body,' gives emphasis to the accompanying pronoun, and has been rendered by 'self' when possible. Elsewhere it is occasionally omitted and more rarely rendered 'indeed,' as also $\rho\omega$ has once been rendered. Further, since it plainly represents $\kappa\alpha\iota$, second word of the sentence, 'also' seems the more frequent and best equivalent.

Emphasis besides may be given to a suffixed word by the expression of the personal pronoun appropriate to the suffix, but this emphasis has usually been neglected in the translation.

Nouns without article are often regarded as plural, only a few having a special plural form. For ⲉⲱⲛ see below.

The spelling of the commonest proper names follows A.V. and R.V. unless there is any peculiarity to be noticed in the Coptic. ⲓⲛⲏ for ⲏⲛⲏ has not been retained.

If a noun of multitude be used with a verb of the singular number, this number is kept in the translation where in English the plural would be preferred.

When a noun with prefix $\bar{\text{ⲏ}}(\bar{\text{ⲱ}})$, but without article, follows another noun it is regarded as an Adjective, and in some cases a hyphen is used, especially where the Greek has the genitive, or expresses by one word, e. g. $\epsilon\phi\eta\mu\epsilon\rho\acute{\iota}\alpha\varsigma$, Luke i. 5. According to this rule $\text{ⲟⲩⲱⲙⲉⲥ ⲙⲙⲉⲧⲉⲧⲁⲛⲟⲓⲁ}$ should have been 'a repentance-baptism,' ⲉⲁⲛⲩⲱⲓ ⲛⲉⲁⲙⲟⲩⲗ 'camel-hairs.'

The preformatives $\epsilon\psi$, $\epsilon\tau(\theta)$ supply further the want of adjectives; but where it was thought necessary the literal meaning of present tense and relative has been retained.

ⲛⲓⲱⲧⲥ and ⲟⲩⲙⲙⲉⲩ chiefly represent $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\alpha\varsigma$ and $\pi\omicron\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\varsigma$; there being however no apparent sign of distinction, the translation has followed the Greek, and renders ⲛⲓⲱⲧⲥ by 'much' when the Greek has $\pi\omicron\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\varsigma$. ⲙⲙⲉⲩ , properly 'multitude' and often standing for Greek $\delta\acute{\omicron}\lambda\omicron\varsigma$, when used with the articles ⲟⲩ , ⲉⲁⲛ represents $\pi\omicron\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\varsigma$ and $\pi\omicron\lambda\lambda\omicron\iota$, ⲟⲩ rendering the Greek plural as well as ⲉⲁⲛ .

There are no forms of comparison in Coptic. The superlative cannot be expressed, and the positive followed by ϵ and ⲉⲉⲟⲩⲧⲉ is translated as comparative with 'than.' ⲉⲟⲩⲟ is 'more,' and ⲛⲓⲱⲧⲥ ⲛⲉⲉⲟⲩⲟ occurs for 'greater,' $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\iota\zeta\omicron\nu\omicron\varsigma$, Luke xii. 18, without ϵ .

πισθεν combined with οτον and ζωδ is translated 'all,' where necessary 'all things,' without reference to ζωδ having a special plural form (translated 'works'); but if the singular number is plainly denoted in the sentence, the rendering is 'every one,' 'every thing,' even where the Greek may have plural. τηρς &c., the suffix always appended is never noticed, and the usual translation is 'all'; but sometimes 'the whole' or 'all the' when representing ὅλος.

In Matthew the article of the Vocative has been printed with square or round brackets, while in the other Gospels it has been omitted. If the possessive pronoun accompanies the vocative it is always translated because the reading occasionally varies. This usage however may be regarded as an idiom and is never due to a Greek variant.

The Verb can be used without any preformative, and the tense must then be determined by the context. Elsewhere strict uniformity of rendering will be found in the translation of the tenses, and by the employment of the preformative of the third person singular, the method may be shewn in the following table:—

Present ψαυτελλ he heareth.

Imperfect παψαυτελλ he was hearing.

Present Participle εψαυτελλ he hearing, (is) hearing.

Present Relative ετεψαυτελλ who heareth.

Preterite αψαυτελλ he heard.

Perfect ii. εταψαυτελλ he heard: (1) after conjunctions;
(2) interrogative.

Pluperfect νεαψαυτελλ he had heard.

Perfect Participle εταψαυτελλ he having heard.

Preterite Relative εταψαυτελλ who heard.

Future i. ψναυτελλ he will hear.

„ ii. αψναυτελλ he is to hear.

„ iii. εψεαυτελλ he shall hear.

„ Imperfect παψναυτελλ he was to hear (or about to hear).

„ Participle εψναυτελλ he about, going to hear.

„ i. Relative ετεψναυτελλ who will hear.

„ iii. Relative ετεψεαυτελλ who shall hear.

Imperative αυτελλ hear.

Imperative ἄρεψατε let him hear.

Customary Present ἄρψατε he heareth.

Customary Preterite ἔρψατε he used to hear.

ἄρψατε until he heard (hear).

Customary Present Negative ἄρψατε he heareth not.

Preterite Negative ἔρψατε he heard not.

Prior Preterite ἔρψατε he heard (heareth) not yet, before he heard.

Future iii. Negative ἄρψατε he shall not hear.

Imperative Negative ἄρψατε hear not.

” ” ἄρψατε let him not hear.

Conjunctive ἄρψατε see below.

Conjunctive Negative ἄρψατε.

Conditional ἄρψατε he should hear.

Conditional Negative ἄρψατε unless he heard (hear).

The personal pronoun (subject) is not necessarily expressed in the translation, and more often omitted unless ἦτο &c. occur.

No mention has been made of Present ii. ἄρψατε because this form is regarded as Pret. since it has no certain sign of distinction from the Pret. Compounded with the participial forms ἰσχυρῶς and ὑπο, ἄρψα has been thrice or more translated as Pres., and occasionally the Pres. is used with (ἄρψα). ἄρψα and ἄρψατε are the only two forms of this tense which can be distinguished from the Pret., and of these the rarely found presubjective form ἄρψα is translated as Pres. ἄρψατε in Matt. v. 21, 27, 33, 38, 43 renders the Greek aorist without variant, and in 27 the Bohairic has ἄρψατε (10 MSS.) with variant ἄρψατε (7 MSS.): compare also Mark xi. 17 ἄρψατε, ἄρψατε, D₂, ἄρψατε, Γ M, Gr. B L Δ ἐποιήκατε, N A C D &c. ἐποιήσατε, 238 alone ποιεῖτε: also combined with ἐπ, ἄρψατε is never translated Pres., therefore it cannot safely be thus rendered.

The object of these remarks being merely an exposition of the method of the translation, this is not the place to discuss in full such problems of tense, which can only be solved by evidence proceeding from the whole literature; nor need the translator decide when ἄρψα renders the Pret. or Pres. This as well as the question when the full Perfect with ‘have’ or the simple Pret. should be used in translating the same preformative ⲁϣ must be left to further grammatical investigation.

There is also confusion between ⲁ(ϵ)ϣ and ⲁ(ϵ)ϣ, caused by the similarity of the Greek pronunciation recognized by the Copts at the present day, whereby av is spoken af; or by the similarity of the forms ϣ(ϣ) and ϣ. Some MSS. constantly shew this confusion between the singular and plural.

The auxiliary 'do' and 'did' have been occasionally employed, but as seldom as possible, and not indicating any difference in the Coptic Pres. or Pret.

ⲡⲁϣ does not always correspond to the Gr. Imperfect, neither is it always possible to give the sign of the Imperfect in the translation. When necessary the word (imperf.) is added in brackets after 'was,' though this was not done in the earlier part of the work. Again ⲡϵ...ⲡϵ has been sometimes rendered by the Imperfect; but latterly and more correctly it was regarded as the Pret.

The two common forms of the Future ϣⲡⲁ and ϵϣϵ, which often seem interchangeable in the Coptic, are carefully distinguished in the translation, being 'he will' and 'he shall' respectively. 'Will' is always printed with italics in Matthew, and is occasionally used in defiance of our idiom and should be corrected in a revisal. When ⲡⲁ occurs without prefix no difference is made. The second ϵ of ϵϣϵ has probably fallen out in a few places, e.g. Luke ii. 34, xxi. 19. For irregularity about ⲡⲁϣⲡⲁ see below.

The Customary Present is never distinguished from the Pres., usually corresponding to the Gr. Pres. and but rarely to the Future. The rare Customary Pret. corresponds to the Gr. Imperfect.

The Optative is not used, ⲙⲙⲁⲡϵϣ being always treated as Imperative.

The Conjunctive varies according to the context between 'may,' 'might,' 'should,' and 'would' (after request) when following ⲉⲓⲡⲁ. If merely connective, with or without previous ⲟⲩⲟⲉ 'and,' it carries on the foregoing tense, usually without repetition of the sign of that tense in the translation. Very rarely it has been translated by 'let,' Luke xiii. 14.

ϣλπ always represents the Gr. Subjunctive, and is frequently accompanied by εϣωπ. Where without εϣωπ 'if' must often be supplied.

The sign of the Potential mood ω seldom occurs, $\deltaύναμαι$ being usually rendered by $\omicron\tau\omicron\omicron(\overline{\omega\omega\omega\omega})\omega\chi\omicron\omega$, and $\iotaσχύειν$ by $\omega\chi\epsilon\omega\chi\omicron\omega$. The former is translated 'it is (not) possible,' and the latter 'to be able.'

The auxiliary form $\Theta\text{PE}\zeta$ has caused difficulty in the translation, and uniform treatment could not be maintained. Sometimes the literal causal force is expressed, and in a few cases even when the form stands for the Imperative Negative ($\Theta\text{ΠEN}\Theta\text{PE}$), though without intending any difference of meaning. Often with ϵ prefixed it represents the infinitive with 'to,' less frequently it was rendered by 'that...should.' Lastly, with or without ΣIN prefixed, $\Theta\text{PE}\zeta$ has been translated as the noun of action.

The common phrase $\epsilon\pi\epsilon\gamma\rho\alpha\iota\iota\ \pi\epsilon$ was first translated 'whose name is,' but latterly this was replaced by 'his name being' without any reference to the slight variation of the Greek.

In several places the form €&Ÿ seems identical in meaning with €Ŧ&Ÿ and has been rendered by 'having,' 'having been,' for it is possible that € was prefixed for euphony, and in those places two Preterites &Ÿ . . . &Ÿ, according to the idiom of the language, may have been intended. On the other hand, the form is found after an indefinite antecedent, and also as attribute of the object of the verb (Stern, Gram., § 423).

ΕΤ(Θ) when combined with the simple form of the verb or a preposition is translated by the Relative and Present, unless, as above stated, it becomes with ΦΗ or ΠΗ a singular or plural noun. Where, however, past time belongs to the sentence ΕΤΩΤΕΡΩ, ΕΤΩΤΕΝ may be translated 'who heard,' 'who were in.' Occasionally (John ii. 9) the Present has been used when plainly referring to a previous Imperfect with the idea of duration of time. Sometimes also (John iv. 35) the Relative is ignored as if ΠΕ preceded (cf. demonstr. pronoun).

ΕΘΝΔ has been regarded invariably as Future, though frequently representing the Relative with ἄν, and sometimes even the Present, e. g. ΦΗ ΕΘΝΔΤΗΤ, ὁ παραδιδούς.

No account has been taken of the double Negative ἦ...ΔΗ, but reference is made in the apparatus to the absence of ἦ or ΔΗ when both might have been expected, or when ἦ may have easily fallen out before ϣ in the form ΕΤΕΝϣΩΤΕΛΛ.

The Greek οὐ μὴ is rendered by the negative of Future iii.

Interrogative sentences are usually introduced by ΝΙΛΛ, ΟΥ, ΔΥ, ΔΗ, ΙΕ. In the few cases where there is no interrogative word the Greek is usually likewise destitute. Therefore the translation sometimes ignores the question which is required by the context.

The separation of the Preformative from the verb by the Subject cannot be indicated by the translation, nor can there be any difference made between ΠΕΧΕ and ΠΕΧΔϣ. Moreover the difference in the government of the Object, immediately or by a preposition, cannot be expressed in English.

When the unvarying Greek Passive is translated by the Copt into the third plural Present or Pret. with pronominal suffix or pronoun or very rarely the nominal Object (John iii. 4), the Passive is given in English; whereas if the third singular be used, or the Subject or Object be expressed, or the Customary Pres. employed, the paraphrase is translated literally. There are a few unintentional exceptions to this rule. In many cases the simple form of the verb, as well as the participial or qualitative form, is treated as Passive in the translation, and ΟΙ when used as an auxiliary may also thus be rendered. On the other hand, if the English verb can be intransitive as 'open,' the neutral meaning is retained.

The Asyndeton, characteristic of the language, has been preserved in almost every case, because variation occurs in the MSS. The frequent phenomenon of repetition of tense where the Greek has a participle and finite verb is also rendered literally though printed with italics in Matthew, for it was at first thought that an unknown Greek variant might have existed.

Prepositions.

€ is not translated after verbs of perception, nor if this preposition is used is notice taken of the varying Greek construction of the verb of believing. When possible, € is rendered by 'to' with verbs of motion, 'into' being kept for the compounds € ζ ορν € &c. Occasionally 'against,' 'at,' 'for,' 'of,' 'towards,' and 'with' are required by the meaning of a verb; and € sometimes renders the Greek dative as well as the prepositions €is, €πί, πρós. For €χεν and €δολ see below.

̄̄(̄̄) renders the Greek dative and ablative more regularly and thus has been translated 'for,' 'to,' 'at,' 'by,' 'from,' 'in,' 'with' with or without the Greek prepp. ἀπό, €is (time), €ν, €πί, παρά, πρós. Preceded rarely by €δολ it renders ἀπό, but also €κ and παρά.

̄̄Τ€ almost always is 'of,' yet occasionally 'by,' 'for,' 'from,' 'to.'

̄̄Τεν, usually rendering παρά, is 'from,' but also 'for,' 'by' (ύπό), 'of.' Similarly ̄̄ΤΟΤϣ &c., though these more frequently render ύπό and ἀπό.

€θδε is regularly 'because of,' διά, €νεκα, ύπέρ; 'concerning,' περί, rarely πρós.

€θδεοϣ 'wherefore,' τί, διατί, πρós τι; €θδεφδι 'therefore,' δια τοϋτο.

̄̄€€ varies in the translation according to the Greek και, μετά, σύν.

̄̄€€ seldom occurs alone as 'at,' 'on,' much more often following verbs with appropriate meaning, e.g. κω† 'seek for,' €οϣι 'walk after.'

ϣ€ should always be 'unto,' €ως, to distinguish it from €€, but both may render πρós.

€€, usually 'under,' may also be 'about,' 'against,' 'at,' 'for'; and in composition with πο and ρατ, τζη, χεν, χωοϣ 'before,' and with Τεν 'by' (place), 'with.'

€εν, like ̄̄, and possibly sometimes confused with it, represents the Greek dative and ablative without preposition, and has been variously translated. Most often it renders ἐν, but also ἀπό, εἰς, ἐπί, κατά, μετά, and πρὸς. Preceded by ἐξοῦ it usually corresponds to ἐκ, but not seldom to ἀπό.

ἔλ almost always renders πρὸς of motion to a person, but is also found for εἰς, ἐπί, ἕως, παρά. Preceded by ἐξοῦ it commonly represents ἀπό.

ἐν if possible has been translated 'on,' ἐπί, but often 'in' is required for Greek ἐν, also 'at,' and in two places it stands for καί 'and.' Preceded by ἐξοῦ 'from,' ἀπό, also ἐκ. ἔλ once occurs alone, but often preceded by ἐξοῦ is translated 'by,' 'through,' and renders ὑπό, διά, also ἀπό, παρά.

ἐπὶ 'upon' renders ἐπί gen. and dat., but also acc.; ἐξ 'upon,' rarely 'over,' ἐπί acc., but also gen. and dat. 'against,' also 'for,' περί, ὑπό, and lastly, though seldom, rendering εἰς and κατά.

The forms combined with adverbial substantives are sometimes literally translated, e. g. ἐνθῶνθεν 'down in,' but ordinarily these forms are regarded as simple prepositions.

The phrase ἐνθα with noun is usually treated as an Adverb. ἐνθα is always 'here,' ὧδε. The periphrasis πῖ(or φ)θα ἐστ... ὅπου rendering ὅπου is literally translated 'the place in which,' because of the slight variation between ὅπου and ὅπου. If this occurs, πῖθα ἐστ... ὅπου has been translated 'where.'

καὶ and ἐπὶ are almost always translated 'thus,' and very often render οὕτως. Occasionally connected with καί, representing ὁμοίως, ὡσαύτως, it might have been always translated 'likewise'; and this has been done in several places with (lit. thus again).

κατὰ φησὶ is always 'according as,' and usually rendering καθώς.

Conjunctions.

In conditional sentences ἐάν with or without ὡς (ἐάν subj.) and ὡς (ἐν indic.) are always 'if,' ὡς being never used with ὡς. ἐάν, though occasionally rendering ὅταν, is never translated 'when,' even where that meaning is plainly intended. Conditional sentences are also introduced less often by ἐπεὶ and ἐπεὶ. In such cases irregularity will be found in the translation arising from a hesitation to use the preterite and pluperfect and the forms 'would,' 'would have,' when the Coptic preformatives of Imperfect and Future Imperfect marked the tenses.

Ⲭⲉ, the shortened form of Ⲭⲱ 'say,' almost always rendering ⲟⲩⲧⲓ, has been translated 'that' and 'because,' and if necessary when the Greek does not give ⲟⲩⲧⲓ. It has been sometimes omitted after verbs when the objective or accusative sentence possesses another introductory word, e.g. Ⲑⲩ, ⲁⲩⲩ, ⲙⲙⲡⲟⲩⲧⲉ, &c. This conjunction almost invariably preceded narration both direct and oblique, and the few places where some or all MSS. omit Ⲭⲉ should be treated with great caution in comparing with the Greek omission of ⲟⲩⲧⲓ. Whenever possible after verbs of speech the translation regards Ⲭⲉ as preceding oblique narration, and renders by 'that.' In the numerous places where it precedes direct narration its presence is denoted by a colon and inverted comma, and when rarely preceding only a name also by inverted comma; very seldom it is translated 'viz.,' 'namely,' 'as to,' 'as,' 'whether.'

Ⲑⲩ, though sometimes rendering καί, 'also,' is commonly translated 'again' as representing πάλιν, and where Ⲑⲁⲗⲓⲩⲩ Ⲑⲩ occurs it is best regarded as redundant, though sometimes the phrase may render πάλιν ⲟⲩⲩⲩ. Similar redundancy may be seen in the combinations Ⲑⲩⲧⲓ Ⲭⲉ, John xii. 6, xv. 19 (M); Ⲭⲉ...ⲩⲁⲣ, xii. 43 (P); ⲉⲩⲧⲓ ⲕⲉ, xii. 35, xiii. 33, xiv. 19; ⲩⲉⲙⲙ...ⲕⲉ, xiii. 9. This similarity between Coptic Ⲑⲩ and Greek ⲟⲩⲩⲩ must have often caused confusion, particularly in those MSS. in which a corrector may have added ⲩ above the Ⲑ in every word where the syllable Ⲑⲩ occurred. Here a further confusion may be noticed. Ⲭⲉ, a different word, means 'then' and 'any more' (or longer), and is the regular equivalent of ⲟⲩⲩⲩ, though seldom used in Bohairic: this word resembling ⲁⲩⲉ becomes confused with it. Further, it is interesting to notice that δέ and ⲟⲩⲩⲩ seem often to replace each other amongst Greek variants.

In translating ⲁⲩⲉ R.V. has been carefully followed, so that the usual rendering is 'and'; and thus it is always translated if the revised Greek text fails to read δέ.

ΟΥΝ is always 'then,' second word of the sentence; 'therefore' being reserved for ΕΘΕΦΔΙ. ΖΑΡΔ, seldom found, is also 'then.'

It is worth attention that in Matthew five times, and in John once, ὅπως is rendered by ΖΙΝΔ. Elsewhere ΖΙΝΔ agrees with iva and is very often used, though occasionally iva is rendered by ΧΕ.

ΖΟΤΕ, ΖΟΤΑΝ have been translated 'when.' ΨΑΝ usually follows ΖΟΤΑΝ, and is rendered by 'should' according to the rule, so that 'whenever' is not required.

There is confusion between ΖΩC, ΖΩC ΔΕ and ΖΩCΤΕ (Τ being now pronounced Δ). ὥς has been usually rendered by ΑΦΡΗ†, which is always translated 'as'; but when ΖΩC itself appears it is translated as if Greek, according to the context. ΖΩCΤΕ with conjunctive and Greek tense is always 'so that,' with Ε 'so as.'

The word 'indeed' is used for ΜΕΝ and for ΔΕ after ΟΥΟΖ, as well as for ΝΘΟΥ, ΡΩ and ΖΩ in a few places, and might have been more often employed, although the Greek did not imply emphasis.

The translation of several common words requires some remark. Coptic having no equivalent for ἔχω expresses the idea impersonally by means of ΟΥΟΝ, ΨΩΠΙ and prepositions. When there is no doubt as to the Greek the rendering is 'have' in almost every case.

'Say' has been used for 'speak' and 'tell' in a few places where it is scarcely admissible in English.

Ι and ΝΗΟΥ are always 'come'; ΨΕ and the much more common ΨΕ ΝΔΥ &c. are 'go'; ΨΕ ΕΘΟΥΝ Ε 'enter,' but ΨΕ ΝΔΥ ΕΘΟΥΝ Ε 'go into.'

ΧΩ and ΧΔ have been translated 'set' rather than 'put' when used without a specialising preposition: ΧΗ has given difficulty because frequently used where the Greek employs the substantive verb, without idea of putting or laying.

ΖΙΟΥΙ, ΖΙ are 'throw' or 'cast' without any difference of meaning.

ϣωπ with εροϥ &c. has been translated 'receive to him' &c. because the use occasionally varied, but it need not be supposed that any Greek variant gave rise to this peculiar idiom.

ⲙⲟϣⲓ ⲡⲥⲁ and ⲟⲩⲁⲃϣ ⲡⲥⲁ equally render ἀκολουθεῖν, but the former is always translated 'walk after' as being capable of literal rendering, whereas ⲟⲩⲁⲃϣ (lit. added him) could not be thus treated.

ϥωⲟⲩⲡ and ⲉⲙⲙⲓ shew no regular difference of meaning, and have been translated 'know.'

The translation of ερ, οἱ and ϣωπⲓ is irregular on account of the arbitrary manner in which these words render εἶναι and γίνεσθαι. It seemed best to restrict ερ to the simpler English word 'do,' though 'make' has sometimes been used when the radical meaning of the word was intended by the Coptic. Occasionally (lit. did) has been printed, but this does not imply any peculiar difference attaching to the phrase in those places. The rendering of ϣωπⲓ will seem still less consistent. In several cases R.V. is followed translating γίνεσθαι by the passive 'made,' 'done,' 'accomplished,' διαγεν., 'kept'; also by 'come' of time of day, voice, &c. Further, 'happen' is often used. Then, again, as rendering μένειν it is translated 'abide,' 'remain,' κατοικεῖν, 'dwell.' Finally ⲁϥϣωπⲓ 'it came to pass' has a great variety of usage, few places exactly agree in the construction employed, so that consistency of translation could not be expected.

ⲧⲁⲙⲟϣ with ⲉ is always translated 'shew it to him,' the Coptic literally expressing 'shew him to it.' 'Give' always requires 'to' with the remoter object.

ⲉⲗⲓ is almost always separated from the negative to shew that the Coptic verb uses the negative form. It has seldom (Matt. xxiii. 16) been translated 'nothing' even when the Greek has οὐδέν; 'no one' for οὐδεὶς has to be used more often.

The use of capital letters and the orthography will appear occasionally inconsistent, e.g. 'Sabbath' is spelt with a capital in Matthew, but not in the other Gospels. The translator is alone responsible for these blemishes.

Typographical signs :

Round brackets imply (1) supplementary words required by the English language, and (2) mark the weak articles π, ϕ, τ, θ, πεπ, e.g. πϣελλελλο ‘(the) foreign (land).’ Square brackets enclose superfluous words of the Coptic which spoil the sense in English.

In Matthew italics are often used (1) to shew where the future with ἔσται occurs, (2) to imply that the Copt may have seen a word in his Greek text varying from any MS. known to us; but that this is very improbable, and that the variant arises from the taste, caprice or inaccuracy of the scribe.

A dash is very rarely used where the Coptic order has been kept, evidently agreeing with the Greek order in some peculiar manner, or where the construction was difficult to be translated.

CRITICAL APPARATUS.

THE apparatus contains the mistakes of MS. A which have been corrected in the text; the readings of the other collated MSS.; references to Greek and other authorities; and a few incidental remarks.

Words within a square bracket are copied from the text with slight difference in division of words, or from the translation sometimes altered to be more literal. The variant word or words, and translation without inverted commas follow, then the MS. letter or letters. Colons separate further variants. Semicolons precede additional remarks which may refer to all the foregoing words, from the copied words to the last variant, e. g. when one Greek reading represents two or more Coptic variants. Occasionally a semicolon separates differences of spelling. If only a comma occurs, the following statement applies only to the immediately previous fact. Round brackets contain a statement which refers only to the preceding letter. This and other rules are not always kept in the earlier portion of the work.

All the Coptic MSS. are usually given on both sides of a variation, unless, as a rule, only two independent authorities can be cited.

Some MSS. are designated by figures following a letter, $C_{1.2}$ ($=C_1 C_2$), in order to shew that their texts are practically identical. Whenever the figures 2 &c. are printed, MS_1 is absent, or MS_2 &c. have a variant; except in the case of D_2 , which is always given because collated throughout, like $C_1 D_1$ &c.

* denotes the original writing of the scribe as far as can be ascertained. When this or any of the following signs is put against a letter which has numerals (1, 2, &c.) it always refers to 1.

° means a correction of any kind, whether in the margin or elsewhere. If $A^°$ occur without A^* on the other side, it would mean that the reading of A^* could not be ascertained (Matt. v. 23).

^{mg} implies a correction placed in the margin, and is seldom used except with A. The comparatively recent date of all the MSS. renders it unimportant to determine the hand of each corrector. There are few materials for deciding this question, and it would be hazardous to discriminate between the corrections which seem to be those of the original or subsequent writer, for we have nothing to shew that the original scribe was writing in his ordinary style. He may sometimes write corrections in his ordinary style, such as most of the corrections of A appear to be; and again, when correcting, he may imitate his own artificial style. The abbreviation ^{mg} has been used specially for A, because Bishop Lightfoot, in Scrivener's Introduction, refers particularly to marginal corrections, attributing to them an ancient style of writing. Most of the other corrections of A were written apparently by this same corrector. Some very few corrections of MSS. are of obviously recent date, if 'later' occurs it means very recent.

† indicates that the MS. has been restored, rarely earlier than the eighteenth or nineteenth centuries. Much of this restored work has been collated, though it has not been cited in Matthew. 'Many MSS.' occasionally occurring in the earlier part of Matthew implies all the MSS. that have been examined.

+ is used for an addition.

om., denotes omission. At first the word after which the omission occurs is sometimes brought down from the text. Otherwise the omitted word is brought down. Both methods will be found in p. 154, ΦΗ] om. ΔΕ, C₁ &c., and ΟΥΟΖ] om. D₁ &c. Omissions of more than two words always specify the first and last omitted words.

&c., often omitted in earlier citations after the few Greek MSS. quoted, always requires reference to Tischendorf's full statement. Besides thus standing for the rest of the MSS., Greek or Coptic, it may denote words or part of a word omitted in bringing down, or in statement of a variant. In the later work a full point is used when part of a word is suppressed. When used with syr^{cu} it should always be placed before that symbol, and means that Greek MSS. and other versions give their support; if it is placed after, it does not refer only to other versions.

pref., for 'prefixes,' is usually employed in vol. ii instead of repeating the Coptic word to which the other word is prefixed by a variant.

o. e., means over the erasure of a letter, sometimes of more than one.

alt., implies that there has been an alteration from a former letter.

added, usually signifies that the added letter or letters are placed above the line in the MS.

> is for transposition.

int., means interline, i. e. between the lines of a MS.

| marks the end of a line in a MS.

cf., indicates exact agreement as far as Coptic can represent the Greek. It was intended at first to print the word 'but' wherever Greek MSS. were quoted as not agreeing with the Coptic, and the word has not been always removed; where it may accidentally remain, nothing special is implied. As a rule if one or more Greek MSS. vary from the Coptic, Gr. or Gr. &c. is printed immediately after the square bracket, or, should there be another variant Greek or Coptic, it is printed after the colon.

cf. ?, means doubtful agreement.

obs., merely calls attention to possible agreement or some other point of interest.

tr., is the Arabic translation which accompanies many of the MSS.

The frequent references to Greek MSS. and other authorities, which are probably sufficient to determine the character of the Bohairic Version, have been taken from Tischendorf's eighth edition of the New Testament with the abbreviations therein employed, a few additional authorities being mentioned below. As a rule when Tischendorf is not quoted a full point follows all abbreviations. Words which Tisch. printed in italics are marked by inverted commas, and occasionally 'schw.' is used to denote Schwartz's edition of the Coptic Gospels, and still more rarely 'ap. Ln.' appears indicating a citation by Schwartz of Lachmann's edition of the New Test.; 'schw.' is chiefly employed to distinguish Tischendorf's quotation of 'sah' as being probably quoted from Schwartz's citation of the Sahidic Version.

At first only Gr. Σ BCDL were noticed, and D occurring alone was neglected. Afterwards the references will be found to increase in number of authorities, though 'sah' is not often mentioned because this Version awaits complete and critical edition. In the Gospels of Luke and John some of Dr. Gregory's corrections have been inserted.

Greek accents, at first always added, before the end of Matthew were omitted when readings of MSS. unprovided with accents were quoted. Thus Mark ii. 23, Gr. D &c. add πάλι, because other Greek MSS. are present; but iii. 3, Gr. D &c. add και στηθει, shews that '&c.' refers to non-Greek MSS.

The editions of Wilkins and Schwartz are scarcely ever quoted because Wilkins gave no authorities for his text, and Schwartz, while giving Wilkins' readings and his own authorities with the greatest diligence and accuracy, possessed but one original MS. unknown to Wilkins, and a transcript of one other MS. which Wilkins described in his Introduction. Schwartz often selected the readings of his original MS. Diez, where preferable. His criticism, however, did not proceed from adequate evidence, and he would probably have chosen the readings of MS. Diez much more often if he had known of the consistent support which the chief part of that

MS. receives from $AC_{1.2}G_1$ and H, where important readings are concerned.

The few other authorities mentioned above and not taken from Tischendorf are publications of Coptic texts by several well-known scholars :

- Æ. Ægyptiaca (Lagarde).
- Ephr. S. Ephrem on the Transfiguration (Budge).
- geo. The Acts of S. George (Budge).
- Mart. S. John. Martyre du Jean (Amélineau).
- mtt. Actes des Martyres (Hyvernât).
- R. Recueil de Travaux, 1886 (Bouriant).
- sh. Vie de Shenoudi (Amélineau).
- theo. or th. Vie de S. Theodore (Amélineau).
- Vie S.P. Vie de S. Pakhome (Amélineau).
- Z. Catalogus of Zoega.

The smallest phenomena and differences of A have been carefully recorded, and if possible without bringing down into the apparatus the corrected text. Other MSS. are added if agreeing with A, though an unimportant point, e.g. of spelling, may occasion the reference.

As for the other MSS., many small differences which are noted will be thought of slight consideration: yet regarding the present state of the knowledge of the language and the small number of MSS. hitherto collated throughout, it seemed most desirable that the result of a collation of a fair number should be presented to scholars with greater rather than less fulness. Differences of spelling, such as $\Upsilon\Delta\text{NT}\epsilon$ for $\Upsilon\Delta\text{T}\epsilon$, Δ for ϵ , T for Θ , N for NH , the omission of the auxiliary ϵp , are among others omitted. Also when one MS. gives a variant which appears to be a mistake of the scribe it has sometimes been neglected.

If MS^* be alone given on one side of a variation, MS^c is presumed to be on the opposite side; so also if MS^{ms} appear, MS^* omits the marginal addition or correction.

MSS. which have not been collated throughout, but only tested in a few chapters, have received besides an amount of examination the result of which is recorded with the rest.

When \aleph is not cited in a verse which appears in the special register for this MS., the reading probably agrees with Schwartz's text, and differs from the reading of A &c.; the omission having unfortunately occurred because Schwartz's text was used as the standard of collation; and this text as following Wilkins, where possible, corresponds to B &c. rather than A &c. This remark applies also to other MSS.

Some MSS. are rich in Arabic glosses. Many of these are given with translation. In J₁ the letter خ very often accompanies the marginal note, and is supposed to refer to another copy or copies. Further investigation may trace these notes to other Arabic MSS. Only a few seem to indicate different Greek readings, and perhaps many are merely explanations, since they belong to words rather than sentences.

Mention of tenses and other grammatical remarks were omitted in John when the appointed limit of this first portion of the work began to be seriously exceeded.

'order,' 'position,' these words were at first used without 'for,' which was afterwards prefixed.

DESCRIPTION OF THE MANUSCRIPTS.

ABBREVIATIONS: Evv., the four Gospels; Copt.-Arab., Coptic text with Arabic translation; Bodl., Bodleian Library; Nat., National Library; Vat., Vatican Library; perfect and imperfect refer to text only; an. Mart., year of the Martyrs under Diocletian; foll., leaves; ll., lines of text; l. c., large capitals; s. c., small capitals; blk. redd., black reddened; ch., chapters; Am. sec. and can., Ammonian sections and canons; quire ending &c., ending and beginning of quires; s. c. o., small central ornament; orn. ornament.

1. Σ, Copt. [London Brit. Mus.] Parham, Curzon Catena of the four Σ Gospels, imperfect. A.D. 889, an. Mart. 605 (see description of MS. C₁), vellum, foll. 256, col. I, ll. 35, 36 × 28 cm., text 28.5 × 18 cm., quaternions, writing of the archaic form which is often imitated by the later MSS. in first words and subscriptions, ruling punctures, IT, ΣΔ, RE, ΔΔ, ΣO &c. outside the column, OϣOϣ not uncommon midline, and very prominent when first word (p. 27); punct. red ϣ, blk. hyphens and blk. colon, with no point at end of sections; l. c. red ornamented, and inclosing Coptic numerals when corresponding with chapters, s. c. blk. redd., birds are occasionally painted and very rarely other animals, headings red in thinner writing, the same as the colophon: paginated on verso for every second page, signature of ordinary verso ΠΔΟΤΙHC ΠΔΙΠΗΙ 'My Lord

8 Jesus pity me' in letters leaning to the right: quire ending &c. the same words with flourishes, s. c. o., and quire number at inner margins: orn. frontispieces of Matthew and Mark survive with three sides of border of interlacing ornament, red, yellow, white, and black, which are the usual colours throughout all the MSS.—Orthography, ⲙⲙⲁⲓⲧⲏⲥ, ⲁⲣⲭⲏⲣⲉⲣⲉⲩⲥ.

For contents and present arrangement, see ed. Lagarde, Göttingen, 1886.

For general method &c., see register below. On p. 116^b (CH) at the end of John is a colophon, giving the date, written by Theod(orus of) Pûsiri (Bûsîr, four towns are mentioned by the geographers), monk of the Laura of S. Makari (Macarius). This monastery still exists in the Nitrian valley of the desert NW. of Cairo, whence the volume was brought in 1838 by Robert Curzon, whose arms the modern binding displays. The Curzon MSS. belonging to Lord Zouche are at present in the custody of the British Museum.

For Matthew the MS. itself was collated, but for the other Gospels and compilation of the register the accurate edition of Lagarde was chiefly used. The discontinuous text where independent of the commentary has many of the omissions of the Coptic Version, but there is no statement of not having been translated from a Greek Catena. The first title of the volume is as follows: 'The interpretation (or commentary) of the holy Gospel according to Matthew, by many scribes and luminaries of the Church, whom God severally enlightened to set down words as they are joined together (in this book).'

Copt. marked by one red line of text; no Am. sec.: foliated on verso from beginning to end with Coptic uncials, and from end to beginning with the Siyāk سِيَاك numeration, consisting of the abbreviated Arabic names of the numbers (see Anglo-Persian Grammar, by Ameer Ali, Bombay, 1890), no signature of page or name of Evangelist except for Mark: quire ending &c. ⲓⲮ, ⲭⲮ, and quire numbers: pictures of the Evangelists and frontispieces in bright but crude colour.

Orthography, ⲙⲙⲁⲓⲧⲏⲥ, ⲁⲣⲭⲏⲣⲉⲣⲉⲩⲥ, o and ω often incorrectly for one another, cf. H₁.

Monogram of the Cross: 'In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, the Omoûsial and undivided Trinity being one Deity whom we bless and glorify. O God, who received the gifts of righteous Abel, and the sacrifice of our father Abraam, and the two mites of the widow woman, receive then, O our lord, lover of man, the thank-offering of thy servant (the) archon worthy of all kinds of honour, the Deacon, lover of Christ and lover of charity and lover of strangers, the Sheikh, Wali 'd-Daulah Abu 'l-Barakât the son of Abu 'l-Mansûr. (For) he provided for (the writing of) this holy book of the four rivers of life, which are the four holy Gospels, having wrought it of his righteous labour to insure thereby profit of his soul, for remembrance of himself and his sons and his brothers and those who come after him.

'O Lord Jesus Christ, our true God, recompense him for his labour with a hundred and sixty and thirty(-fold) in heavenly Jerusalem in the land of the living, who have pleased thee by their works; and as he remembered thy holy name upon the earth, remember him also in thy kingdom, and also in this world forsake him not, for thou art blessed, the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit from and unto ages of all ages. Amen.'

The last paragraph is probably of much later writing.

Abû Şâlih (see Anecdota Oxon., Sem. Series vii, Evetts, 1895), who wrote probably at the beginning of the thirteenth century, alludes to the Sheikh Abû 'l-Barakât Mauhûb ibn Mansûr ibn Mufarraj, 'the Alexandrian deacon,' as the biographer of the 66th Patriarch Christodulus (1047-1077), also to another Sheikh Abu 'l-Barakât Yûhannâ, the scribe, son of Abu 'l-Laith, who was the metwalli of the Diwân at-tahkîk (treasury office), and put to death in 1134. This date is too early if the above colophon is genuine, and it is possible that confusion has arisen between two individuals bearing the same name, unless, as still more likely, another person is meant.

A statement closely resembling the above occurs in the Curzon MS. A of the Martyrdom of S. Isaac, dated 1199, edited by Dr. Budge.

p. ϣλϵ^b contains the eighteenth page of an Arabic Calendar, which begins at the end of the book. On the last page are three prayers in Arabic of two readers (1) of George son of Ṣarāḥ, who read in the book; (2) Sa'id son of George son of Anba Romanus(?), who invokes the intercession of 'this Gospel;' and (3) of Michael son of Matthew, who studied in the book, and gives the date 1508, an. Mart. 1224.

The omissions of this MS. have been remarked upon by Bp. Lightfoot, and a table will be found at the end of this section shewing the omissions of all the MSS., where several omit together. Besides these, A omits one word or more seventy times, four of these omissions correspond to a Greek variant, but the remainder may be due to the negligence of the writer. In constant agreement with C and H, this MS. may be ranked among the three containing the purest form extant of the Bohairic Version.

The corrections are of two kinds, either in imitation of the text over erased letters, or in a thinner hand than the text, but possibly contemporary with it.

Wilkins mentions this MS. as n. 17. Fol. of the Huntingtonian collection, and amongst the five of the Bodleian Library which he used.

The MS. was first collated with Schwartz's text, which has been practically the standard throughout, then copied, and finally collated with the proofs of the printed text.

Other small paintings illustrative of the text (first three Gospels) abound in the book, of vigorous and fairly good drawing, while the frequent arabesque ornament is often of real beauty. Each Gospel has a frontispiece with more or less ornamented borders of interlacing colours,—Mark and John having a large cross on previous verso with 'Jesus Christ my Saviour pity me, Jesus Christ my God pity me, Amen.'

According to the colophons, which are contemporary, the MS. may have been begun in the year 1178, Matthew was finished in April of that year, Mark in September 1179, Luke in October 1179, and John in January 1180. The scribe Michael, Metropolitan of Damietta, is mentioned by Le Quien, Vansleb, and Renaudot; and Abû Şâlih quotes from his writing a statement of the heretical opinions of Mark Ibn al-Kanbar, whose history affords an interesting episode in that work ably edited by Mr. Evetts.

After the colophons occur some small Arabic notes, difficult to read, but apparently referring to the collation of the MS. by the diorthotes or

And these are the titles (lit. the reminder) of all the 68 large Greek chapters: 1 Concerning (thus before every title) the asking of the Magi, 2 the little children whom Herod slew, 3 the preaching of John, 4 the teaching of the Saviour, 5 the beatitudes, 6 the cleansing of the leper, 7 the centurion, 8 Peter's mother-in-law, 9 them who were healed by the Lord among many who were sick, 10 him whom he did not command to follow him, 11 the

‘The beginning of the blessing of the Gospel according to Luke. He who guided us by his mercy after the error and blindness, having beheld (εψomс, C₂ πсomс) our ways along (lit. after) corruption and wickedness, and enlightened our minds by his infinite wisdom and his revealed law, and hath given to us a strong plea in that he revealed to us the mysteries of the faith in the eternal Trinity and the Unity of his essence. And he dispelled from us illusions (الشبهات) by the glorious Gospel which he sent, and by which his signs were discerned, and his covenant agreed upon, and his wonders magnified, and the marvellous wondered at; and his outward appearance was shewn, and he gave delight in his joy; because blessed (and) exalted is his glory, and there is no God beside him (lit. thee). C₁

 With the help of God we begin our copying of the preaching of the Evangelist and Apostle Luke, may his intercession be with us for ever Amen. And the numbers of his chapters according as they are established in the orthodox books are of the large, 83 and the small, 342, (of these) 271 in common and 71 peculiar. He wrote his Gospel in the language of the Greeks in the twelfth year of Claudius the king after the Ascension of our Lord Jesus Christ ten years, in Antioch, stichoi 3000.' Then follow the 86 titles (περφελλεσι), instead of which the 84 of E₁ are given: 1 the apographê, 2 the shepherds, 3 Simcon the priest, 4 Anna the prophetess, 5 the word which came to John, 6 them who asked John, 7 the temptation of the Saviour, 8 him who had the unclean spirit, 9 Peter's mother-in-law, 10 them who were healed among many who were sick, 11 the draught of the fishes, 12 the leper, 13 the palsied, 14 Matthew the Evangelist, 15 him who had the withered hand, 16 the choosing of the twelve Apostles, 17 the beatitudes, 18 the centurion, 19 the son of the widow in Nain, 20 the messengers of John, 21 her who anointed the Lord with ointment, 22 the parable of the sower, 23 the rebuking of the winds and the waves of the waters, 24 him who had the legion, 25 the daughter of the ruler of the synagogue, 26 her who had the issue of blood, 27 the sending of the twelve Apostles, 28 the five loaves and the two fishes, 29 the Lord's asking them, 'Who do men say I am?' 30 the transfiguration, 31 him whose son was epileptic, 32 the reasoning of the Apostles which of them is the great, 33 him whom he did not command to follow him, 34 the seventy who were sent two and two, 35 the lawyer who asked the Lord, 36 him who fell among (εταψιμι ετοτοτο) the robbers, 37 Martha and Mary, 38 praying, 39 him who had the deaf spirit, 40 the woman who lifted up her voice in the multitude, 41 them who asked for signs from heaven, 42 the Pharisee who called the Lord, 43 the woe of the lawyers, 44 the leaven of the Pharisees, 45 him who wished to divide the inheritance, 46 the rich man whose land was fertile, 47 the Galileans and those in the Sylôam, 48 the woman with the spirit of sickness, 49 the parables, 50 him who said, 'Are there few who will be saved?' 51 them who spoke to the Lord, 'Herod wishes to slay thee,' 52 the dropsical, 53 the not having the chief seats at banquets, 54 them who were called to the supper, 55 the parable of the building of the tower, 56 (concerning omitted) a parable concerning the 100 sheep, 57 him who went to a far country, 58 the steward of unrighteousness, 59 the rich man and Lazarus the poor, 60 the ten lepers, 61 the judge of unrighteousness, 62 the Pharisee and the publican, 63 the rich man who asked the Lord, 64 the blind, 65 Zacheos, 66 him who C₁ went to a land to receive a kingdom, 67 them who received the ten pounds, 68 the foal, 69 the chief priests and scribes who asked the Lord 'by what authority doest thou these things?' 70 the vineyard, 71 the crafty asking about the census, 72 the Sadducees, 73 the Lord asking the Pharisees, 74 the poor widow and the two mites, 75 the final consummation, 76 the passover, 77 them who strove which should be the great, 78 the speaking of Simon, 79 the seeing of Herod of the Lord, 80 the women who wept and bewailed him, 81 the robber who repented, 82 him who asked for the body of the Lord, 83 Cleopa and his friend, 84 the Ascension of the Lord into heaven. In E₁ these numbers are red uncials and black cursives.

The Gospel of Luke begins in the same manner as Mark, except that the prayer for intercession is omitted from the opening statement.

'The beginning of the blessing of the Gospel according to John. With the help of God we begin and in the excellence of his aid we proceed to (lit. we) record the chapters of the Gospel of John the son of Zebedee, the preacher, the great chapters amount to 20, and the small to 232, of these 131 are in common, 101 peculiar. He wrote his Gospel at Ephesus in the language of the Greeks, in the sixth year of the reign of Kesar Tarsos (Trajan), which was the thirtieth year after the resurrection of our Lord and our Saviour Jesus Christ. And it was found in another book that there are 360 stichoi, and 2820 signs, and in another (book) that the number of his words (ῥήματα) was 2400.' The titles of the chapters, 46, instead of which the 20 chapters of E₁ are given: 1 Concerning the marriage feast which was in Cana of Galilee, 2 them whom he cast out of the temple, 3 Nicodemus, C₁ 4 the question about purifying, 5 the Samaritan woman, 6 the nobleman, 7 him who had been thirty-eight years in his sickness, 8 the five loaves and the two fishes, 9 the Lord's walking on the waters, 10 the blind from birth, 11 Lazarus, 12 her who anointed the Lord with ointment, 13 the words which Judas said to them, 14 the mounting upon the ass, 15 the Greeks who came to the feast to worship, 16 the Lord washing the disciples' feet, 17 the Paraclete, 18 him who asked for the body of the Lord, 19 the good news of the angel to the women of the resurrection, 20 the coming of the Lord to the Apostles when the doors were shut.

The Gospel begins similarly to Luke. At the end there are twenty-one pages of Arabic directory for the lessons of the year. Then comes an Arabic statement preceding the canons also in Arabic, after which is another Arabic statement prefatory to a calendar which gives the years of Christ (ΠΡΟΛΗΝ ΠΤΕΠΧC), the years of the Martyrs (ΠΡΟΛΗΝ ΠΤΕΠΛΔΡΤ), the concurrents of the sun (ΠΙΡΗ) and the epacts of the moon (ΠΙΟΘ) in four parallel columns. The first years in the two first columns are ,ΔΡΥΔ and ,ΡΚ, 1196 and 920, and the last ,ΔΥΙΔ and ,ΔΡΛ, 1416 and 1140. In order to reduce the latter to years of Christ 276 or 277 must be added instead of 283 or 284, because the Alexandrians wishing that the cycle should begin a new period with the reign of Diocletian took upon themselves to diminish by ten years the duration of the world. They were already in advance of our era by three years, and therefore still differ from our reckoning by seven (see L'Art de verifier &c.). It should be observed that although the Copts always speak of the year of the Martyrs, their present era begins with the accession of Diocletian in 283-284, and before the beginning of his Persecution. The MS. contains no name of writer nor date of writing or dedication. Wilkins does not mention it, and there is no record of former ownership, except a note below the former catalogue numbers 'Ce volume vient de Mr de Peires,' but the reading of this name is uncertain.

The text is perfect with the exception of a small lacuna, John 16, 6 †χω—18...ΔΠ, and may be regarded as the same text as C₂, which is imperfect, but appears to have been a finer book written by the same scribe. Eighteen omissions occur besides those of the tables, including John 9, 26; otherwise the text agrees closely with A and H.

It was twice collated by the editor for Matthew, and once for the rest, 1890-93.

5. C₂, Evv., Copt.-Arab., Rome Vat. 8, formerly Raymund 1, imperfect. C₂ XII-XIII century, paper, foll. 351 (+4), coll. 2, ll. 26, 27, 33.7 × 23.2 cm.,

C₂ text 26.2 × 16 cm., quinions, writing the same as C₁; punctuation only ✠, ornament and capitals similar to C₁; ch. Copt. and Gr. marked as in C₁; Am. sec. and can. the same as in C₁; paginated on verso with Coptic uncials as C₁, but with another pagination in Coptic cursives, probably a correction of the uncials: quire enrichment the same as in C₁.

The seven first pages are recent, and an Arabic statement therein says that Matthew wrote in the Hebrew (بالعبرانية) in Palestine (فلسطين) seven years after the Ascension, and preached it in Jerusalem and India (الهند). After the restored chapters of Matthew on p. 100 begins the same prologue as in C₁ for Mark at the word εὐποθεσις and continues to ΔΩ, where is inserted in red τεϣερφμενι η̅κλ η̅ζ ετηναι νε (and cursive for 54) 'his reminder of the 54 chapters which are these.' After this follow the titles ending with 54. Before Luke there is the same prologue as in C₁, and a damaged picture of the Evangelist, and again the same prologue for John as in C₁.

p. 351^b contains an Arabic statement as to the restoration of the book by Arghadyûs son of John at the expense of the lord Şalib the son of the Mûllâ George, both are also styled deacon, archon, and shaykh, in the month Pashons (May) of the year 1587, an. Mart. 1303.

Mai refers this MS. to the fourteenth century, but the exact resemblance to C₁ in writing, style of ornament and text places it in the end of the twelfth or beginning of the thirteenth. Wilkins speaks of this MS. as among the three which he saw and collated in the Vatican, and which were brought from Egypt by Girolamo Vecchetti in 1594, and bequeathed to the library by John Baptist Raymund in 1614; and he calls it 'primum,' erroneously assigning to it the date of the restoration, and stating inaccurately that there is no prologue to Luke.

Lacunae, Matthew 1, 1—3, 11 ... ΦΗ ΕΤΕΝ, 18, 10 η̅ςνοϣ to the end of the Gospel. Mark 1, 44 χενπεκτοϣβο—2, 9 ... ποβι, foll. 117—128. Luke, foll. 247, 248, 258, 259. John 18, 37 κε τδρ to the end of the Gospel.

Matthew was collated by the editor in 1890, the test chapters in 1893.

Γ 6. Γ, Evv., Copt., Cairo Patriarchate, 14 نمرة ١ 'number 1, f. 12 and 14' (Greg. 36), imperfect. A.D. 1184, an. Mart. 900 (alleged), paper, foll. 285 (+5), col. 1, ll. 23, 35 × 25.3 cm., text 27 × 18.6 cm., quinions, beautiful writing, perhaps nearest to G₁ (which was once at the monastery of Al 'Arabah), but much finer, and bearing sufficient resemblance to A to confirm the date which is given only in a modern colophon; final and abbreviated letters very scarce; punctuation, red ✠ for all pauses, often ✠, and very rarely ✠ and :, l. c. of various size and usually coloured brightly with red and yellow, occasionally only red, s. c. black reddened; ch. Copt. marked Γ by two red lines of text and red uncial numbers, Gr. by black uncial numbers for Matthew. As in A there are no lines of archaic letters; Am. sec. and can. given in black uncials, and occasional \clubsuit in the text, but no other indication: foliated on verso with uncials, $\Xi\Delta\Theta\Upsilon$, $\Xi\Delta\rho\kappa\omicron$, $\lambda\omicron\Upsilon\kappa$, $\lambda\omicron\Upsilon\kappa\Delta$, $\bar{\iota}\bar{\omega}$ in red on recto: quire endings &c. $\text{I}\Upsilon$, $\text{X}\Upsilon$, and s. c. o.; orn. scanty, but birds common for Δ : two frontispieces for Mark and Luke survive uninjured with interlacing border of simple rectangular form and without arches, pleasing in colour. The beginning and end of the lections are marked in Arabic.

Orthography, $\Phi\Upsilon$ occurs undoubtedly in text (Luke 8, 10. 23, 40; John 5, 18), and once very plainly in the margin where it is not in the formal writing of the text (Matthew 22, 32); small thin line for point above letters.

p. $\text{CI}\Theta^b$ Luke ends without inscription, and the following statement occurs: وكان ترميم هذا الكتاب في يوم الاربعاء المبارك سادس عشر شهر توت سنة الف و خمسمائة واحد عشر الشهدا على يد الحقيير اتناسيوس خادم بيعة الله المقدسة بكرسى ابوتيج طالب بذلك الاجر من الله بطليات القديسين امين وكان تاريخ نسخته الاولى سنة تسعمائة للشهدا الاطهار رزقنا الله بمقبول بشفاعتهم امين 'And the restoration of this book was (finished) on the blessed fourth day, 16th of the month Tût, year 1511 of the Martyrs, by means (lit. upon hand) of the miserable Athanasius, servant of the holy Church of God in the see of Abutij, who sought thereby a reward from God through the supplications of the saints Amen: and the date of its original copying was year 900 of the pure Martyrs, may God grant to us acceptance through their intercessions Amen.'

p. $\text{C}\Xi\text{H}^b$ contains only ten lines, the rest is ruled as usual and left blank, except for two Arabic notes, (1) neat, سهو المسكين الناقل 'negligence of the poor copyist;,' (2) rough, partly concealed by patch, appears to refer to a priest Anṭūny, and ends 'whoever studies in this Gospel of the four Evangelists shall remember all who have laboured on it, and may he who prays for any blessing have the like.'

p. $\text{C}\Pi\Delta^a$ after the subscription of John there is an Arabic colophon, تاريخه سنة ٩٠٠ للشهدا وكان ترميمه ١٥١١ للشهدا 'its date year 900 of the Martyrs: and its restoration was 1511 of the Martyrs,' followed by signature of $\Pi\text{I}\Delta\text{H}\text{K}\text{I}\ \Delta\Theta\text{N}\Delta\text{C}\text{I}\text{O}\ \Upsilon\Delta\text{P}\text{O}\Theta\text{I}\text{K}\text{H}$ 'the poor Athanasius (of) Apothikhê.' Then comes in ornamental writing بسم الله الرؤوف الرحيم المجد 'in the name of God the merciful and element, glory to God in the height,' and the dedication وقفاً موبداً وحبساً مخلداً على دير ابونا

The volume bears a label ٩٠٠ سنة عربي قبطي اناجيل بغير عربي 'the book of the four Gospels, Coptic without Arabic, year 900 of the Martyrs' with the number as given above. In 1892 it was shewn to the editor in the Patriarch's House at Cairo, but was not then in the library room. At the destruction of the monasteries in the Eastern desert, at the end of the fifteenth century, the books that could be saved appear to have been brought to Cairo.

The text in Matthew and Mark has many of the additions, but in Luke and John the few additions agree with A or B. Twenty omissions are peculiar. In Mark Γ is closely related to M, and these two MSS. come nearest to B, in Luke Γ is much nearer B than A, while in John it keeps with ACGH.

This MS. was collated throughout by the editor in 1892-93.

‘This holy Gospel is in sure and perpetual dedication to the monastery of the great Saint Antony in the desert of Al ‘Arabah by the worshipful archon and upright shaykh, the deacon Michael al Hakim Abu Halikah. Every one of the holy fathers or brothers dwelling in this monastery who study this book shall remember this holy man, and pray for him the mercy of our Lord Christ, whether he be alive or dead. And the writer of these lines, the poor Gabriel, called by the mercy of God and his un-

D₁ searchable wisdom Patriarch of the city Alexandria and what belongs to it, interdicts and excommunicates every one who shall remove this holy book from the church of this monastery aforesaid: and it shall not be carried up to the tower (jaûsak, Persian word for high building) like the rest of the books, and it shall not be concealed, but it shall be in the church with the books, and shall be read on Sundays and festivals at evening and morning prayer, and at the time of the Liturgy. And whoever of the monks wishes to take it to his cell to examine it, or collate with it, he is not to be prevented, but when he has finished his work he shall bring it back to the church: and the peace of the Lord be upon them, and his favour embrace them, and his mercy save their souls Amen. Adoration to God for ever and ever. He wrote this in the church of Saint Mercurius in Cairo the preserved, in the presence of Al Hakîm aforesaid, on the 3rd of Barmanât, year 986 of the righteous Martyrs, corresponding to the 5th of Rajab al Aşam (of the deaf) year 668 (A.D. 1270).'

p. 1^b beautiful ornament with ΙΗC ΠΧC ΣΤΛΩΠ ΖΩΗC ΠΙΨΩΠΗ ΠΩΠΘ ΔΥΘΡΟ 'Jesus Christ the tree of life hath conquered.' This is practically the same as in C₁. Instead of 'one God' is 'He who receiveth the penitent and forgiveth sinners,' 'teachers' prefix 'fathers,' 'holy' for 'honourable;' the next obscure sentence differs slightly, 'medium' for 'Coptic.' After '62 chapters,' 'This Gospel was written in the Hebrew language in Phylistiim and preached in Jerusalem. Then Saint John the son of Zebedee translated it in Aspolis (Ephesus) in the first year of the reign of Claudius, which was the ninth year of the holy Ascension. And it was found in another book that there are 2600 words.'

'Glory to God for ever and ever. Salvation belongs to the Lord, D₁
O God, the Saviour. Thus says the miserable John, unworthy servant of the Church of God of the Christian people in the see of Mark, and declares in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ that no one need attend to the dedication mentioned on the back of this leaf by your father, my lord, my father Gabriel, known by the name Amî, who was in the number of the legitimate (?) Patriarchs the 77th of the Patriarchs of Alexandria. Whereas the monastery of our holy father Antoniûs, known as the monastery of Al 'Arabah in the desert of Al Kûlzum inhabited by monks, was vacant without residents, ravaged by the Arabs, and this book was (then) taken from the hand of the Arabs, who ravaged the place utterly, we have abrogated by the grace of God what was decreed by the saying written down with the pen of my lord, my father the Patriarch Gabriel, according as he wrote in his place, and it shall be abrogated through the power of the priesthood proceeding from the true and holy mouth, saying, "Whatsoever ye release shall be released," together with the supplication of the Ever-Virgin and the Martyrs and the Saints Amen;
and adoration to God for ever and ever. Dated the 4th of the month Bashons the blessed, year 1222 (1506).' Next is a further statement calculating the difference between the year of the dedication and the abrogation as 236 years, Arabic 243.

Another note refers to the MS. coming الى ملك بيعة الشهدا سرجيوس و واخيس المدينة العظيم الاسكندرية to the possession of the Church of the ?
Martyrs Sergius and Bacchus of the great city Alexandria, 1537.'

On a leaf at the beginning is 'Portato da Egitto da me Girolamo Vecchietti, Anno 1594. J. B. Raymund bequeathed it to the Vatican.'

Besides the omissions in the tables, eleven only are peculiar to this MS.
The text is practically the same as D_{2,3,4}, though D₂, following the corrections of D₁, has been often corrected by other MSS. and followed by D_{3,4}, while D₄ again has been much corrected and contains most of the later additions. D₁ may be classed with E_{1,2} Δ₁ and O. In all the more important omissions D₁ agrees with the earlier MSS., and can hardly be said to shew a different tradition of text.

The Gospel of Matthew was collated twice, the remainder once, by the editor, 1890-93.

8. D₂, Evv., Copt.-Arab., Paris Nat. Copte 14 (Greg. 19), perfect. XIII- D₂
XIV century, paper, foll. 331 (+3), coll. 2, ll. 26-29, 40.3 × 28.5 cm., text 30 × 19, 27.7 × 19 cm., quinions, writing not much like any other, belonging rather to the class of KNO, but thinner and probably earlier; punctuation, red ⤵ ⤵ colon very rare; l. c. scarcely different in size from small and

D₂ rarely coloured except with red, s. c. distinguished by single lines as opposed to double; ch. Copt. with black uncials, Gr. red; Am. sec. and can. black uncials: foliated on verso with uncials, the first ancient folio is marked Γ, therefore no preface existed of any extent, verso is signed with name of Evangelist in Arabic: quire ending &c. KC ΘΘC, ιϛ Χϛ; or ιϛ Χϛ alone, with s. c. o., yellow is the predominant colour. No ornament except one cross on p. 1^b with IC Χϛ ΔϣϢρο and Δ ω; frontispieces to Gospels, first two with upper and outer border, last two only upper; lines of text of first pages have letters of various size.

Luke begins with ϣπ θεω ευλογισον κατὰ λογκαν.

p. 331^b has six Arabic notes. The 1st contains the name of a deacon Joseph, and the short prayer ends with reference to the reader, writer, copyist, and reviser (المراي). 2nd and 3rd have no legible names, and are of no importance. 4th, قرا فيه وطالع بموجب نسخ نقل منه بخط, Read in it, and toiling at the work of copying, transcribed it with writing of hand, the miserable for his sins, who is not worthy to be called by the name of Hibat Allah ibn Gabriel, ibn ? ibn Abu 'l-faraj, ibn Gabriel, ibn Faql Allah, ibn Abu 'l-faraj, ibn ? ibn Abu 'l-faraj, Abu 'l-masab ibn Yûsuf, ibn Abu 'l-faraj, ibn Jirjis; ' then comes وكان نهاية مقابلي السنة الذي نقلت منه بخط, And 'كان يوم الرابع المبارك عشر من شهر مسري' ١٣٩٠, the blessed fourth day, 10th of the month Masrî 1309 (1593) of the Martyrs, the happy, the righteous.' 5th and 6th are very difficult to read, but of no importance, and the 6th may be dated 1453 (1737). There is no further indication of ancient or modern history of the volume. There seems a number on the last page, but whether it is 33^o or 33⁶ or 33^b can hardly be determined. The text is perfect, and much less cut than the other MSS. While following closely D₁ and the corrections of that MS., it has many corrections from other MSS., and is of no great importance. There are sixteen omissions peculiar to the MS.

It was collated throughout by the editor, 1890-93.

D₂^a D₂^a, Copt.-Arab., Paris Nat. 14A, perfect. A. D. 1593 (1309), paper. After John is written, كملت بشارة يوحنا الحبيب الرسول الانجيلي وهي كمال الانجيل, I completed the Gospel of John the beloved, the Apostle the Evangelist, and it is the completion of the holy Gospel, in peace of God; and adoration and glory to God for ever and ever. And it was finished on the blessed second day, the 10th of the month Masrî the blessed, year 1309 of the pure Martyrs.' D₂^a

This date agrees precisely with the above colophon in D₂, and, after sufficient comparison, there can be no doubt that this MS. was copied from D₂ in 1593.

9. D₃, Evv., Copt.-Arab., Rome Vat. 10 (Greg. 31), perfect. XIII-XIV D₃ century, paper, foll. 504, ll. 20, 21, 25.2 × 17.2 cm., text 19.5 × 11.7 cm., quinions, writing peculiar and seven first pages much better than the rest, irregular, nearly upright, and possibly earlier than D₂; punctuation, red ⲥ seldom used and degenerating into rough spot; l. c. often much larger than the small, with very slight ornament; ch. Copt. marked by red, ch. Gr. black uncials; Am. sec. and can. in black uncials: foliated on verso in black uncials, quire ending &c. like recto, signed with abbreviated name of Evangelist beside the number of the quire and folio on both pages. Remains of a cross occur at the beginning; Matthew has arched headpiece, but only one large letter at the first verse. Mark and Luke begin with three red lines of text, John with three large letters. The unnumbered pages at the beginning and end contain Arabic notes of births with the dates 1205 (1489), 1209 (1493), 1212 (1496), 1215 (1499).

The text follows D₂ very closely, and was collated by the editor in 1891 and 1893 for Matthew, Mark 1, Luke 24, and John 8.

10. D₄, Evv., Copt.-Arab., London Brit. Mus. Additional 5995 (Rieu D₄
795, Greg. 9), imperfect. XIV? century, paper, foll. 233 (+7), ll. 31-33, 39.8 × 26.4 cm., text 32.7 × 17.5 cm., quinions, writing rather irregular and small compared with the earlier MSS.; punctuation, ⲥ·ⲥ usually placed rather high; l. c. not much larger than small; ch. Copt. with red uncials; s. c. black reddened; Am. sec. and can. in black cursives: foliated on verso, which is signed with ⲕⲁⲧⲁ, the name of the Evangelist being written upon recto: quire ending &c. have folio number also on recto, number of quire on recto alone, ⲓⲏϥ ⲡⲭϥ ⲡⲁⲓ ⲡⲁⲛ, and sometimes ⲡⲁⲓ ⲡⲏⲓ 'pity us,' or 'me,' upon each page, and s. c. o.: orn. scanty, one headpiece alone surviving.

The modern first page has with وقف السيدة بالبرماوس 'dedication to the Lady at Al Baramâus' (a monastery in the Nitrian valley) a cross and ⲓϥⲏⲟϥ ⲡⲭⲣⲏϥⲧⲟϥ ⲡⲩⲏⲣⲓ ⲙⲉⲑⲡⲟⲩⲧⲓ ⲡⲓⲏⲓ ⲁⲩⲑⲧⲣⲟ ⲙⲁⲱ ⲙⲉⲡⲓ ⲁⲩⲓⲟϥ ⲙⲁⲧⲧⲉⲟϥ ⲡⲓϥⲱⲧⲡ 'With God, Jesus Christ, the four holy Gospels, first the preaching of Saint Matthew the chosen.'

At the modern end of Matthew are two unimportant Arabic notes, one beginning with the date 1501 (1785). At the modern end of Mark is D₄ a short prayer mentioning, as in the first, the priests George and 'Atih his father. After the modern end of John is the following statement :

It was restored by the hand of the sinner Ibrâhîm son of Simon the copyist, may Christ our God reward him who provided for it and him who toiled, in his heavenly kingdoms Amen Kyrie eleison.'

The Hijrah date is also given as 1190. 1376 might not be too early for the MS. Gen. Turner brought it from Egypt in Aug. 1801.

The text contains many of the additions, while following D₁ or rather D_{2,3} with sufficient regularity.

Matthew, also Mark 1—5, 17, ch. 13, 22 to end of ch. 14, Luke 9, 49 to end of 10, ch. 24, John 4, 31 to end of 5, and ch. 8 were collated by the editor, 1890-93.

Δ₁ 11. Δ₁, Evv., Copt., London Brit. Mus. Oriental 3381 (Greg. 14), imperfect. XIII century, paper, foll. 298 (+7), col. 1, ll. 25, 33 × 24 cm., text 28.2 × 19 cm., quinions, writing very bold and leaning sometimes to the right. There is a pencil note inviting comparison with Add. 5997, but the writing and ornament of that MS. dated 1274 seem quite different and later, more like D₂; punctuation, red ✕ ✕ ✕ —; l. c. measure more than three lines of text with rather well painted ornament, including birds in bright yellow, red, and black; s. c. black reddened; ch. Copt. Δ₁ marked by large capitals and sometimes one thicker archaic line of text; Am. sec. and can. in black uncials, recent Arabic titles and endings of chapters: paginated for every second page on verso, ΚΑΤΑ on verso and Evangelist's name on recto: quire ending &c. perhaps original signed with pages and quire number, ΙΥ ΧΥ, ΥC ΘΥ with s. c. o. The ancient frontispieces of Mark, Luke, and John survive of various size, also some very quaint letters and rough ornament, but no pictures.

After the subscription of Matthew is in red ΠΟΤ ΑΡΙΟΥΝΑΙ ΠΕΠΠΙΡΕΦΕΡΠΟΒΙ ΕΤΑΥCΘΑΙ ΒΙΚΤΩΡ ΑΜΗΝ 'Lord have pity on the sinner who wrote, Biktôr, Amen,' followed by an Arabic note في ملك مالكة رافايل غبريال الادفوي اضلاً ومعرجاً فاصاً و يطلب من كل من طالع فيه يدعوا له بغفران خطاياہ والرب يعوضهم اضعاف ذالك في ملكوت السموات 'Amongst the possessions of the miserable Rafael Gabriel of Edfû, wandering and lame, who begs all studying in it to pray for him pardon of his sins, and the Lord will reward them twice as much in his kingdom of the heavens.'

fol. 86 is recent, and bears an Arabic note written by Hanîn, minister of the Church of the Virgin in Ḥârat ar-Rûm in Cairo, with date ١٢١٩ 1519 (1803). After the subscription of Luke is again in red ΠΟΤ ΑΡΙΟΥΝΑΙ ΠΕΠΠΙΕΒΙΝΝ (the needy) ΕΤΑΥCΘΑΙ ΒΙΚΤΩΡ ΑΜΗΝ nearly as above. fol. 160 restored, again refers to the labours of Hanîn. At the end, fol. 297, is the following Arabic colophon, 'And the copyist poor and wretched humbles himself (lit. beats a number of repentances, مطانوات) under the feet of every one who reads in it, (begging him) to remember him in the end of his prayers, and whoever prays a prayer shall have himself the double. And the end of the restoration of this holy book of the four holy Gospels, rivers of water of life, was on the blessed first day, the 7th خلت of the month Kîhak the blessed, year 1510 of the pure and happy Martyrs' years' (a side note states that the name of the restorer was Moses, a priest of the Church of our Lady as-Siryaniah, i. e. one of the Nitrian monasteries). 'And he who provided for the work was our father' (who is further praised and compared with S. John, Abraham, and Melchizedek) 'our bishop Athanasius, who is known as the' (the local name is erased),—'may the Lord prolong his life, and strengthen him on his throne for many years, and speedily humble his enemies, by the intercession of the Lady Saint Mary Amen.' Then a note on fol. 298 further records the studies of the priest Hanîn.

At the beginning of the book is a memorandum: 'I obtained this MS. of the Memphitic Egyptian Gospels at Cairo in March, 1864, from the Δ₁ Rev^d. R. T. Lieder, who purchased it many years before from the Bishop of Luxor. The MS. came from Esneh, and was used by Mr. Lieder in the preparation of his folio edition of the Coptic N. T. published in London in 1848-52 under the auspices of S. P. C. K. The oldest parts of this MS. are believed to belong to the twelfth century, John Drury Geden.' After this is a further note: 'B^t of the Rev^d. Alfred S. Geden, 11 Oct. 1886.'

The text in Matthew is so like D₁ that the MS. was first styled D₂, but many differences occurred in the rest of the Gospels, and the sign Δ₁ was employed instead. In Mark it shews none of the additions of the tables, and with F₁ may be supposed to have the purest text in that Gospel. In Luke and John it has probably the same text as O, but the fragmentary condition prevents certainty. There are a few indications of greater likeness to Gr. B, which may point to another tradition, or to correction by other Greek MSS. of that type formerly existing in Egypt.

Matthew was collated twice, and the rest of the Gospels once, by the editor in 1890-92.

‘Eusebios to Karpianos my beloved brother in the Lord greeting,— Ammonios indeed the Alexandrian of the highest rank bestowed as it seems great love of labour and diligence upon the four Gospels, har-monising them and making the lections agree, having besought Christ with toil and watching concerning the agreement of their contents, and the context (سياقة) of the sections. With reference to which we have been urgently constrained; (and) after much pains, and by the help of the Lord at length we put forth [these canons, from consideration¹ for the three writers (M. L. J.); that we may be saved from scandal, and escape the trouble of what has been done and asserted in this matter, for they have despised the word of all] who are deficient (in learning) and ignorant. Yet (the Gospels) are a fountain of life and a cause of salvation, so it has pleased me to arrange for thee the number of ten canons to put to shame our opponents. The first indeed of the number (is for) the things which each of the four Evangelists was saying similarly to each. This moreover is the scheme of the canons (written) below, and for each of the four Gospels there are numbers indicating them.’

The Gospel of Matthew then begins under small headpiece with one line of ornamented letters and one of semi-archaic. Before the beginning of Mark, on a vacant page 137^b, is an Arabic note: حس هذا الكتاب 'This holy book is dedicated to the church of the holy and venerable martyr Saint George

‘The blessed Luke was one of the seventy disciples, and he was the disciple of Peter the Apostle the chief of the Apostles, having been a physician and native of Antioch and a painter. He wrote his Gospel in the language of the Greeks in Rakoti to Theophillos the king, in the eleventh year of Claudius the king, after the Ascension of our Lord Jesus Christ twenty-two years. And Paul preached it first, and then again Luke preached it after him. And he was beheaded in Rome, and finished his witness the 24th day of Paopi in the peace of God Amen.

E₁ 'Luke, the disciple of Paul, and his companion, wrote his Gospel for (lit. in) the Dispersion, and he it was who wrote the Acts of the Apostles and their works. And he revealed in his Gospel the High Priesthood of Christ by the combination in him of the tribe of Levi and the tribe of Juda, that (thus) he might reveal that the Son of God was indeed a priest and a king, because he was of the seed of David and of the tribe of Aaron by birth according to the flesh. And in the works of the disciples and their acts he manifested therein the works of each of them, and (specially) the witness of Paul, how he went from Jerusalem to Rome at the hands of Festus the governor.'

Next comes the same Arabic note of dedication as before; afterwards the Gospel begins with one line of text large and brightly coloured, followed by a semi-archaic line. The same Arabic note occurs on the vacant page before the prologue to John, which begins Ἐν ὀνόματι 'In the name' &c., Πιθεολογος ιωαννης πιπαρθενος πυνηρι ηζεβεδεος ουαι πε εβολ Ἐνπιῖβ ἡαποστολος. φαι πε πιεαθηντης επαρπενος ιης ιιει ιιιιιου. εψςθαι ιιπεψενταγγελιον Ἐνεφесос ιιιιет-οτεινιη ιιενепса†апаλγееψис ητεπепотс огоз пенсωтнр ιης πχс езрнι етфе ἡλδ ἡροεπι Ἐν†проеπι ιιιιεζη ἡпнροп πογρο ἡтерωεηн огоз εψзιωψ ιιιιου ἡψорп Ἐнпиполис ητε-ασια. ετοτοοθεψ εβολ Ἐνεφесос Ἐпогзωб ἡψфнρι ιιπεзли ιιιι ероψ ἡсогд ἡтωби ерепеч-сееу еоогдб ψωпи пееап аеηп. He was translated from Ephesus in a wonderful manner, no man knoweth how, on the 4th day of Tôbi. May his holy blessing be with us Amen. And the number of his great chapters of the Gospel is 20, Coptic 51 lections, E₁ small 232, 135 in common, 97 peculiar, and there are 360 stichoi and 2820 signs, and the number of his words is 2400. The titles of the great chapters, viz. 20 chapters, are.' Then comes the register, and under a headpiece begins the Gospel, like Mark. After the subscription is the following: $\chi\rho\omicron\pi\omicron\tau\omicron\pi\ \alpha\upsilon\tau\omicron\iota\omicron\pi\ \text{ⲉⲃⲣⲕⲁ}\ \text{ⲙⲉⲛⲣⲟⲥ}\ \text{ⲙⲉⲭⲓⲣ}\ \text{ⲙⲉⲛⲓⲁ}\ \text{ⲡⲥⲁⲃⲃⲁⲧⲟ}\ \text{ⲡⲧⲉⲡⲓⲙⲟⲩⲣ}\ \text{ⲉⲃⲟⲩⲛ}\ \text{ⲫⲧ}\ \text{ⲡⲁⲓ}\ \text{ⲙⲉⲡⲓⲥⲟⲩⲓ}\ \text{ⲡⲁⲗⲁ}\ \text{ⲭⲓⲥ}\ \text{ⲉⲧⲁⲥⲃⲁⲓ}\ \text{ⲁⲙⲉⲛ}\ \text{ⲁⲙⲉⲛ}$ 'In the time of the holy Martyrs 924, of the month Mechir the fourteenth day, sabbath of the Fast. God pity the worthless, least (of all men) who wrote Amen Amen.'

Nothing further is known of the book except that it was bought of Sir Charles Murray, June 1875.

The text, profusely glossed in Arabic, follows D₁ with much similarity except in the earlier chapters of Luke, but there is sufficient difference throughout to require a different letter for classification. In Luke and still more in John it is very close to J₁, having also the same prologues as J₃. There are seventeen omissions besides those in the tables.

Matthew was collated twice, and the rest once, by the editor, 1890-93.

14. E₂, Evv., Copt.-Arab., London Brit. Mus. Oriental 1001 (Greg. 8), E₂ imperfect. XIII century, paper, foll. 264 (+6), coll. 2, ll. 32, 24.7 × 16.3 cm., text 21 × 12.5 cm., quinions, writing unlike the earlier MSS., more regular than H₁, and rather neater and smaller than G₂, which it most resembles; punctuation, red ⲥ ⲥ ⲥ; l. c. measuring more than four lines of text, coloured and with well-drawn ornament; s. c. red, and black reddened; ch. Copt. marked by two red lines of text, numbered with gilt uncials; ch. Gr. with smaller red uncials and رومي; Am. sec. and can. cursive, can. red: foliated on verso with uncials (occasionally paginated in John): quire ending &c. $\text{ⲕⲉ}\ \text{ⲟⲩⲥ},\ \text{ⲡⲓ}\ \text{ⲕⲁ},\ \text{ⲕⲉ}\ \text{ⲭⲥ};\ \text{ⲓⲭ}\ \text{ⲭⲭ},\ \text{ⲓⲩⲥ}\ \text{ⲡⲭⲥ},\ \text{ⲭⲥ}\ \text{ⲩⲥ}$, with s. c. o., number written also on recto, $\text{ⲕⲁ}\ \text{ⲧⲁ}$ on verso, and name of Evangelist on recto: orn. scanty, but of good style, fine geometric figures before Mark and John, gilt and archaic letters at beginning of Mark, Luke, and John, no pictures.

A fragmentary and recent unnumbered leaf has كتاب الاربعة اناجيل 'The book of the four Gospels, Coptic Buhairic (?), dedicated (to) Dair Abuna Antonius in the desert of Al 'Arabah.' Buhairic is spelt with the wrong h, and is never mentioned elsewhere in these MSS. There are two other Arabic notes on these recent first pages, and a rough cross on restored leaf with $\text{ⲭⲉⲣⲉ}\ \text{ⲡⲓⲫⲧⲉ}\ \text{ⲓⲩⲥ}\ \text{ⲡⲭⲥ}\ \text{ⲭⲥ}\ \text{ⲩⲥ}\ \text{ⲡⲉⲣⲉϥ}\ \text{ⲩⲣⲟ}$ 'Hail the cross (of) E₂ Jesus Christ the Son of God the conqueror.' The same prologue as in E₁ with register and notices of the life of Matthew occurs in the restored part.

p. 73^b (ancient) has prologue &c. of Mark following the variants of E₁, and the register with numerals in cursive as well as uncials.

pp. 76^b and 77^a have unimportant Arabic prayers without names, 77^b بسم الله الرؤوف الرحيم المجد لله في العلا . وكان المهتم بترميم هذا الكتاب المقدس الذي هو الانجيل للفقير بخطاياہ اتناسيوس المدعوا اسقفا بكريسي ابوتيج من يدي ابيه ومعلمه الاب السيد البطريك انبا يوانس السابع بعد المايا في عدد الابا الالة السما يثبتة على كرسية وكان تاريخ هذا الكتاب الاول قبط سنة ٩٠٨

At the side is the signature of ΠΙΘΗΚΙ ΑΘΑΝΑΣΙΟΣ ΤΑΠΟΘΗΚΗ 'the poor Athanasios of Apothêkê;' and below are two more lines, وصار ذلك من ملك للفقير اعلاه يسال ويتضرع الى كل من قرا فيه يدعوا له 'And it became the property of the miserable (the lowly one whose signature is¹) above, who prays and beseeches of all who read in it to invoke for him mercy and forgiveness of sins.' The Gospel of Mark begins under triple round-arched headpiece with line of tall gilt letters, two lines of archaic, one smaller gilt, one archaic.

p. 122^a is probably out of place, containing the following: εερεπ εργητς θεπτβονθια εεφ† πτεπςδαι επιε-αττελιο πτεπιατιος λογκας πιαποστολος ερε-πεψσεον εθονδβ ψωπι πεεεαν εεην 'Let us begin, with the help of God, and write the Gospel of Luke the Apostle; may his holy blessing be with us.'

 slight variants.

p. 125^b contains another colophon of Athanasius with his signature as before, except correct ⲫⲁ for ⲧⲁ, and the date Ⲙⲥⲫⲏ 1508 (1792), recording ‘the sure and perpetual dedication to the monastery of the great kindly verified the fact of this famine in Jabarti’s history, where it is said that the price of the ardeb (5 bushels) rose to 18 taleris (dollars). Spiro (Vocabulary, Cairo, 1895) gives riyaḥ = 20 piastres, therefore equivalent to a dollar or thaler.

p. 126^b the same prologue as in E₁ with variants of that MS.; then a graceful pointed-arched headpiece with cusps for the beginning of the Gospel, and arrangement of lines of text much as for Mark. Prologue &c.

 ending of John is ٩٠٨ سنة كتب نسخة الاول قبط ‘the copy of the first was erasure.

The book was bought of N. Nassif in May 1869.

E₂ Lacunae, Matthew 1, 1—4, 24 . . . πΔϣ π̄, John 16, 33 ΔλλΔ—17, 14 . . . ΔΠ ΠΕ.

The text follows E₁ with great regularity, but has been corrected from other MSS., and in the early chapters of Luke, where E₁ leaves D₁, E₂ keeps with D₁; E₂ usually follows the corrections of E₁; in Matthew 9, 13 has 'to repentance,' Mark 14, 24 'new,' Luke 11, 4 'but deliver us from evil,' John 8, 29 'my Father,' important additions which with the style of writing confirm the idea that the date of 1192 is too early, and that the latter part of the thirteenth century is the more probable time of writing.

Matthew and Mark, Luke 1—3, 13, ch. 24, John 8 have been collated, and all the readings of E₁ have been examined in E₂, by the editor, 1890—93.

E₃ 15. E₃, Evv., Copt.-Arab., London, Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society (Greg. 14^a), perfect. A.D. 1816—1818, paper, foll. 375.

This MS. agrees regularly with E₁ in arrangement and text of the prologues &c. and Gospels, and appears to have been copied from E₁.

Part of Matthew was collated by the editor, also Mark 1, Luke 24, John 8.

F₁ 16. F₁, Evv., Copt., Paris Nat. Copte 15, formerly Colbert 2913, Reg. 330³ (Greg. 20), imperfect. A.D. 1216, an. Mart. 932, foll. 291 (+3), col. 1, ll. 25, 30 × 23 cm., text 25.3 × 18 cm., quinions, writing upright and neat, unlike other MSS.; punctuation, red ϑ; l. c. three lines of text, coloured and with attached ornament; s. c. when reddened are more carefully painted than in other MSS.; ch. Copt. numbered with red uncials; Arabic titles and liturgical indications; Am. sec. and can. black, probably of the date of the corrections (see p. 41^b): no foliation or pagination, the Evangelist's name is sometimes seen on verso; quire ending &c. with ιϣ χϣ, ϣϥ θϥ, with or without πΔι πηι 'pity me,' ἀριθονοειν εροι 'help me,' χω πηι εβολ 'forgive me,' ογοζ παζ μετ 'and save me,' πΔι πηι ⲙⲉⲫⲧ 'God,' ἀριθονοειν π̄ϣ 'Lord,' with s. c. o. and uncial numbers: orn. scanty and poor, headpieces to Mark and John preserved.

At the end of the subscription of Matthew is χροπο ϣ̄ p̄λ̄β 'In the time of the Martyrs 932 (1216).' Mark begins under simply ornamented headpiece, with two archaic and one red line of text. John begins under similar headpiece.

p. 290^b (recent) contains an Arabic statement: 'Remember, O brothers, with spiritual love the misery and wretchedness of my soul, I the poor sinner who took the talent of my lord and master, who said to me, "Take it and trade with it and make profit." So I took it, wretch and slothful sluggard, and I dug a hole and placed it in the earth, and I said, "Verily, my master is slow of coming, and truly there are the prayers of the Saints."'

Verily, this was my thought, and I did not think that my lord would F₁ come speedily. And I ask you by him who has come and who will come for the salvation of the human race, ask the Lord Christ to leave my crimes unpunished. Surely my Lord's mercy is great, and he will rejoice over the like of me when he returns. He will not desire the death of the sinner and the suppliant. And for the prayer which ye will say, my Lord Christ will give you his reward sevenfold in his everlasting kingdom. And the name, O brothers, with which I was named is the priest Victor; and as for him who completed these four Gospels (it was) the beloved son of Matiyâs (or Mênâs), pray for him . . . , and may God most high forgive all your sins by the power of the Martyrs and Saints Amen; and to our Lord be glory.'

The note at the beginning which ascribes the writing to Victor must refer to this recent statement, probably relating to the repair of the book.

This MS. cannot be identified among those referred to by Wilkins.

The ancient text is full of mistakes, which have been carefully corrected throughout by one corrector, probably in early time. ܐܘܪܐܝܬ 'and' is frequently supplied by this corrector. Otherwise the text is of great interest and purity, with suspicion however of Syriac influence. It comes nearest to B in Luke, but from the fragmentary condition it cannot be satisfactorily compared with the rest. There are seventy-one omissions besides those of the tables.

 numbered also at the foot of ending and beginning pages in Syriac, F₂ starting from the end: orn. beautiful arabesque cross and frontispieces, pictures of Mark, Luke, and John.

The beautiful arabesque cross before Matthew is inscribed $\overline{\text{IHC}} \overline{\text{NXC}}$ $\overline{\text{NCHN}} \overline{\text{E}} \overline{\text{E}} \overline{\text{F}} \overline{\text{T}} \overline{\text{A}} \overline{\text{C}} \overline{\text{Y}} \overline{\text{C}} \overline{\text{P}} \overline{\text{O}}$. The first page has fine arabesque border on upper and outer margins, and the Gospel begins with four gilt archaic lines of text.

After the subscription of Matthew is an Arabic note by the copyist: 'Finished is the Gospel of Matthew the Evangelist, may his blessing and prayers be with us Amen.' And the copyist asks all who study in this noble book to remember him; the rest is cut, but the remains shew that nothing important is lost.

p. $\text{PI}\Delta^b$ has a picture of Mark writing, which with a narrow border measures 30.7×21.4 cm. Frontispiece of Mark the same as for Matthew.

Mark ends without subscription; on the next page is an Arabic note: 'Completed is the Gospel of Mark the Evangelist by the help of the Lord Christ, to whom be glory. And the number of the stichoi is 5050. And the poor copyist asks of him who studies in this noble book to remember him at the end of his prayers, and whoever says anything for him may the Lord reward him, as he said in the holy Gospel, thirty, and sixty, and an hundredfold. Adoration to God for ever.' Picture and frontispiece as before for Luke with only one gilt line of text and two red.

Luke ends as Mark, with the following in Arabic: 'Finished is the Gospel of the excellent (الفاضل), the blessed (السعيد) Saint Luke the Apostle the disciple, may the blessing of his prayers protect us Amen. And may it protect the hearer and the worker (العامل) and the poor copyist. And adoration to God for ever and ever.' Picture and frontispiece of even greater beauty for John, three gilt lines of text, two of red.

At the end of John 8, p. $\text{T}\overline{\text{E}}\overline{\text{E}}\overline{\text{Z}}^a$: وكان جري مرمة هذا الكتاب المبارك الذي هو كتاب الاربعة بشاير قبطي وعربي عن يد احقر الرهبان واذلهم الراهب مخاييل الاخميمي احد رهبان بدبر الست السيدة العذرى بالسرطان وكان الذي نفق مصروفاته هذا وجميع كتب لبطركخانة العامرة الاب المكامل والخبر الشامل الاب المكرم والخبر المعظم الاب البطريك انبا كيرلس بطريك هذمان فلنسال الرب الاله الساكن في اعلا سماه ان يثبتته على كرسيه اياما عديدة وازمنه بسالمة هادية مديدة وتخضع اعداء تحت موطن قداميه امين كان ذلك ١٥٩٤ للشهدا الاطهار And 'السعدا الابرار الرب الاله ينفعا بصلواتهم اجمعين امين والله الشكر دائماً' the restoration of this blessed book, which is the book of the four Gospels Coptic and Arabic, pursued its course by the hand of the most miserable of monks and vilest of them, the monk Michael of Akhmim, one of the monks of the monastery of our Lady the Virgin in As-Siryân (in the Nitrian F₂ valley). And he who spent his money on this and all the books of his prosperous Patriarchate was the perfect father and supreme pontiff, the honoured father and great pontiff, the father the Patriarch Anba Cyril, Patriarch 113. Let us pray the Lord God, who dwelleth in the height of heaven, to strengthen him upon his throne many days and times in safety of prolonged guidance, and humble his enemies under the soles of his feet Amen. And it was 1594 of the pure, happy, and righteous Martyrs (1878), may the Lord God grant us the benefit of all their prayers Amen, and to God be thanks for ever.'

p. ٧٤H^b in John 10 is an Arabic note of the restorer appealing to the mercy of the reader: لأن لم بقا فيه مرمة دفعة اخرة 'because there did not remain in it the repairing of the last portion,' with further unimportant remarks.

After the subscription of John, p. ٧٤V^a, is a cross and ⲉⲛⲉⲩⲣⲁⲛ ⲁⲩⲩⲱⲧⲧ ⲛⲉⲙⲛⲩⲣⲏⲣⲓ ⲛⲉⲙⲛⲓⲡⲓⲛⲁ ⲉⲑⲟⲩⲁⲃ ⲧⲑⲣⲓⲁⲥ ⲉⲑⲟⲩⲁⲃ ⲡⲟⲙⲉⲟⲩⲥⲓⲟⲥ. ⲡⲁⲓ ⲧⲁⲣ ⲛⲉ ⲛⲉⲛⲟⲩⲧ ⲛⲓⲁⲗⲓⲑⲩⲛⲟⲥ. ⲁⲛⲟⲛ ⲧⲉⲣⲉⲛ ⲉⲁⲛⲓⲭⲣⲏⲥⲧⲓⲁⲛⲟⲥ. ⲁⲩⲩⲱⲛⲓ ⲛⲁⲩⲩⲉⲛⲉⲣⲫⲉⲙⲉⲧⲓ ⲁⲩⲡⲁⲓⲁⲛⲓⲟⲛ ⲡⲓⲭⲱⲙⲉ ⲉⲩⲧⲟⲩⲃⲏⲟⲩⲧ ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲩⲥⲉⲁⲣⲱⲟⲩⲧ ⲉⲑⲟⲩⲉⲛⲭⲟⲙⲉ ⲛⲓⲃⲉⲛ ⲡⲧⲉⲛⲓⲛⲓⲩⲓ ⲡⲧⲉⲫⲧ ⲉⲧⲑⲟⲥⲓ ⲫⲏ ⲉⲧⲟⲩⲙⲉⲟⲩⲧ ⲉⲣⲟⲩ ⲭⲉⲛⲓⲉⲧⲁⲛⲧⲉⲗⲓⲟⲛ ⲫⲏ ⲉⲩⲱⲁⲧⲟⲩⲁⲑⲙⲉⲩ ⲭⲉⲛⲓⲑⲓⲩⲉⲛⲟⲩⲩⲓ ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲟⲛ ⲧⲁⲡⲁⲛⲧⲉⲗⲓⲁ ⲉⲑ. ⲉⲃⲟⲗ ⲑⲓⲧⲟⲧⲩⲩ ⲙⲉⲙⲁⲓⲛⲟⲩⲧ ⲙⲉⲙⲁⲓⲁⲛⲁⲛⲓ ⲙⲉⲙⲁⲓⲡⲓⲭⲥ ⲙⲉⲙⲁⲓⲩⲩⲉⲙⲉⲟ ⲛⲓⲁⲣⲭⲱⲛ ⲉⲧⲧⲁⲓⲏⲟⲩⲧ ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲡⲩⲱⲙⲉⲩⲉⲛⲟⲩⲧ ⲉⲛⲛⲉⲩⲧⲁⲕⲟⲛⲓⲁ ⲛⲓⲉⲗⲗⲟ ⲉⲑⲛⲁⲛⲉⲩ ⲉⲛⲛⲉⲩⲁⲛⲟⲩⲧⲏⲥ ⲛⲉⲙⲛⲉⲩⲑⲃⲏⲟⲩ ⲡⲟⲣⲑⲟⲟⲑⲟⲥ ⲉⲗⲉⲙⲭⲉⲧ space left ⲛⲩⲣⲏⲣⲓ ⲁⲩⲡⲓⲉⲗⲗⲟ ⲉⲧⲑⲁⲕⲁⲑ ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲛⲉⲩⲩⲣⲏⲣⲓ ⲉⲧⲙⲉⲟⲩⲧ ⲉⲣⲟⲩ ⲭⲉⲑⲉⲭ space left ⲡⲟⲥ ⲉⲣⲛⲟⲩⲙⲉⲧⲓ ⲉⲛⲧⲉⲩⲙⲉⲧⲉⲧⲟⲩⲣⲟ ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲉⲩⲉⲓⲣⲓ ⲙⲉⲙⲱⲟⲩ ⲡⲟⲩⲛⲁⲓ ⲛⲁⲑⲣⲁⲩ ⲉⲛⲛⲓⲉⲑⲟⲟⲩ ⲉⲧⲉⲙⲙⲉⲁⲧ ⲡⲑⲟⲧ ⲁⲙⲛⲛ. ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲉⲩⲉⲣⲃⲏⲏⲟⲛ ⲉⲣⲱⲟⲩ ⲩⲱⲛⲧⲟⲩⲙⲉⲧⲓ ⲉⲛⲉⲩⲧⲏⲣⲓⲟⲛ ⲡⲟⲩⲭⲁⲓ ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲡⲣⲉⲩⲧⲁⲛⲑⲟ ⲉⲑⲣⲟⲩⲓⲣⲓ ⲙⲉⲙⲱⲟⲩ. ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲡⲧⲟⲩⲱⲛⲑⲧ ⲉⲛⲟⲩⲱⲛⲑⲧ ⲡⲉⲛⲉⲑ ⲩⲱⲉⲛⲉⲑ ⲁⲙⲛⲛ. ⲟⲩⲟⲟ ⲫⲏ ⲉⲧⲁⲩⲥⲉⲑⲁⲓ ⲛⲓⲑⲏⲕⲓ ⲛⲁⲣⲥⲟⲩⲙⲉⲁ ⲛⲁⲧⲙⲉⲛⲩⲱⲁ ⲉⲙⲉⲟⲩⲧ ⲉⲣⲟⲩ ⲭⲉⲭⲣⲏⲥⲧⲓⲁⲛⲟⲥ ⲙⲉⲗⲓⲥⲧⲁ ⲟⲩⲁⲓⲁⲕⲟⲛ ⲉⲩⲧⲑⲟ ⲡⲟⲩⲟⲛ ⲛⲓⲃⲉⲛ

There are a few Arabic glosses in the margin, الامجد, التقه, تاج, برصوما, F₂ for the names Al Amjad, At-Taḥab, Tāj, Barṣûmâ. بدوام بغير سكون 'with duration and without rest' for 'continually and ceaselessly.'

After the Coptic comes : وكان الفراغ من هذا الكتاب الشريف المقدس يوم الثلثا تاسع مسري سنة الف وسبعة للشهدا الاطهار الموافق لسني العربية الثالث من شهر شعبان سنة تسعين وستماية للهجرة ولربنا المجد والتسبحه السجود الى الابد 'And the finishing of this noble and holy book was the third day, the 9th of Masrî, year 1007 of the pure Martyrs, corresponding to the Arabic year, the 3rd of the month Sha'abân, year 690 of the Hijrah. And to our Lord be glory and adoration and worship for ever Amen.'

This is followed by another and recent Arabic statement referring to study or work upon the book (تطلع), which is described as the Gospels, rivers of water of life, whereby were saved Adam and Eve and their righteous offspring. The despicable slave gives his name as Barṣûmâ and his office as deacon, and prays for pardon, and says he wrote in 1468 (1742).

p. ٢٢٤^b contains the dedication 'to the monastery of the great martyr Marî Mercurius (Macarius?), known as the father of monks, known as the monastery of Shahrân,' on the 5th of Tût in the year of the Martyrs 1045 (1328). This monastery is also styled in another short note on the previous page : دير القديس برصوما العريان بدير شهران بالمعفرة الكائنة بجانب البحر 'the monastery of Saint Barṣûmâ the naked, in the monastery of Shahrân at the cave? (بمغارة), being on the side of the River.' This probably identifies the monastery with that which is now called Dair al Aryan, near Tura, a short distance south of Old Cairo; Abu Sâlih (p. 142) mentions a cave, being no doubt the quarries of that neighbourhood.

p. ٢٢٤^a has the prayer of another student or worker, the priest George of the same monastery.

p. ٢٢٤^b begins the calendar or directory, including the twelve months, the little month, Lent, Easter, and Pentecost, the names of Saints being given throughout the year. After a table of the lessons comes : 'Completed is the directory for what is required to be read throughout the Coptic year of the holy Gospels and the Epistles (of Paul) and the Katâlikûn (Catholic Epistles) and the Acts, in peace of the Lord Amen.' Then the usual ascription of glory, and prayer for the provider, reader, copyist, and hearer, without name or date.

Matthew, Mark 1, Luke 24, John 8 were collated by the editor in 1892-93. It is desirable that the MS. should be fully collated to supply the defect of, and confirm the readings, F₁. Political events prevented further collation in 1893.

The frontispiece of Luke has upper border and ornament on inner margin, one line of large decorated letters, two archaic, and the rest black and red.

After the subscription of John is written  (946) and 'تاريخ الشهداء تسماية ستة واربعين شهر توت' the date of the Martyrs 946, the month of Tût.' Then 'هذا ما اشتراه القس غبريال خادم كنيسة الملك الحليل' This is that which the priest Gabriel, minister of the church of the mighty angel Michael the archangel, known as the chief of the canal in Cairo the protected, bought. And it is the book of the holy Gospel of the four Evangelists complete, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John, being a purchase valid and legal from the blessed monk John of the monastery of Al 'Arabâ, who is known as Ibn an-Najîb the secretary of the Treasury. Lacunae, Matthew I, 1—10  2°. John I, 1—10, 26.

The text being probably the exemplar of MS. Diez (G₂, Scriba I)

G₁ has been already known as pure, in some readings purer than A. G₁ is usually allied with CH, but it has also a relation to ΓK, which sometimes suggests the forming of a separate family.

Matthew was collated twice, and the rest once, by the editor, 1890-93.

G₂ 20. G₂, Evv., Copt., Berlin Royal Library Orient. Diez A. Fol 40 (Greg. 26). XIII century, paper, foll. 359 (+2), col. 1, ll. 25, 24.8 × 17.2 cm., text 20.7 × 12.3, 19.7 × 12 cm., punctures of ruling visible, quinions, writing like E₂, but larger and rougher; punctuation, red ❖ ❖ ❖ ~ : , spaces often left instead of point; l. c. black, red, black reddened, bird holding ornament; s. c. black reddened; ch. Gr. marked by one or two red lines of text or a few red letters, and sometimes with red uncials alone, and sometimes in red circle like G₁, sometimes رومي added; ch. Copt. black or red uncials; Am. sec. and can. irregularly given in black uncials: foliated on verso in uncials and later cursives, and verso also signed later with Evangelist's name: quire ending &c. usually lost, IX XC TC ΘC being probably the usual signature with s. c. o.: orn., no pictures, but fine geometrical ornament (as in E₂) on two pages, and the frontispieces of Mark, Luke, and John survive without elaborate decoration.

Modern cross at the beginning, and modern frontispiece with triple round-arched headpiece. The ancient writing begins ΧΦΕ ΞΑΝΔΑCCH, which is crossed out with red. foll. 50-68 contain the writing of Schwartz's Scriba II (J₂), and on p. 68^b is in rough Arabic برسم الشيخ 'with the mark of the Shaikh the teacher John,' this occurs again nearly the same on p. 107^b.

p. 108^a Mark begins with small headpiece, under which is CTΠΘEW ΕΥΑΓΓΕΛΙΟΝ ΚΑΤΑ ΞΑΡΚ, large capital and one archaic line of text, two red, then black and red, ornament at outer border.

p. 170^b Mark ends with neat Arabic subscription.

p. 171^a has remains of Arabic, beginning هذا الكتاب المقدس ملك 'this holy book is the possession,' the name of the possessor is lost, but a ninth line gives a date of 1125 (1409).

p. 171^b contains a short prayer to each person of the Holy Trinity, with six rougher Arabic lines referring to the entry of the sun into the signs of the zodiac: 'Barmenhât 17 the sign of the ram, Barmûdah 17 the sign of the bull, Bashons 17 the sign of ?, Bûûnah 17 the sign of the crab, Abâb 17 the sign of ?, Masrî 17 the ear of corn, Tût 17 the sign of the scales, Bâbah 17 the sign of the scorpion, (Hatûr 17) the sign of the archer ?, Kihak 17 ? the sign of.'

Luke begins like Mark, foll. 219-237, Scriba II (J₂).

p. 278^b has short pious statement in Arabic without name or date, which has been copied from cut fragment near it. John begins nearly as Mark G_2 and Luke, and the last verses have been restored. Except the words 'Capucins du Caire,' written at the beginning, there is no further information as to the history of the book, which was bought by H. F. de Diez in 1804, among the books of Bp. Laurence Benzeltjern at Upsala. This collection had been made in the East by Benzel, Archbp. of Upsala.

Lacunae, Matthew 1, 1—10 ... $\Delta E \Delta \Psi 1^\circ$, 13, 55 ΞH —20, 13 ... $\Psi \Phi \Pi P$. Luke 10, 9 $O \Upsilon O \Sigma \Delta \chi O C$ —14, 17 ... $\Delta \Psi O \Upsilon \omega p \Pi \Xi$, 18, 21—32 ... $\Psi O \Psi \Psi O \Upsilon O \Sigma$, 19, 15 $\Xi \Pi \Sigma \Delta T$ —30 ... $E T \chi H$. John 21, 7 $O \Upsilon O \Sigma \Delta \Psi \Sigma I T \Psi$ to the end of the Gospel. The two latter in Luke are supplied by a hand different from Scriba II and called G_2^b .

The text follows the corrections in G_1 , and was probably copied from that MS., which it also resembles in small peculiarities, such as the numerals inclosed by circles and the accent on $O \Upsilon \bar{O} \Pi$.

Matthew was collated by the editor in 1891, and John 1, 1—10, 26 in 1893: for the rest the sufficiently accurate collation of Schwartze has been trusted. The first six chapters of Luke were also carefully examined and compared with G_1 , but not collated. There are thirty-six omissions in $G_{1,2}$ besides those in the tables.

21. G_3 , Evv., Copt., Paris Nat. Copte 60 (Greg. 23), marked also No. 4. G_3 XVII? century, paper, foll. 212 (+5), col. 1, ll. (i) 28, (ii) 31, (i) 27×17.5 cm., (ii) 24.16 cm.; ch. Copt.-Gr. marked with black (Greek sometimes red) uncials, red in John; Am. sec. and can. for Matthew, Mark, Luke, but not John; frontispieces for Matthew, Mark, Luke.

Matthew has short Arabic subscription. Mark ends with Arabic subscription exactly as in G_2 , after which comes 'O reader, remember the misery and impurity of the copyist Abu al Maunâ, in name a deacon, the least minister of the church of the Lady the most merciful (الحنونة), the pure Saint Mary, mother of the Saviour of the world, may her intercessions be with us and with all the united children of Baptism Amen. And whoever finds a fault, corruption of what is right, grant respite, because in whom is there not fault and flaw?' Luke ends with subscription as Matthew. John begins with different paper and writing, and ends with short Arabic subscription.

The text of Matthew, Mark, Luke has been copied from $G_2 J_2$, i. e. the MS. of Diez in its present condition, the mistakes of $G_2 J_2$ are occasionally corrected, but the spelling, which is very incorrect, is peculiar to the copyist.

The MS. was not fully collated for Matthew in 1890, but in the first ten chapters it agrees with G_2 twenty-eight times when the reading is G₃ peculiar to G₂, and often with G_{1.2} when they vary from the others. Mark 1, Luke 24, and John 8 were collated in 1893. The text of John differs altogether; thus there are three different texts in the book. G₃ has been used in the apparatus for John, but has nothing in common with G_{1.2}.

H₁ 22. H₁, Evv., Copt.-Arab., Paris Institut Catholique (Greg. 33), perfect. A.D. 1250, an. Mart. 966, paper, foll. 235 (+2), coll. 2, ll. 33, 25 × 17.5 cm., text 19.8 × 14.5 cm., quinions, writing not very regular with some resemblance to E₂, but more upright; punctuation, a gilt circular point for Matthew and Mark, also red ✠; l. c. red and measuring more than two lines of text, s. c. red and black; ch. Copt. marked by one red line of text and with black uncials; Am. sec. and can. red with red small capitals, the ordinary verses having black: foliated on verso in black uncials with name of Evangelist in red Arabic, cursive numbering also up to 30: quire ending &c. signed with ⲓⲣ ⲭⲣ, ⲕⲉ ⲟⲩⲥ (also ⲣⲥ ⲩⲥ), with recto also numbered: orn. pictures of the Evangelists and of one scene of the narrative at the beginning of each Gospel; Matthew has six pages of six scenes each, Luke two, and John two, very well drawn and richly coloured on a gilt ground.

There is late Arabic writing on the second unnumbered page.

p. 1^b picture of the Nativity, Shepherds and Magi included, with Arabic explanatory words, below in gilt letters the inscription, after which the first word of the Gospel in large gilt letters, two lines red, one black, two red. Pictures at p. 4^b Magi and Herod, Flight into Egypt, Innocents, Baptism of John, Leper, Centurion; p. 5^a Simon's wife's mother, Demoniacs, Palsy, Call of Matthew, Woman touching the hem, Jairus' daughter; p. 18^b Two blind men, Beheading of John, 5000, Transfiguration, Lunatic boy, Salome and her sons; p. 19^a John and Peter sent, Triumphal entry, Ten Virgins, Anointing feet, Feet washing, Communion; p. 56^b Agony (with angel), Betrayal, Christ led away, Trial, Denial, Trial; p. 57^a Judas returning money and death, Crucifixion, Pilate washing hands, Deposition, Bearing the cross, Burial.

The calendar or directory of what is required to be read in the months of the Coptic year, of the holy Gospels and the Apostle (Epp. of Paul)

H₁ (الابسطلس) and the Kathâlikûn and the Acts, follows on foll. 226-232, then foll. 233-235 have the table of canons without preface.

p. 235^b has unimportant Arabic writing without names or date and invoking the god of insects ياكيج 'O Kabikaj.'

The MS. was bought of M. Amélineau, the well-known Egyptian explorer and Coptic scholar, in 1885, and is of great value both for text and art. In an Arabic note of H₂ that MS. is said to have been copied from a copy which preserved the Coptic version in the purest form, and there can be no kind of doubt that H₁ is the copy there mentioned.

The text agrees with A and C, and is very correct except for interchange of O and Ω, which fact connects it further with A. There are fifteen omissions besides those in the tables.

It was collated by the editor, 1890-93.

p. 163^b An interesting Arabic statement which gives the date of the exemplar as 1224, and describes the copy made from it as containing the directory in 19 quires, the Epistles in 28, and the Gospels in 31, also the binding painted and silver studded, the whole finished on the 19th of Mechir 1014 (1308). The writer calls himself Yunas Abu S'aïd ibn Said ad-Dârain Abu 'l-Faḍl the Christian, and says that he wrote the canons at the end of the Gospels, copying from the writing of a scribe named Stephen.

This John is presumably the writer of the Acts and Epistles of Brit. Mus. Or. 424, who is there called Abu S'aïd ibn Said ad-Dâr ibn Abu 'l-Faḍl the Christian. In 424 are two statements giving the pedigree of the copies of the Epistles, Catholic, and Acts: the Epistles were copied from a copy which was copied from the writing of Anba Yohanna, bishop of Samanud, and this bishop copied from the work of a priest Gabriel, who wrote in 1249 A.D. This Gabriel is said to have become Patriarch (mentioned under D₁). And it is added that Gabriel made great exertions to produce the most correct Coptic and Arabic text. The Acts and Catholic were copied from a copy which was copied from the writing of Jurjah ibn Saksik, who copied the work of Gabriel, who wrote in 1249.

fol. 164 has a long Coptic prayer, without name or date, by the same hand.

p. 1^b dedication repeated before the other Gospels by John (105th Patr.) to the church of S. Mary in Ḥārat ar-Rûm in Cairo, with date of the Martyrs 1447 (1731). After the subscription of Matthew is the same prayer as in H₁, slight difference in spelling and ΠΤΕΠΙΕΠΕΞ added. Then the copyist gives his name (more fully p. 230^a) the deacon Abu 'l-Munâ (منا) ibn Nasîm an-Nakḳâsh ibn al Marḥûm (مرحوم) Yûhanna ibn Abu 'l-Munâ. Mark begins with a line of large gilt letters, and one of smaller gilt, and three red. Dedication again after Mark. Luke begins after gorgeous page with one line of large gilt letters, one blue, and one red. After the subscription is the same Coptic prayer as in H₁, with mistakes in spelling, and two extra Amens. Another Arabic prayer follows, and then ΙC†ΞΔΤΔΠΟΙΔ. Χω παΙ εβολ. χω ΞΠΙCΞΟΥ. ΔΙΕΡΠΟΒΙ (thrice) χεφ† χω παΙ εβολ χεΔΠΟΚ ΟΥΡΕΥΕΡΠΟΒΙ ΔΞΗΠ 'Behold the repentance, forgive me, say the blessing, I have sinned (thrice). Because (thou art) God forgive me, because I am a sinner Amen.' There is another dedication to the same church by John (107th Patr.) in 1774 (1490). After subscription of John the same Coptic prayer as after Luke, except ΤΗΡΟΥ for first ΔΞΗΠ, but no Arabic prayer. Then comes a statement of finishing and praise of the Gospels, after which a long Arabic request to reader to pray for writer, speaking of the exemplar as معتبرة كاملة قديمة 'esteemed, perfect, ancient, exact, according to the ancient Coptic words and Arabic of complete accuracy,' with mention of the index, directory, and synaxarium, with date of 1379 an. Mart., 1073 Hij. (1663). Then another note mentioning Al Mu'allim Luṭf-Allah Abu Yûsuf as the provider of the book, who bought and dedicated it to the church of our Lady and S. George in the Ḥārat ar-Rûm in ΔΥΞΞΘ 1449 (1733). foll. 232-233 have directory for Holy Week; foll. 233-236 a harmony of the Gospels copied (1685) from a MS. 201 years older; foll. 236-240 the canons; foll. 241-249 directory for the year.

The text, sufficiently collated by the editor, has been copied from H₁, which would answer to the description above, and elsewhere also, as 'precious and beautiful.'

The copying of this holy volume was finished on the fourth day of life in the month Bashons of the year 988 of the Martyrs, corresponding to the 9th Shū'al of the year 670 of the Hijrah. He who provided for it was the excellent and honourable archon Abu 'l-Faḍl son of the Shaikh and archon, learned and erudite Nash al Imâm. He provided for it of his own trouble, and dedicated it surely and perpetually to the church of the Lady the Virgin Marta Miriam, known as Al Mu'allakah in Maṣr the protected at Ḳaṣr ash-Sham'a, that she might be an intercessor for the saving of his soul, and for pardon of his sins at the coming of her Son to the judgement of mankind, and that he may hear the voice of joy, "Enter into the joy of the Lord." And he also prays every one who studies (in it), and beseeches them to call (upon God) for him and his parents and all believers. And may the Lord God accept this providing for it, and reward him with lasting things for temporary and with heavenly for earthly, and in the next world life everlasting Amen. And the poor copyist, unproductive earth, not worthy to be called man, much less Priest, Sim'an ibn Abu Naṣr at-Ṭamedây (الطمدای), humbly intreats every one who studies in it to remember him at the end of his prayer, and shew kindness for his past faults in it, and correct the imperfections in all of it, and may he have his reward. And though indeed I wrote according to my power what I found (in) the copy, turn away from my errors, for surely I am not learned, but a learner and imitator of the learned who have passed away. For the sake of God remember me for good, because the Lord said, "As ye measure it shall be measured to you and ye shall have increase." And whoever says any (prayer) may he have the like (blessing), and to our Lord be glory Amen. I wrote it when I was staying in Maṣr the protected, in the place known as Al Ḳaṣr ash-Sham'a. May God protect us with his mercy Amen Amen.'

The MS. still remains in this place called Ḳaṣr ash-Sham'a at Old Cairo, and Matthew and Mark, Luke 24 and John 8 were collated in the vestibule of the church called Al Mu'allakah, by the editor in 1893, through the kindness of Nakhlah Bey Jûsnf, and with the assistance of Butros Buktur, a minister of the church.

J₁ The text contains many of the later additions, while twenty-eight omissions are peculiar to the MS. In Luke and John it has near relation to E_{1,2}.

The three volumes were collated by the editor, 1890-93.

J₂ J₂ is the text of Scriba II of Schwartz in MS. Diez (G₂). Schwartz discusses the difference between the two writings, and concludes rightly that II is not much more recent than I, but the work of a less educated writer (viliori eruditioni). He decides also with justice that II presents Sahidic forms, yet he seems not to have recorded that the readings are of a different class, following J₁ with regularity.

Collated by the editor, 1891-93.

J₃ 27. J₃, Evv., Copt.-Arab., [London Brit. Mus.] Parham 126 (Greg. 17), perfect. A.D. 1676-1730, an. Mart. 1393 Tût, 1446 Amshîr, paper, foll. 333, coll. 2, ll. 29, 15.1 × 10.5 cm., text 10 × 6.4 cm., quinions; l. c. more than three lines of text, red and yellow and black; s. c. black reddened; ch. Gr. marked by two red lines of text with red uncials; ch. Copt. with half a red line; Am. sec. and can. with black uncials: foliated only at quire ending &c., which contain IT XT, TC ΘC, s. c. o., and recto also numbered: orn. rather neat, two crosses carefully drawn before prologues to Matthew and Mark, arched and rectangular headpieces.

Cross at beginning has IT XT TC ΘC between the arms.

Prologue as in C₁ with variants: add TEΠ[ερζθνοϣ, om. ΧΗ, TEΠ for ἸTEΠ, ΠΕΡ for ΠΙ., ἁΠΙ... ΠΙ for Ἰ, TEΠΘ. for ΕTEΠΘ., ΠΙ ΕΤ for ΠΕΤ, ΠΕΛΠΟ. for ΠΕCΠΟ., ΕΤΙΠΙ for TEΠΙΠΙ, ΘΕΠΠΙΚ. for ἸΠΠΙΚ., ἸΟΥCΥCΤΑCΙC ἸTEΠΤΑ-ΧΡΟ for ΕΟΥΠΤΑΧΡΟ, ΠΕΚΙΠΤΟC for ΚΕΠΤΙΟC, ΟΥΟΖ for ΠΕ ΟΥΟΖ, om. ΤΗΡΟΥ, om. ΞΗ ΠΕ.

After the register is a notice of Matthew the same as in E₁ down to ΕΠΙΘΑΚΙ, then instead of ἸΠΠΙΟΥΑΛΕΡΩΛΙ it proceeds ἁΠΙ-ΖΩΙΩ ΟΥΟΖ ΔΨΕΡΛΑΡΤΥΡΟC ἸΘΗΤC ΕΨΖΩΠΙ ΘΕΠΠΙΕΖΟΟΥ ἸΒ ΠΑΟΠΙ. And John the son of Zebedee translated this Gospel in the city of the Tongues. And it (has) 2000 and 600 words.' After an Arabic statement of the end of the prologue is ἀριφύετι πῶς πεκῶκ Ζεντεφ- J₃ μετοτρο ἡεπεζ ἀμην 'Remember, Lord, thy servant in thine (lit. his) eternal kingdom Amen.' The Gospel begins under a neat headpiece with two tall black lines of text and three red, with outer marginal ornament. Short Arabic subscription: 'Finished is the Gospel of Matthew the Evangelist, his blessing be on us Amen, the fifth blessed day, the 3rd of the month Tât the blessed, the opening of the year, 393 after the thousand of the pure, happy, and righteous Martyrs (1676), and adoration to God for ever.'

Cross and headpiece with σὺν θῷ πατρὶ κε ἰοc κε τῷ ππᾶ ἀγίoc as in E_{1,2}, then prologue and notice of Mark beginning Πιγίoc μαρκoc as in E_{1,2}, obs. πῆ ἡταπολῖc. Mark begins with two tall black lines and three red, and ornament nearly as for Matthew. Arabic subscription giving date the first day, the 6th of Hathûr; also at each side πῶς παῖ ἀπεφρεφς δαι πρεφ-ερποβι, ὡλῆλ εχωι εῶβεφ† χεαποκ οὔρεφερποβι εεαψω 'Lord pity its (lit. his) writer the sinner. Pray for me for the sake of God, for I am a sinner exceedingly.'

p. 145^b after three red lines of invocation begins prologue to Luke, omitting μαρεπ—ἀμην, followed by register numbered with red cursives, and notice of Luke as in E_{1,2}, σῶρπ for οὔωπ, and following E₁ with the longer form. Luke begins with bad headpiece, and one black reddened line of text. The same notice of John as in E_{1,2}, also the same register. The Gospel begins under headpiece with two tall and two red lines of text, and ends with Arabic subscription giving date Friday (الجمعة) the 5th of Amshîr, 446th year after the thousand of the Martyrs (1730). The last page of John and the colophon and a few other words elsewhere in the book are in a rougher hand, and it would seem that the book had not been quite completed in 1676, and left in this unfinished state till 1730, when even it was not quite finished.

The text follows J₁, except in the first nine chapters of Luke, and contains most of the additions in Mark.

Matthew, Mark 1 and 2 and 6, Luke 20 and 24, John 8. 10, and 16, 30 to end of 17, besides many other verses, were collated by the editor.

28. J₄, Evv., Copt.-Arab., Cairo Patriarchate (Greg. 38), perfect J₄ except last leaf. XVII-XVIII century, paper, foll. 338 (+4), coll. 2, ll. 29, 30.7 × 20 cm., text 22.8 × 13 cm., quinions; ch. Copt. marked by three or four red lines of text and uncials; ch. Gr. with cursives; Am.
 sec. and can.: foliated: quire ending &c. ἰoc θεoc, παῖ πῆ;

J₄ ιϞ χϞ, παι παπ; ιϞ χϞ, ιϞ θϞ, Ϟς θς, παι παπ; κε οθς, Ϟς χϞ; κε οθς, ις θς: orn. chiefly before each Gospel, elaborate, but of bad colour.

At the beginning there is a cross with Δ above and Ω below, between the arms ΙΗC ΠΧC ΠΩΗΡΙ Φ† and يسوع المسيح ابن الله اذكر يارب 'Jesus Christ the Son of God, remember O Lord the provider and author, and the copyist the sinner, in thine eternal kingdom.' Another cross on verso. Prologue &c. as in E_{1,2}J₃. A third cross (both with inscriptions) before the first page of Matthew, which begins with large letters and tall yellow line of text, and one tall red line. At the end of the subscription is ΠΙΚΟΤΧΙ ΤΠΕ ΚΑΛΙΟΤΡΑΦΟΣ ΨΛΗΛ ΕΧΩΙ ΕΘΒΕΦ† ΧΕΛΠΟΚ ΟΥΡΕΥ-ΕΡΠΟΒΙ ΕΛΛΑΨΩ 'the small (chapters) 355, the copyist—pray for me for the sake of God, for I am a sinner exceedingly.' Cross and prologue &c. for Mark as E_{1,2}J₃ with rather better readings than J₃, but mistakes in spelling; an Arabic prayer for the intercession of Mark after the account of his life, also prayer for copyist &c. Subscription of Mark is ΕΥΑΓΓΕΛΙΟΝ ΖΩΗΣ ΚΑΤΑ ΜΑΡΚΟΝ ΕΠΙΡΗΝΗ ΤΩ ΚΩ ΔΕΗΝ CΤΥΧ ΔΩΠ ΟΥΕΙΝΗ ΠΠΙΨ† ΜΗ ΠΕ ΚΕΠΤΟΣ ΠΒ ΠΑΤΗΩCΙC ΟΥΚΟΤΧΙ ΠΕ CΛC ΔΥ†-ΜΑ† CΙΕ ΕΥΚΩΡΥ ΚΑ ΠΚΕΦΑΛΕΟΝ. ΠC ΠΑΙ ΜΠΕΥΡΕΥCΘΑΙ ΠΡΕΥΕΡΠΟΒΙ ΜΙΧΑΗΛ ΠΙΛΑ-ΤΟC. ΨΛΗΛ ΕΧΩΙ ΕΘΒΕΦ†. Most of this is the same as in other MSS., ending 'Lord pity the writer the sinner Michael Pilatos, pray for me for the sake of God.' Next comes the Epistle of Eusebius as in E₁ with a few variants, then the description of the canons, the canons, and eight and a half leaves for calendar with Arabic preface and subscription.

p. ροΔ^b has circular ornament.

p. ροΒ^b begins prologue to Luke as in E₁ with a few variants; the peculiar chapters are ΞΗ; the register of titles and notice of Luke the same as J₃ with slight variation.

p. ροε^b fine cross, but bad colour; first page of Luke ornamented J₄ nearly as before.

p. CΞΖ^a has two large geometrical figures; again at fol. CΞΘ.

p. CO^a John begins with first page as before. The last leaf of the Gospel has been restored.

The text agrees with J_{1,3} as far as examined by the editor in 1893.

There is a duplicate of this book by the same writer, but not dated, in the church of S. Mark at Alexandria (Greg. 61), examined by the editor in 1892.

29. K, Evv., Copt., Oxford Bodleian Library 166, Maresc. Or. 6 (Greg. 4), K imperfect. A. D. 1320, an. Mart. 1036, paper, foll. 281 (+5), col. 1, ll. 26, 27, 34.6 × 26 cm., text 23.8 × 20 cm., quinions, writing somewhat of the style of J₁, but less pleasing and rather thinner; punctuation, red ✠ ✠ rarely ✠ —; l. c. brightly coloured with yellow, red, and green, and ornament attached or opposite, a few birds; s. c. black reddened; ch. Gr. and Copt. marked by one line of black archaic letters with occasional red uncials; Am. sec. in cursive numerals without can.: foliated on verso, usually signed with K&T or K&TΔ, and Evangelist's name on recto: quire ending &c. ϣϥ ϥϥ, ιϣ χϣ; παινηι ιϣ χϣ ϥ†, ϥ† ϣϥ ϥϥ παζμετ; π̄ϥ ιϣ χϣ παι ηηι, κε οϥϥ; π̄ϥ αρι κε οϥϥ ρονηιη εροι, ϣϥ ϥϥ; αρι ρονηιη ιϣ χϣ εροι, ϣϥ ϥϥ; ιϣ χϣ, ϣϥ ϥϥ; ιϣ χϣ, ηι κΔ; οϥ παι ϣϥ ϥϥ ηηι, ϥ† ιϣ χϣ παινηι; πϥ αρι ρον (ϣϥ) ϥϥ θιηε- ϣϣ, ι χωηηηι ϣϥ ϥϥ ηηαηοβι; on the fifth and sixth quires of Luke ϥ† ιϣ χϣ χωηηι, Δποκ Δ ϣϥ ϥϥ ηιχωβ, and the last ending has π̄ϥ παι εϥϥ ιϣ χϣ ετϣιρωϣϣ, and s. c. o.: the quires begin again with new series of numbers for Luke; the recto of quire beginning is also numbered: orn. rather poor, Matthew has a cross (without inscription), and Luke a large geometrical figure at beginning. First page of Matthew bordered, one line large ornamented, one tall black line of text, one short, one tall, and three of ordinary-sized red letters. After subscription of Matthew in small writing π̄ϥ παι εϥϥ εταϣϥ Δι οτοζ αρι ϣηηωριη παϣ 'Lord pity him who wrote and excuse him.' Mark has only upper border, one ornamented line, then nearly as Matthew. Luke lines of text nearly as Mark, upper and outer border, in which is written in the midst of the ornament ιϥ † μεταηοια αρι ϥεετι επιαλαχ εετϥεοϥ 'Behold the repentance, remember the least (of men)

K Mattheos.' After subscription of Luke is in smaller hand leaning to right :

 with my head under the feet of every one who reads in this book, that he may remember me and excuse me for my ignorance, and may God reward him in heaven Amen.' John upper border and lines of text nearly as Mark.

Seven restored pages finish the text, and contain the following Arabic statement: 'And there was the end of the restoration of this blessed book containing the Gospels of the four Evangelists, Matthew &c., from whose mouth issue the rivers of water of life, on the blessed third day, the 21st of the month Barmahât the blessed, year 1157 of the pure Martyrs. But in the ancient quire, instead of which we have made this copy, we found the date of the original copying of this book, that it was finished copying on the 11th of the month Bûûnah, year 1036 of the pure, happy, righteous Martyrs. May God most high grant us salvation by their acceptable prayers Amen. And the person who provided for the restoration of this blessed book, of his wealth and solid (مُلب) estate, was the descendant blessed and honoured, the respected and revered archon, noble of the nobles of the Jacobite religion in Maṣr (Cairo) the protected, the honoured Deacon, the honourable Shaikh, the teacher Joseph the son of the Master, the chief of the orthodox religion, the learned Shaikh, the teacher George brother of the priest Sergius who lives now at Anbabah, and minister of our Lady dwelling at Sabuk, renowned for their noble family بيت النجارين: seeking thereby the perfect reward of abundant portions. And we will ask of him who neither neglects nor sleeps that he may enable him to do similar good in similar place, and that he may give him lasting things instead of perishable, and heavenly for earthly, and cause him to visit this land and specially this place, and make him arrive at the heavenly Jerusalem after being satiated with long life and lengthened course; through the acceptable prayers of the holy Martyrs Amen Amen Amen. And the copyist of this new quire, and restorer of this glorious book was the servant poor, despicable, weak, lazy, and afflicted, who is not worthy to raise up his K head among men by reason of abundance of sins, Matthias by name, the least and humblest of deacons of the church of our holy father Shanudah, in the street of the River in Old Cairo. We ask of our fathers dwelling in this holy ground that they will not forget us in their pious prayers and continual liturgies. And it was in the time of the headship of our honoured father the devoted monk the abbot Stephen. Almighty God, dwelling in highest heaven, recompense all who toil in this and every holy place with sevenfold reward. And thanks to God for ever and ever.'

This MS. is the 'quartus' of Wilkins; and Dr. Marshall writing in his transcript (Bodl.), 'nactus sum cod. vetustiss. evang. Coptic. ab Hierosolyma,' probably refers to K.

Lacuna, John 19, 15 to the end of the Gospel.

There are sixty-three omissions besides those in the tables. The readings with strong peculiarity incline to B D₁ E₁ in Matthew, but rather to ACGH in the other Gospels, there being probably a special relationship to G.

Collated by the editor, 1890-92.

30. L, Evv., Copt., Göttingen Royal Library Oriental 125⁴ (Greg. 28), L imperfect. A.D. 1357, an. Mart. 1073, paper, foll. 197 (+3), col. 1, ll. 30, 40.4 × 27.1 cm., text 32 × 21 cm., quinions, writing of style of Δ₂Σ and M, less formal than KNO; punctuation, red ⲥ Ⲧ ⲧ; l. c. more than two lines of text, red; s. c. black reddened; ch. Copt. marked by two red lines of text, and with red uncials; ch. Gr. by part of a red line without numerals, but with Arabic titles; Am. sec. without can. in black cursives: foliated on verso in uncials, and name of Evangelist in Coptic on verso, and in Arabic on recto, fact of dedication also often repeated in upper margin: quire ending &c. have rather more interesting ejaculations than in the other MSS., also two simple ornaments on each page, with recto numbered: orn. scanty.

Beginning of Matthew restored; on pp. K^a and K^b is the frequently stated وقف بدير انبا بشاي بوادي هبيب 'dedication to the monastery of Anba Bishây in Wâdy Habîb' (valley of the desert wind), elsewhere called also وادي الاسقيط 'Wâdy al Iskîṭ' (Scete).

Mark begins under headpiece with one large ornamented letter, one tall and three shorter black archaic and two ordinary red lines of text, outer margin decorated with rather good ornament. After subscription of Mark is an Arabic note, beginning حبس هذا الانجيل المقدس على كنيسة 'this holy Gospel is dedicated to the church,' and next line begins ببرية 'in the desert of Al Shihât,' another form of the word above;

L then at the side in larger hand is a dedication to the monastery of Al Bishây بواي الاطرون 'in Wâdy al Itûn' (Nitrian valley), with threat of excommunication.

p. ٢٤^b Luke begins under triple round-arched headpiece with large ornamented capital and lines as before, except that the last two are also red, the foliage ornament in outer border ends in the head of a quadruped, usually of a bird. The last verses of Luke are lost, and the restorer ends with short Arabic subscription.

The ancient beginning of John is lost, as also the end. After the restored verses is the following Arabic statement: 'Finished and completed was the holy Gospel of John the Evangelist in peace of the Lord Amen, on the blessed second day, 10th of the month Masrî ١٠/٤٣٠¹ 1491 وذلك كان تاريخه القديم الاصيلي ستة الف ثلاثة و سبعين و للشهدا و كان المتهم بمرمة هولاي المشاير انهار ما للحياة الاب الفاضل التاجر الرابع and this (lit. that) was the date of the ancient the original (writing) year 1073 of the Martyrs (1357): and he who provided for the restoration of those Gospels, rivers of water of life, was the excellent father the successful trader the honoured Anba Athanasius, bishop of Al Manûfiyah to the north (بالوجه المبحري) of Cairo the protected, and this (lit. that) restoration was done by the hand of the miserable Ibrâhîm the copyist at Hârat ar-Rûm in Cairo.' Then 'In the name of God the merciful and clement. Glory to God in the highest. In sure and perpetual dedication to the monastery of the great saint Auba Bishây the man (of God) in the desert of Shihât in Wâdy at-Trânah, one of the four monasteries, and this (lit. that)—let it not be sold, nor exchanged, nor bartered, nor ever disposed of from this dedication by any means of causing its loss: and whoever shall transgress and dispose of it shall be under (the ban) of the glorious cross. And thanks to God for ever.'

Lacunae, Matthew 1, 1—5, 30 ... ΠΕΚΩΛΛ. Luke 24, 44 to the end of the Gospel. John 1, 1—12 ... ΕΤΑΥΡΟΠΥ, 19, 2 to the end of the Gospel.

The readings are nearly related to Σ and Θ, and contain most of the additions; beside the omissions in the tables there are twenty-one.

The MS. was collated by the editor, 1891-93.

M 31. M, Evv., Copt., Haigh near Wigan, Lindsay Library of the Earl of Crawford 13 (Greg. 15), imperfect. XIV century, paper, foll. 291, col. 1, ll. 25, 35.2 × 25.9 cm., text 24.7 × 18.5 cm., quinions, writing has some resemblance to H₁, but is larger; punctuation, red ❖ ❖; l. c. more than three lines of text, red and yellow and black with ornament attached M or opposite; s. c. black reddened; ch. marked by two red lines, and very rarely one archaic line of text with red uncials without distinguishing Coptic from Greek; Am. sec. and can. (not always put) in uncials: foliated on verso, occasionally ΚΑΤΑ on verso, and name of Evangelist on recto: quire ending &c. ΙΥ ΧΥ, ΚΕ ΘΘC, with usual ornament reminding of H₁: orn. scanty, in colour rather like Δ₁E₂, but the style of K N O.

There is a curious modern picture at the beginning, Christ seated and extending a cup, over which a dove hovers, to a head without body, and below seems to be a square altar vested with a cloth, ornamented with six circles crossed, and at the upper edge a plate containing an Eucharistic cake. Below are eight or nine persons, two holding books, and one with outstretched hand.

p. ΠΕ is modern, and on p. ΠΕ^a is ϢΥΠΘΕΩ ΔΠΕΡΖΗΤC
ΘΕΠΤΧΟΩ ΠΤΕΦΤ ΠΕΠΠΕΘΠΑΠΕΥ ΠΤΕΠΕΥΕΠ-ΔΟΛΗ ΔΠCΘΕ ΞΠΠΕΥΑΥΤΕΛΙΟΠ ΠΤΕΠΙΑΥΙΟC ΞΑΡ-
ΚΟC 'With God. We begin in the power of God and the excellence of his commandment to write the Gospel of Saint Mark.' The beginning of Luke is also restored.

After subscription of Luke comes, in thin writing, ΔΡΙΠΑΞΞΕΥΙ
ΕΘΒΕΦΤ ΔΠΟΚ ΠΙΕΛΑΧΙCΤΟC CΙΞΩΠ ΠΙΡΕΞΤΑΞ-
ΠΕΤ ΠΙΑΤΞΠΥΑ ΞΞΞΟΥΤ ΕΡΟΥ ΧΕΔΙΑΚΟ ΚΕ
ΚΑΛΙΟΥΤΡΑΦΟC 'Remember me for the sake of God—me the least (of men), Simon the native of Tampeti, unworthy to be called deacon and copyist.'

Then an Arabic statement: 'Glory to God in the highest. Salvation belongs to the Lord, O God the Saviour. This holy book of the four Gospels, rivers of life, was dedicated surely and perpetually by the blessed son of the orthodox religion, the honoured deacon, the prosperous Shaikh Ibrâhîm al Bushîrâwy (may God cause him to be blessed!), to the monastery of the great saint Anba Bishây, known as the White monastery in Wady al Itrûn. Let the monks read in it and from it (ويذكره), but none of the monks or learned men have power from the Lord (adoration to him!) to dispose of it from the monastery aforesaid by any means of causing its loss; as long as (the monastery) prospers with monks in the service (عمرة) of God mindful of him continually; and may he cause abundance and wealth in what befits monks and priests and ministers, and may the peace of the Lord descend on our fathers hearkening and obeying and devout Amen. And thanks to God for ever and ever. The date, the month of Tûbah the blessed, year ΔCλ 1230 of the Martyrs, A.D. 1514.

M Written by the miserable John, minister of the church of God of the rank of Saint Mark (Patriarch John XIII), who thanks God for his favour.'

At the end of John, restored, is another statement: 'Finished was this volume on blessed sabbath, 5th of the month Barmûdah of the yearly months, year 1540 Coptic, of the pure Martyrs (1824). And remember with spiritual love the misery and nonentity of the miserable monk Girgis, whose many sins upon his head are like the number of the sand upon the shore of the sea. And I ask the fathers who study in this volume to pray for him forgiveness of his sins and crimes, for him and his parents. In sure and perpetual dedication to the monastery of the great saint Anba Bishây, the perfect man of God in the mountain of Shîhât in Wady Habîb ميزان القلوب. And every one who should transgress (تدأ) and cause it to go forth from the gate of the monastery, his lot shall be with Simon the sorcerer and Diocletian (دقلا) the unbeliever and Judas the traitor; and whoever blots this or cuts the leaf or sticks anything on it, may God blot his name out of the book of life; and whoever defends it and guards it for the monastery, may God defend him from all transgressions. Reward, O Lord, him who toiled, in the heavenly realms in the bosoms of our holy fathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the land of life and in the paradise of rest, the copyist and his parents, the reader and the hearer Amen.'

At the beginning is the name of Tattam with the number 400.

Lacunae, Matthew 1, 1—18, 20 ... ΕΤΕΟΥΟΝ. Mark 1, 1—10 ... ΦΡΗ†. Luke 1, 1—10. John 1, 1—14 ... ΟΥΟΖ ΔΝ, 17, 7 ΖΑΠΕΒΟΛ to the end of the Gospel.

There are thirty-two omissions besides those in the tables. The readings in Matthew are peculiar, but usually inclining to B D₁ E₁; in Mark they are very close to Γ, and these two in Mark are nearest B; in Luke Γ M are near G and K, and again are nearest B in John. Thus the relation to B is maintained throughout, and constitutes a point of great interest.

The MS. was collated by the editor in 1892 and 1893.

N 32. N, Evv., Copt., Oxford Bodleian Library, Urii Copt. 8, Huntingdon 20 (Greg. 2), perfect. XIV century, paper, foll. 327 (+6), col. 1, ll. 24, 33.7 × 25.2 cm., text 24.2 × 17.3 cm., quinions, writing like O₁ and of same type as K; punctuation, red ✕ ✕ ·; l. c. sometimes measure five lines of text slightly ornamented, and often only coloured yellow, others black, red and yellow, birds occasionally; s. c. measuring two lines, black reddened; ch. Copt. Gr. both usually marked by two red lines of text, and numbered with red uncials; Am. sec. black, can. red uncials: foliated on verso with black uncials, beginning again at Luke, Evangelist's name also on verso: quire ending &c. IT XT, KE OΘC, with s. c. o.; orn. scanty, but remains of N good cross at beginning, and elaborate frontispieces to each Evangelist, rough geometrical ornament with Δ ω IC XC after Matthew and Mark.

At p. 6 is a fragment of ancient Arabic: الانجيل الاربعة البشائر | حبساً مخلداً : ملك الكنائس المذكورة بالقدس على كنيسة اليعاقب | وليس لاحد سلطان من قبل | على المكان المذكور الرب يغفر الشريف | كل من فعل ذلك يكون نصيبه مع يهود | خطاياهم امين وهذا ما افقه | the upright lines mark where it is cut, 'The Gospel of the four Evangelists, dedicated perpetually to the church of the Jacobites . . . and no one has power from . . . possession of the churches aforesaid in noble Al Kuds (Jerusalem) . . . whoever does that, his portion shall be with Judas . . . (cause it to remain) at the aforesaid place, may the Lord pardon his sins Amen. And this is that which was dedicated by |.' An Arabic prayer of no importance on the same page as the cross. Matthew frontispiece has an upper and outer border of ornament, one line of tall gilt letters, two short, one black archaic, three gilt archaic, two black archaic. Mark headpiece double, cusped, pointed-arched, and Θενφραν &c. In the name &c. one line tall gilt, one tall black, two archaic black reddened, two ordinary red. Luke headpiece triple, cusped, round-arched, and Θενφραν &c. one tall gilt, three black archaic, four ordinary black, and two ordinary red lines. John headpiece triple, round-arched with CTHΘEW Θενφραν &c. one tall gilt, one tall black, two black archaic, and two ordinary red lines.

Wilkins mentions this MS. amongst the five in the Bodleian.

There are twenty-eight omissions besides those in the tables.

The text, which has relation to B, and is found occasionally alone with A, contains many of the additions, but omits most of the important ones.

It was collated by the editor, 1890-95.

p. 257^b large cross with IC XC TC ΘC.

p. 256^a the beginning of Matthew has upper border with CTΠΘEW, and ornament on outer and lower margin, two tall lines of gilt letters, two of tall black reddened, one of tall red, two black as before, one shorter, black, gilt, red, and blue floret stops continue to the end of the genealogy.
 Mark has triple, cusped, round-arched headpiece, and ornament on outer margin; under the arches are small discs containing crosses and $\overline{\text{IT}} \overline{\text{XT}} \overline{\text{TC}} \overline{\text{ΘC}}$, below is ΘENΦPAH...ETHYAB black, and inscription as for Matthew with $\overline{\text{A}}$ red, nearly the same arrangement of lines as in Matthew. Luke has quadruple, cusped, round-arched headpiece with CTΠΘEW red, and under arches ΘENΦPAH...ΠOTWT black, below again $\text{ETHY. KAT. ΛOTKAN KEΛ}$ $\overline{\text{A}}$ red, one line tall gilt, one tall black, one tall red, one tall black, ornament round outer and lower margin, floret stops for three pages. Subscription in small writing. John has quadruple, horseshoe-arched headpiece containing circles as for Mark, also CTΠΘEW gilt, and OIKTIPΛOIC KE CTΠΠAΘIC black, and below ΘENΦPAH...ΠOTWT black, ETHY. K. IΩANNHN †APX red, two lines tall gilt, one black reddened, one red, one black reddened, two ordinary red, ornament lower and outer margin, floret stops

 Mark, and below in thinner hand $\text{ΕΛΑΧ ΑΒΡΑΑΗ ΠΙΣΙΔΚΩΠ}$ ΩΛΗΛ ΕΧΟΙ 'Least of men, Abraam the deacon, pray for me.' Probably the writer. Then comes the same dedication with slight variation, المعروفة بالعلقة 'known as Al Mu'allakah; 'may the peace of the Lord and his grace descend upon the humble.'

Dr. Marshall says in his transcript, 'Codex iste meus collatus est cum Cod. Copt.-Arabice Rob^{ti} Huntingtoni et cum ejusdem codice Arab. inter-lineato (Hunt 118?) quorum illum designat C hunc autem A. Post hæc nactus sum Codicem vetustissimum Evangeliorum Copticum ab Hieroso- O₁ lymis. Hujus lit. H. Denique alium Cod. Copt. Evangeliorum comparavi ex Ægypto vetustum quem indigitavi Æ₂ cum cod. iste meus sit Æ₁.'

Here Dr. Marshall's two MSS. and Huntingdon 17 appear to be mentioned.
Wilkins mentions this MS. as 'tertium,' and fifth of Marshall's MSS.

In the first seventeen chapters of Matthew O₁ agrees closely with H₁, although containing several additions. In ch. 18 it begins to join Δ₁, and continues nearly related to this MS., but again having many additions.

The MS. was collated by the editor in 1890-95.

34. O₂ the transcript of O₁, made by M. Th. Peträus at Leyden in O₂ 1662. Peträus copied Matthew, except the liturgical lections, in one volume, which Schwartz numbers P. I; Mark is in another volume, Schwartz's P. III; Luke, except liturgical lections, in a third, Schw.
P. IV; all the liturgical lections from the Gospels in a fourth, Schw.
P. II; then a fifth volume contains, with thirteen Psalms, the first chapter of Luke, Schw. P. V. Peträus mentions two MSS., one which he calls
'vetustissimo' from which he copied, and another with which he collated his transcript. In the second part of vol. iv at p. 21 is ϥⲛⲑⲉⲱ ⲟⲓⲕⲧⲓⲣⲁⲟⲓⲥ ⲕⲉⲥⲧⲁⲡⲁⲑⲓⲥ ⲉⲡⲉⲫⲣⲁⲛ ⲙⲫⲓⲱⲧ ⲡⲉⲙⲡⲱⲛⲣⲓⲡⲉⲙⲡⲓⲡⲁ ⲉⲑⲟⲩⲁⲃ ⲉⲟⲩⲛⲟⲩⲧⲛⲟⲩⲱⲧ ⲛ.

ⲉⲩⲁⲩⲩⲉⲗⲓⲟⲛ ⲕⲁⲧⲁ ⲓⲱⲁⲡⲓⲕⲓⲛⲛ († ⲭⲣ), the underlined is underlined with red; then follows the lection for 'die 3 Nativ. Christi
S. festo S. Johannis' John I, 1. This title is the same as in O₁ for John.
Peträus gives the subscription of Matthew and Mark the same as in O₁.
His copy of Luke ends in middle of verse 50 of ch. 24, and therefore there is no subscription, and it will be noticed that O₁ has subscription of Luke in a different hand. The inscription of Matthew is nearly the same as in
P. I; P. III has an arched headpiece and one circle (cf. O₁) with ⲓⲣ ⲭⲣ ⲧⲥ ⲑⲥ. P. IV has the headpiece and inscription of Luke of O₁ exactly.
Peträus also gives the Arabic dedication of O₁, noting 'Summa h(ujus)
MS. Copt. Legat(us) in Eccles. usum, et S. Matth. Evang. p̄fix. (præfixa)
h(is) v̄b (verbis) Arab. ȝf (confer) et sub fm (finem) S. Johann. ead(em)
v̄b (verba) Ar(ab).' He also notes (fol. 7) 'Mstum a blattis et tineis lucifugis corrosum, et in quo plurimæ literæ caduæ vel fugientes occurrunt.'
O₁ has been much repaired, nearly every leaf required some mending.
These points are sufficient to identify the exemplar of Peträus with O₁;
and further many mistakes of O₁, e.g. ⲙⲙⲧⲟⲥ for ⲙⲙⲛⲩ (multitude), Matthew 7, 28, have been faithfully transcribed. Though Schw. cites P. II. V and II. III as separate authorities, they have the same small mistakes of O₂ spelling, e.g. $\epsilon\pi\alpha\varsigma\theta\theta\omicron\varsigma$ for $\epsilon\pi\alpha\varsigma\pi\alpha\varsigma\theta\theta\omicron\varsigma$, Luke 1, 41, agreeing with O₁. Peträus gives no note of the result of collation with the other MS., which the title (Pref. p. ix) declares to have been made: 'Liber quatuor Evangeliorum . . . e vetustissimo Codice Msto descriptus et cum alio fideliter collatus.' All the citations of P₁ &c. by Schw. have been verified in O₁, and Matthew collated by the editor, 1890-95.

P 35. P, Ev. John, Copt., Paris Nat. Copte 62 (Greg. 25), perfect. XIV? century, paper, foll. 66 (+2), col. 1, ll. (i) 21, 3, (ii) 21, (i) 28 × 19.5 cm., text 22.3 × 14, (ii) 28 × 20 cm., text 19.9 × 14 cm., larger writing, might be of the same hand as the larger Psalter at Berlin; smaller writing varies much, sometimes very neat and upright; punctuation after p. 35^b, red $\S \cdot \S \cdot \sim$; scarcely any difference for larger or smaller capitals, some red; ch. Copt. regular to 12 just before smaller hand begins, and occasionally two lines of red letters; Am. sec. and can. none; a later hand, like the rough writing of the Psalter, has put cursive foliation on verso, 9^b, 20^b, 21^a are marked with cursive 1, 2, 3, but no other signature of quires occurs; a few liturgical directions; no ornament. The first forty-five folios are translated verbatim into Arabic (cf. the Psalter). interline; and there are a few grammatical notes in red.

At the beginning are unimportant Arabic notes; on p. 1^b has been written 'Paraphe au desir de ? ancy 15 Juillet 1763 Mesnil.' At the end are also some Arabic notes, but no date is given.

There are fourteen omissions besides the tables.

Lacunae large writing, 1, 1-6, 35 . . . $\pi\omega\eta\theta$, 18, 1 to the end of the Gospel.

The text does not seem of much interest, although with many of the omissions.

The MS. was collated by the editor, 1893.

Q 36. Q, Ev. John, Copt., Oxford Bodleian Library, Maresc. 99 (Greg. 5), perfect. XVI? century, paper, foll. 187 (+5), col. 1, ll. 12-14, 15.5 × 9.9 cm., text 11.3 × 7 cm., quinions, writing irregular; punctuation, red spot, and reddened // at breaks; one large letter (the first capital) black reddened, and with ornament attached; s. c. less than two lines of text black reddened; ch. Copt. marked first with words and then numbered in cursives up to 33; twice the larger chapters are also marked: quires are marked by the word كراس (set) with name of number except the last two; Am. sec. without can. marked regularly to 55, then very rarely: orn. plain gilt headpiece for first line of text with slight ornament, on third ancient folio from end is a rough figure of John holding wallet and staff, with the first verses of the Gospel in Arabic down to 'John.'

Wilkins mentions the book as 'admodum recens, forte centum Q annorum.'

There are thirty-one omissions besides the tables.

The text is purer than P, nearest to B, with relation also to LN.

It was collated by the editor, 1893.

37. R, Lectionary, Copt., Old Cairo Church of Al Mu'allakah, imperfect. R XII? century, paper, col. 1, ll. 12, 22.5 × 16.2 cm., text 16.8 × 9 cm., writing of the archaic style; no punctuation, but spaces left and occasional hyphens and :— . The first folio begins twenty-third quire, 'The 28th of Athôr, the day of our father Abba Sarapamôn, the bishop of the city Pshati and the martyr.' The fragment ends on p. 648, which is not numbered. The following lections were collated by the editor in 1893, Matthew 9, 14-17. 10, 34-42. 11, 25-30. 12, 9-15. 13, 1-5. 6-8. 28, 1-5. 5-9. 9-20. Mark 4, 1-9. 10-20. 30-34. 6, 30-44. 7, 24-30. 16, 2-8. Luke 5, 12-16. 6, 17-23. 8, 4-15. 12, 24-31. 14, 25-35. 24, 1-12. John 16, 20-33. No ornament appears in the fragment; nor is there any peculiarity about the text, which perhaps inclines to A in important points. The age of the fragment is by no means certain, and the writing should be compared with the smallest Psalter at Berlin.

38. S, Evv., Copt.-Arab., London Brit. Mus. 1317 (Greg. 13), perfect. S A.D. 1812, an. Mart. 1528, paper, foll. 410 (+7), coll. 2, ll. 25, 19.8 × 11.2 cm., text 13.2 × 7.2 cm., quinions; punctuation, small red point and large circular gilt points, perhaps marking the small sections of the exemplar: l. c. are small and red for the modern verses; ch. modern, marked by one blue (Luke red and yellow) and two red lines of text and with red uncials; ch. Copt. by two (Luke one red and yellow) red lines and red uncial; Am. sec. and can. usually marked by half red line of text and black uncial: foliated with black uncials on verso, and name of Evangelist sometimes on recto in red: quire ending &c. ⲓⲛⲥ ⲡⲭⲥ ⲙⲥ ⲛⲥ, with s. c. o., and recto also numbered: orn. of pleasing colour, and the gilt border and division of every page gives a brilliant appearance, but when pictures of the Evangelists and a few scenes are attempted the drawing is very bad.

At the end of Mark is ⲡⲟⲥ ⲁⲣⲓⲟⲩⲛⲁⲓ ⲡⲉⲙⲡⲓⲉⲃⲓⲛⲛ ⲉⲧⲁⲥⲥⲁⲓ ⲓⲱⲁ ⲡⲣⲉⲥⲃⲏⲧⲉⲣⲟⲥ ⲫⲣⲁⲛ ⲙⲡⲉⲣⲃⲱⲃ ⲁⲙⲛⲛ ✠ ✠ ⲁⲫⲕⲛ 'Lord have pity on the needy one who wrote, John, priest, the name not the deed Amen, time of the Martyrs 1528 (1812).' At the end is an Arabic note of dedication attested by ⲡⲓⲃⲏⲕⲓ ⲡⲉⲧⲣⲟⲥ ⲡⲉ ⲟⲩⲁⲣⲭⲏⲣⲉⲧⲥ 'the poor Peter 109 high priest (Patriarch),' and is dated 1532 (1816). There are prologues to each Evangelist, and the letter

S of Eusebius with the canons nearly the same as E_{1,2}J₁. Cross at beginning with & IHC ΠΧC TC ΘC ΠΙΣΤΙC ΠΙΡΕΨΘΡΟ Ω. Before Matthew, CΥΠΘΕΩ ΙCΧΥΡΟC ΘΕΝΦΡΑΝ &c. In headpiece to Matthew is برسم المعلم جرجس ابو اعوض 'the mark of the master, Girgis Abu 'Awad.' Mark has flowery frontispiece with & IHC ΠΧC TC ΘC Ω, below headpiece CΥΠΘΕΩ ΠΑΤΗΡ ΚΕ ΙΟC ΚΕ ΤΩ ΠΝΔ ΔΥΙΟC: Luke geometric frontispiece & &c., then CΥΠΘΕΩ, and under single round-arched headpiece ΘΕΝ ΦΡΑΝ &c.: for John no frontispieces, but CΥΠΘΕΩ ΘΕΝ. &c. under cusped headpiece: at the end of John is Arabic date of Tât ΔΦΛΔ 1534. Last comes the dedication.

In Matthew the text is very close to E₂, in the other Gospels it keeps with Δ₁E and O, having many of the additions in Luke and John, and its purest text in Mark.

This small MS., bound in sumptuous native fashion, was bought of Sir Charles Murray in 1875, and collated by the editor, 1891-96.

T 39. T, Ev. John, Copt.-Arab., London Brit. Mus. Or. 426 (Greg. 7), imperfect. XIV? century, paper, foll. 147 (+2), coll. 2, ll. 20, 24.3 × 16.5 cm., text 19 × 11.7 cm., quinions, writing regular; punctuation, no points, but spaces; l. c. measure three lines of text, red; ch. The first two lines of text have been restored.

At the end of the book are eight foll. containing the order for repetition (تکریر) of baptism when it has been annulled (انحلت).

The book was bought at Dean Tattam's sale, June 1868.

Ласуна, I, i—23 . . . ПOC.

There are ten omissions besides the tables.

The text resembles P, but is rather purer.

The MS. was collated twice by the editor, 1890-95.

 'Remember, O Lord, thy servant the sinner Yūsuf, and forgive him all his sins Amen' (thrice), and date ⲁⲬⲗⲃ̄ 1232 (1516).

There are eight omissions besides the tables. The text has a peculiar version of 8, 1—11, but omits the other important words, and though inclining to ΓK is of decidedly special character.

It was collated by the editor in 1893.

41. X, Ev. Luke, Copt.-Arab., Oxford Bodleian Library d. 9, perfect. X
 A.D. 1842—3, an. Mart. 1559, paper, foll. 172 (+4), coll. 2, ll. 20, 28.5 × 20.5 cm., text 22.3 × 13.5 cm.; ch. Copt. marked by two red lines of text and red uncials up to 21; Am. sec. and can. none: orn. scanty.

The MS. was written by a monk of the monastery of the great saint Anba Makâr in the desert of Shihât, who gives his name Joseph al Fishâwy in a long colophon. It was bought of the Rev. G. J. Chester in 1891.

The text contains the additions in 1, 28. 9, 54—56. 22, 43. 44, though not in 24, 42.

Chapter 24 was collated by the editor in 1896, and nothing of interest found.

42. Par. 61, Ev. John, Copt., Paris Nat. Copte 61, imperfect. XVI? Par. 61 century, foll. 146 (+4), col. 1, ll. 15, text 15.8 × 10.5 cm., punctuation, red ˘ and ˘; l. c. red or black, s. c. black reddened; ch. Copt.;
 Am. sec. and can. in uncials: foliated on verso with uncials, signed also with name of Evangelist: orn. rough and a few liturgical directions.

The text has 8, 1—11, and may have relation to J_{1,3}, but does not seem to be of any special interest.

Chapter 8 was collated by the editor in 1893.

43. β^j, Ev. John, Copt.-Arab., Berlin Royal Library 191, imperfect. β^j Recent, paper, foll. 86, coll. 2, ll. 30, 11.3 × 7.5 cm., text 9.4 × 6.3 cm.;
 ch. Copt.; Am. sec. without canons. It has 'who is in heaven,' 3, 13;
 omits 'God,' 5, 44.

β^j The text of chapter 8 has no peculiar interest (omits 8, 1—11), and was collated by the editor in 1893.

β 44. β , Ev. Luke, Copt.-Arab., Berlin Royal Library 396, perfect. A.D. 1811, an. Mart. 1527, paper, foll. 187, coll. 2, ll. 19, 21.4×14.4 cm., text 15.1×9.3 cm., quinions; Am. sec. and can. marked by red capital: ornamented.

Athanasius, bishop of Abu Tij, provided for the book, which was dedicated to the monastery of Saint Anthony in the desert of Al 'Arabah to the east of Itfih.

The text is modern, having the additions; chapter 24 was collated by the editor in 1893.

Hunt 18 45. Hunt 18, Lectionary, Copt., Oxford Bodleian Library, for the six first months of the year, perfect. A.D. 1298, an. IT XIT , with s. c. o.: orn. scanty, but bold and well drawn except the bird capitals, and reminding of Δ_1 , but of brighter colour. Large cross at beginning with $\overline{\text{INC}}$ $\overline{\text{PXCS}}$ $\overline{\text{PIKA}}$ $\overline{\text{AQCP}}$. The months have graceful headpieces.

At the end is $\text{✠ } \text{✠ } \overline{\text{AIA}} \overline{\text{PCOT}} \overline{\text{EPIABOT}} \overline{\text{PAKOT}}$ $\overline{\text{MENWN}} \overline{\text{ETENIKOTXI}} \overline{\text{PAABOT}} \overline{\text{PE}}$ 'In the time of the Martyrs 1011, on day six of the month Pakûmenôn ($\epsilon\pi\acute{\alpha}\chi\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu\omega\nu$), which is the small month.'

Hunt 26 46. Hunt 26, Lectionary, Copt., Oxford Bodleian Library, for Lent and Palm Sunday, imperfect. A.D. 1265, an. Mart. 663, paper, foll. 221, col. 1, ll. 22, 23, 31×24 cm., text 24.5×17 cm., quaternions, writing rather irregular, upright, larger than H_1 , more like C ; l. c. about three lines of text, black reddened; s. c. black reddened, headings of Gospel &c. and directions for the days (translated into Arabic) in red, first and last words of lections in Arabic with Am. sec. cursive: no foliation &c. visible: quire ending &c. IT XIT , with s. c. o.: scarcely any other ancient ornament survives: Sundays begin with line of tall letters, and the first Gospel with archaic. At beginning and end are two earlier folios (Copt.-Arab.) of liturgical contents. The three first folios of the Lectionary have been restored.

p. 53^a is an Arabic note referring to a purchase and eventual dedication to a monastery of Saint George by a person called the disciple (التلميذ) Marcus.

p. 75^a is another Arabic note referring to the book as having become the property of Marcus, and as being bequeathed to certain persons. Hunt 26

p. 168^a is a dedication of the book to the church of the mighty angel Gabriel, with date 1015 of the Martyrs.

p. 202^a is a red original Coptic prayer: εϑβεροϥ ἀριφανεῖ

Fr. shewing probably that Matthew did not come first in the book: orn. none; later liturgical directions.

The text, Matthew 5, 36 $\overline{\alpha\alpha\alpha\alpha\alpha}$ —6, 14; John 9, 16 $\overline{\sigma\tau\rho\omega\alpha\alpha\alpha}$ —11, 50 . . . $\overline{\sigma\tau\rho\omega}$, 12, 20 $\overline{\delta\epsilon\pi\eta\eta}$ —15, 14 . . . $\overline{\psi\phi\epsilon\rho\epsilon}$, 18, 31 $\overline{\tau\epsilon\pi\overline{\sigma\tau\omicron\sigma\zeta}}$ —19, 2 . . . $\overline{\sigma\tau\omicron\sigma\zeta}$ 1°. The following variants in Matthew are not quoted in the apparatus: (37) $\overline{\eta\epsilon}$ the probable original reading, (41) $\overline{\mu\epsilon\lambda\iota\omicron\nu}$, (43) $\overline{\chi\omicron\varsigma}$] om. $\overline{\chi\epsilon}$, (44) $\overline{\Delta\pi\omicron\kappa}$] om. $\overline{\Delta\epsilon}$, agreeing with A alone, $\overline{\epsilon\tau\chi\eta\kappa}$] om. $\overline{\epsilon\tau}$, (6, 1) $\overline{\alpha\alpha\alpha\alpha\alpha}$ $\overline{\alpha\alpha\alpha\alpha\alpha\tau\epsilon\eta}$, (5) om. $\overline{\epsilon\delta\omicron\lambda}$, (6) $\overline{\chi\eta\alpha}$ with Γ , (7) $\overline{\delta\epsilon\pi\omicron\tau}$ with BG, (8) $\overline{\eta\eta\eta\epsilon\tau\epsilon\tau\epsilon\eta\eta\alpha\tau\omicron\beta\zeta\varsigma}$, (12) $\overline{\zeta\omega\eta\epsilon\tau\epsilon\eta\chi\omega}$, $\overline{\omicron\tau\omicron\eta\tau\alpha\eta}$. The text in John has nothing important, and inclines perhaps to A.

Fr., Copt., London Brit. Mus. Or. 1241 (box), much injured. XIII century, paper, fol. 1, col. 1, ll. 27, 32 × 25.3 cm., text 26.5 × 19 cm., writing fairly regular; punctuation, red, discoloured, and shiny \div \div —; l. c. measure three lines of text, red, yellow, and black orn.; s. c. blk. redd.; ch. Copt. marked with red uncials and orn.; Am. sec. without can.: foliated? on verso in red $\overline{\rho\pi}$, remains of s. c. o.: orn. rather like K.

The text, Mark 7, 36 $\overline{\tau\zeta\eta\eta\alpha\eta\tau\omicron\tau\omega\psi\tau\epsilon\eta}$ —8, 17 $\overline{\Delta\delta\omega\tau\epsilon\eta}$, agrees with M except in two cases.

Fr., Copt., London Brit. Mus. Or. 1241 (box). XIII? century, paper, fol. 1, col. 1, ll. 26, 34.8 × 24 cm., text 25.5 × 18 cm., good writing, like J₁; punctuation, red \div \div ; l. c. bird with attached ornament, yellow, red, and black; s. c. blk. redd.; ch. Copt. marked by two red lines of text and with red uncials; Am. sec. and can. blk. uncials: quire ending signed $\overline{\varsigma\varsigma}$ 1 τ , s. c. o., $\overline{\chi\tau}$ K θ , and $\overline{\iota\omega\alpha}$ red on recto.

The text, John 19, 11 $\overline{\rho\omicron\iota}$ —23 . . . $\overline{\Delta\tau\omicron\iota\eta}$, has nothing important.

Fr., Copt., London Brit. Mus. Or. 3367 (box). Before IX? century, vellum, foll. 11 (3 single foll., 1 set of 8 foll.), col. 1, (i) ll. 14, 13.2 × 10.5 cm., text 7.5 × 8.5 cm., (ii) ll. 13, 14, 10.7 × 13.3 cm., text 8 × 8.2 cm., (iii) ll. 14, 10.3 × 13.5 cm., text 7.5 × 8 cm., (iv) only nine lines preserved; writing regular and thin, leaning very slightly to the left, lines close, points above letters, usually a small curved line (above $\overline{\iota}$ [sometimes two], $\overline{\omega}$ as well as $\overline{\epsilon}$, $\overline{\eta}$), sometimes a mere point; punctuation, a small black (red after red text) colon placed rather high, rarely followed by a short sinuous line, once also with a line between the two points, also with a second point or hyphens after the colon, quotations pointed with red \div , $\overline{\Delta}$, $\overline{\Delta}$, $\overline{\tau}$, $\overline{\varsigma}$, $\overline{\omega}$, after capitals $\overline{\eta}$, $\overline{\kappa}$, $\overline{\zeta}$, $\overline{\tau}$, $\overline{\Delta}$, partly in the margin; twelve pages have been re-inked without much damage to the text; l. c. measure more than two or three lines of the text, red with very slight enrichment; s. c. not much smaller, blk.; ch. Copt. marked by three red lines if space enough Fr. in the page, with red uncials sometimes repeated, a red line of text also occurs at 17, 4 without apparent reason; Am. sec. not marked: paginated on verso with red uncials for every second page, both forms for 200 occur, and there is also a central flourish on some upper margins of verso, the first verso of (ii) is signed in red ϣϣ πικελδβ̄ε̄παδ-ρακλ̄ητο · κεφαλο λη; (iii) has a quire beginning signed in red ι πᾱῑε̄πῑε̄λαχ s. c. o. μακαρῑᾱδακο̄ ciγ with flourishes 'pity the least s. c. o. Makari deacon:' orn. 17, 1^a rather graceful figure in margin, Christ with nimbus, head upturned and hands uplifted with another nimbus above, evidently representing the Father; 18, 11 two figures, one sitting with hand in act of command, Christ and Peter?; 20, 26 one figure, evidently Christ addressing Thomas.

The text, (i) John 12, 34 $\overline{\text{β}}\overline{\text{ε}}\overline{\text{ς}}\text{—}40 \dots \text{ο} \overline{\text{τ}} \text{ο} \overline{\text{ζ}}$ 1°, (ii) 16, 6—17, 24 $\dots \text{π} \overline{\alpha} \overline{\text{τ}} \overline{\text{ε}}$, (iii) 18, 11 $\overline{\text{†}} \text{σ} \overline{\text{η}} \overline{\text{ψ}}\text{—}17 \overline{\text{π}} \overline{\text{θ}} \overline{\text{ο}} \overline{\text{υ}}$ 2°, (iv) 20, 25 $\overline{\text{π}} \overline{\text{ο}} \overline{\text{ς}}$ 2°—31 $\dots \overline{\text{φ}} \overline{\text{†}}$, the last lines imperfect.—Orthography, $\overline{\alpha} \overline{\text{ρ}} \overline{\chi}$ 1. as well as $\overline{\alpha} \overline{\text{ρ}} \overline{\chi}$ $\overline{\eta} \overline{\epsilon} \overline{\text{ρ}} \overline{\text{ε}} \overline{\text{ς}}$, $\overline{\omega} \overline{\alpha} \overline{\text{θ}} \overline{\text{η}} \overline{\text{τ}} \overline{\text{η}} \overline{\text{ς}}$.

Fr., Copt., London Brit. Mus. 14740, fifth fragment in the volume. XII century or earlier, vellum, four fragments of one fol., writing archaic; faint red punctuation occasionally visible; l.c., s.c. blk. with slight red orn.

The text, Luke 8, 3—18.

Fr., Copt., London Brit. Mus. 14740, foll. 31-35 of the volume. XII? century, paper, foll. 5 very imperfect, col. 1, ll. 21, text 24×17 cm., writing good upright, perhaps before 1200; punctuation, various, black and red, separate and also over one another; quotations in red letters; l. c. two of the largest ornamented, one red; s. c. blk. redd.; ch. Copt. marked by one red line, numerals not preserved; Am. sec. red uncials, and can. red cursives: paginated for every second page on verso, where also is ⲙⲁⲧⲧⲟⲩ; one quire ending is signed ⲓⲛ ⲉⲧⲁⲣⲧⲉⲗ s. c. o. (large) ⲭⲣ ⲕⲁⲧⲁ ⲁ.

The text, Matthew 2, 8—4, 20; has twelve important variants, agreeing chiefly with BDEK.

Fr., Copt., Oxford Bodleian Library (Hunt 278 at the beginning), very imperfect. XII? century, vellum, foll. 2, col. i, ll. 25 preserved, text 20.7 x 10.5 cm., edges injured, upper and lower lines cut, writing irregular, not archaic; punctuation, red ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖; l. c. none preserved, s. c. blk. redd.; chh. uncertain, three marked, one Copt. red line of text and part of another, two Gr.?, two red lines of text; Am. sec. and can. not preserved.

The text, Luke 13, 12—34, nothing remarkable, rather inclining to A,

Fr. though probably reading $\overline{\Pi\Theta\zeta}$ for $\overline{\Pi\Theta\varsigma}$ ver. 15, and $\overline{\Pi\Theta\zeta} \overline{\Pi\Theta\zeta}$ ver. 25 with D₁.

Fr., Copt. Eth. Syr. Arm., Oxford Bodleian Library c. 2, imperfect. XIV? century, paper, fol. 1, coll. 5, (a) Eth. Syr. Copt. Syr. Arm., (b) Arm. Syr. Copt. Syr. Eth. (the Syriac reading across the Coptic), ll. 23 preserved, text 15.4 × 21.5 cm., lower edge cut, writing rather resembling J₂, but neater; punctuation, red ϣ ϣ with black spot; l.c. none preserved, s. c. blk. redd.; no ch. marked, the passage would not contain mark of Gr. ch.; Am. sec. and can. not marked: foliation not visible.

The text, Luke 7, 37 $\epsilon\overline{\Pi\Delta\varsigma\text{COI}}$ —39 ... $\phi\Delta\rho\text{ICE}$ and 42 $\overline{\Xi\Xi\Xi\text{ON}}$ —44 $\Delta\zeta\omega\rho\overline{\Pi}$, has no important variant, and perhaps agrees with Γ.

Fr., Lectionary?, Copt. Gr. Arab., Oxford Bodleian Library c. 3, imperfect. XIII? century, paper, fol. 1, coll. 3, Copt. Gr. Ar., ll. 25, text 24.2 × 17.8 cm., compact writing in short lines leaning to the left, with ϣ of peculiar form; no punctuation; one l. c. (for ch. 15) red, black, yellow, of simple style, and three red lines of text.

The text, John 14, 26—15, 2 ... $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\overline{\Pi}$, seems to be the beginning of a lection, the Gr. being headed $\epsilon\upsilon \epsilon\kappa \kappa\alpha\tau \iota\omega\alpha$, and the two first lines (imperfect) of the Coptic are archaic with red $\overline{\lambda\text{ION}}$ corresponding to the Gr. heading; 14, 29 reads 'that I am he' with E₁^c.2 JS, but there is scarcely any other variant.

Obs.—The Bodleian fragments are sometimes cited as Fr. i, ii, iii, and the Brit. Mus. fragments of 14740 continued this series as Fr. iv, v, but elsewhere the fragments are cited without a number, if only one contains the passage. If two or more fragments contain the passage, or part of the same passage, special numbers are used to denote each fragment in that passage.

TABLES OF OMISSIONS.

The following tables give (1) the verses omitted or those in which occur the important additions in the Gospels, and (2) the MSS. which omit them. When a MS. letter is enclosed by brackets the evidence is doubtful; when absent (and without < = absent) the MS. has the addition. The Catena and Lectionaries are not included.

REGISTER AND ADDITIONAL READINGS OF THE CURZON CATENA.

THE method of the Catena \aleph seems to require that there should be a short section of the text of the Gospels, with a title referring to the contents and a heading $\epsilon\gamma\lambda\upsilon\gamma\epsilon\lambda\iota\omicron\pi$, followed by the commentary with heading $\epsilon\rho\omega\eta\eta\iota\alpha$. But this rule is not strictly kept: for (1) sections are found without heading; (2) in ten cases $\epsilon\gamma\lambda\upsilon\gamma$ belongs to a commentary; (3 a) nine sections with this heading are summaries of text; (3 b) six give a text preceded by a short summary; (4) four times ⲉⲩⲁⲩⲩ. comes before the title, and no text of the Gospels follows, but only a general commentary; (5) there are commentaries with title, but without heading or text.

The edition by Lagarde omits the headings; but ⲉⲩⲁⲩⲩ. has been collected from the MS., and appears in the register below as Ev. In this register will be found all the sections which may be considered real text and not commentary: this text, having Coptic peculiarities, and bearing the Coptic numeration of chapters, may be a Coptic text and not a translation of the text of the Greek or Syrian commentator; yet since this is not certain, all the sections are accompanied by the name of the commentator to whose text they might possibly belong. Observe that the same commentator continues until the next name occurs, and that passages marked Cyr without Ev must be considered doubtful Coptic text, and probably belonging to the commentary. The readings quoted in the apparatus are marked N; when N^{com} is seen, the reading occurs in a commentary and not in a section of real text.

The sections are sometimes introduced with 'then again said the Evangelist,' or a like remark, and very often with 'he said': these words were not noticed in the collation, because not affecting the reading; but where an asterisk is put in the register, it means that a conjunction or introductory phrase which might affect the reading has been neglected, for at first the importance of these small differences was not recognised.

Prayer at the end of H_2 .

The following prayer, which is mentioned in the description of H₂ (Brit. Mus. 425) as being at the end of the MS. on fol. 164, was omitted because no date or name of writer occurred therein. Space, however, has been found at the end of the Introduction, which thus receives an appropriate conclusion.

‘In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, one God, who is Triple in Unity and Single in Trinity; for this is the hope of us Christians.

‘O reader, in spiritual love forgive me, and pardon the daring of him who wrote, and turn his errors into some mystic good.

‘And say that he was not aware of what he wrote, and knew not what he was doing, and committed himself unwittingly to that of which he had no cognisance.

‘The Lord God Jesus Christ who came for the redemption of the world shall forgive this least (of men) by thy prayers and the prayers of his saints who have pleased him in their good works Amen.

‘I have written with my hand, and the writing bears witness to me because one day I shall leave it and depart.

‘O thou that sojournest in the settled abode forget not the departure to-morrow! Because every one who sojourns in a settled abode shall depart.

‘With what strength my hand has written when my hand shall perish my strength is still there.

‘And there is no scribe that will not pass away, but what his hands have written will remain for ever.

‘Write nothing with thy hand but that which thou wilt be well pleased to see at the resurrection.

‘I wrote, and I thought there was no harm because my hand will perish one day, and its writing will remain.

‘And I knew that God will bring it forth to-morrow: what then—O that I had considered—what defence will it make?

‘The Lord God Jesus Christ, may he cause this holy copy to avail for the saving of the soul of the wretched man who wrote it.

‘And lighten the eyes of his mind to know the mystery of his interpretation and the understanding of his spiritual secret, and make him worthy to strive in knowing for himself and him who shall read in it.’

If then the light which is in thee is darkness, how great the darkness? ²⁴ It is not possible that any man should serve two lords: for either (it is) that he hates one, and loves one; or that he accepts one, and despises the other. It is not possible for you to serve God and mammon. ²⁵ Therefore I say to you: "Do not take care about your life: viz. what will ye eat or what will ye drink: nor about your body: viz. with what will ye clothe yourselves." Is not the life better than the food, and the body than the raiment? ²⁶ Consider the birds of (the) heaven that they sow not, nor reap, nor put into barn; and your Father who is in the heavens feedeth them. Are not ye much better than they? ²⁷ And for which of you by taking care is it possible to add (lit. put upon) a cubit to his stature? ²⁸ And why take ye care for raiment? consider the flowers of (the) field how they grow, they toil not, nor spin:

wish that men should do to you, do ye also thus to them; for this is the law and the prophets.

‘¹³ Enter by the narrow gate; because wide is the gate and broad is the road which leadeth to destruction; and many are they who will go in by it. ¹⁴ Because narrow is the gate and straitened is the road which leadeth to (the) life; and few will find it. ¹⁵ And beware of the false prophets who come to you in sheep’s raiment: but inside of them they are ravening wolves. ¹⁶ By their fruits ye shall know them. Do they gather grapes off thorns; or do they gather figs off the thistles? ¹⁷ Thus every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; and the evil tree bringeth forth evil fruit. ¹⁸ It is not possible for a good tree to produce evil fruit; nor an evil tree to produce good fruit. ¹⁹ Every tree which will not produce a good fruit will be cut down and cast to the fire. ²⁰ So

I shall confess him also before my Father who is in the heavens. ³³ But he who will deny me before men, I shall deny him also before my Father who is in the heavens.

³⁴ Think not that I came to send (lit. cast) peace on the earth: I came not to send (lit. cast) peace, but a sword. ³⁵ For I came to set a man at variance against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law: ³⁶ and the man's foes are his household. ³⁷ He who loveth his father or his mother more than me is not worthy of me; and he who loveth his son or his daughter more than me is not worthy of me. ³⁸ He who will not take up his cross and walk after me, is not worthy of me. ³⁹ He who found his life shall lose it; he who will lose his life because of me shall find it. ⁴⁰ He who receiveth you, received me, and he who receiveth me received him who sent me. ⁴¹ He who receiveth a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward; and he who receiveth a righteous (man) in the name of a righteous (man) shall receive a righteous (man's) reward.

XI. And it came to pass (that) Jesus having finished commanding his twelve disciples went away from there to teach and preach in their cities. ² Now John having heard, being in the prison, concerning the works of Christ, sent two of his disciples. ³ He said to him: 'Art thou he who cometh, or look we for another?' ⁴ And Jesus having answered, said to them: 'Go, tell John the things which ye see and the things which ye hear: ⁵ that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead rise, the poor have good tidings preached to them. ⁶ And blessed is he who will not be offended in me.' ⁷ And these being about to go, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: 'What came ye out to the wilderness to see? a reed—the wind shaking it?

³⁵ The good man out of his good treasure sendeth forth the good (thing): and the man who is evil, out of his treasure which is evil, sendeth forth (things) which are evil. ³⁶ And I say to you, that all vain words which [the] men will say, they will give account about them in (the) day of the judgement. ³⁷ For out of thy words thou shalt be justified, and out of thy words thou shalt be judged.'

³⁸ Then some of the scribes and the Pharisees answered him, saying: 'Teacher, we wish to see a sign from thee.'

³⁹ But he answered, he said to them: 'The generation which is evil and adulterous seeketh for a sign; and a sign shall not be given to it except the sign of Jona the prophet. ⁴⁰ For as Jona, who was in (the) belly of the whale three days and three nights; thus also (the) Son of (the) man shall be three days and three nights in (the) heart of (the) earth. ⁴¹ The men of Ninevê shall rise up in the judgement with this generation, and shall judge it:

because they repented at (the) preaching of Jona; and lo, greater than Jona (is) here. ⁴² The queen of (the) south shall rise up in the judgement with this generation and shall judge it: because she came from (the) ends of (the) earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and lo, greater than Solomon (is) here. ⁴³ But if the unclean spirit come out of the man, he goeth forth to dry places, seeking for (a) resting-place, and findeth not. ⁴⁴ Then he saith: "I shall return into my house, the place from which I came;" and if he should come, and find it empty, swept and garnished. ⁴⁵ Then he goeth, and taketh with himself seven other spirits more evil than himself, and he cometh and dwelleth there: and the last (states) of that man are worse for him than his first. Thus it will be for this generation which is evil. ⁴⁶ And while he is speaking with the multitudes, lo, his mother and his brothers were standing outside.

to sit down to meat upon the grass; and having taken the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up to (the) heaven, he blessed them, and brake them, and gave the loaves to the disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitudes. ²⁰ And they all ate, and were satisfied; and they took up that which remained over of the fragments, they filled twelve baskets full. ²¹ And they who ate were five thousand men, without children and women.

²² And immediately he constrained his disciples to enter into (the) ship, and to go (lit. draw) before him across, until he sent away the multitude. ²³ And having sent away the multitudes, he went up on a mountain apart alone to pray: and evening having come, he was there alone. ²⁴ But the ship was at a distance from the land about twenty-five stadia, the waves being against it, for the wind was against it. ²⁵ And in the fourth watch of the night he came to them, but the publicans and the harlots believed him: and ye saw, and ye did not repent at last for (the) believing him.

³³ Hear another parable. There was a man, an owner of land, who planted a vineyard, and set a hedge round it, and digged a winepress in it, and built a tower in it, and delivered it to husbandmen, and went into (the) foreign (land). ³⁴ And when (the) time of the fruits approached, he sent his servants to the husbandmen to receive his fruits. ³⁵ And the husbandmen took his servants, one indeed they beat, and another they killed, and another they stoned. ³⁶ Again, he sent other servants more in number than the first: and they did to them again thus. ³⁷ But at last he sent his son to them, saying: "They will reverence my son." ³⁸ But the husbandmen having seen having delayed, they all slumbered and they slept. ⁶ But midnight having come, there was a cry: "Lo, the bridegroom! Rise, come forth to meet him." ⁷ Then all those virgins rose and they trimmed their lamps. ⁸ And the foolish said to the wise: "Give to us of your oil, otherwise our lamps will be quenched." ⁹ But the wise answered, saying: "(Not so), lest haply it should not suffice for us and you: go ye rather to them who sell, and buy for yourselves." ¹⁰ And having gone that they might buy, the bridegroom came; and they who were prepared went with him into the marriage feast: and the door was shut. ¹¹ And at last came (the) rest of the virgins, saying: "Our Lord, our Lord, open to us." ¹² But he answered, he said: "Verily I say to you, that I know you not." ¹³ Watch then, because ye know not the day, nor the hour.

XXVI. And it came to pass (that) Jesus having finished all these words, said to his disciples: '² Ye know that after two more days the Passover will be, and (the) Son of (the) man will be delivered to be crucified.'

³ Then the chief priests and the elders of the people assembled into the court of the chief priest whom they call 'Caiaphas;' ⁴ and they took counsel that they might lay hold on Jesus with subtilty, and kill him. ⁵ They were saying: 'Let us not do it in (the) feast, that there shall not be a tumult among the people.'

XXVII. Now morning having come, all the chief priests and the elders of the people took counsel against Jesus, so that they might kill him. ² And having bound him, they took him away, they delivered him to Pilate the governor. ³ Then Judas, who delivered him (up), having seen that he was condemned, having repented, returned the thirty (pieces) of silver to the chief priests and the elders, ⁴ saying: 'I sinned, because I delivered (up) righteous blood.' But they said: 'What (is that) to us? thou shalt suffice for (it).' ⁵ And he cast forth the silver (pieces) into the temple, he went, he strangled himself. ⁶ And the chief priests, having taken the silver (pieces), said: 'It is not lawful to cast them to the sacred-treasury, because it is (the) price of blood.' ⁷ And to the multitude, him whom they wish. ¹⁶ And they had one bound at that time, who was (lit. is) a robber, called 'Barabbas.' ¹⁷ They having assembled together, Pilate said to them: 'Whom wish ye that I release to you? Barabbas or Jesus who is called "Christ?"' ¹⁸ For he was knowing that they delivered him (up) because of envy. ¹⁹ And (as he is) sitting on the judgement seat, his wife sent to him, saying: 'Do nothing to that righteous man, for I suffered much because of him this night in (the) dream.' ²⁰ Now the chief priests and the elders persuaded the multitudes that they should ask for Barabbas, and destroy Jesus. ²¹ The governor then answered, he said to them: 'Whom wish ye that I release to you of these two?' And they said: 'Barabbas.' ²² Pilate said to them: 'What shall (lit. will) I do to Jesus who is called "Christ?"' They all said: 'Let him be crucified.' ²³ The governor said to them: 'Why, what evil did he?' But they were crying out the more, saying: 'Crucify him.'

⁵⁷ And evening having come, a rich man from Arimatheas came, whose name was (lit. is) Joseph. This (man) also had been a disciple of Jesus: ⁵⁸ this (man) having come to Pilate, asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded to give it. ⁵⁹ And Joseph took the body, wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, ⁶⁰ and laid it in his new sepulchre, which he hewed-out in the rock: and he rolled a great stone to the mouth of the sepulchre, he departed. ⁶¹ And Mary the Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting before the sepulchre.

⁶² Now on the (lit. his) morrow, which is (the day) after the Preparation, the chief priests and the Pharisees assembled to Pilate, ⁶³ saying: 'Our lord, we remembered that that deceiver said, while living, that after three days I will rise. ⁶⁴ Command then, to make sure the sepulchre until the third day, lest his disciples come and take him away by stealth, and say to the people, that he rose from the dead: and the last error (will be) worse for us than the first.'

not know this parable? and how will ye know all other parables? ¹⁴ He who sowed, sowed the word. ¹⁵ And these are they who are by the road, the place in which the word was sown; and if they hear, then (ΔΕ) immediately Satan cometh, and taketh away the word which was sown in them. ¹⁶ And these, again thus, are they who were sown upon the rocky places, who, if they should hear the word, receive it with joy; ¹⁷ and there is not root in them, but they are (only) for a time; then, if there should be tribulation or persecution because of the word, immediately they are offended. ¹⁸ And others are they who were sown upon the thorns; these are they who heard the word, ¹⁹ and the care of this age, and the deceit of [the] riches, and the lusts of the rest of (things) also, in which they walk (lit. walking in them), choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful.

they say, said to the ruler-of-the-synagogue: 'Fear not, only believe.' ³⁷ And he permitted not any one with him, walking after him, except Peter, and James, and John (the) brother of James. ³⁸ And they came to (the) house of the ruler-of-the-synagogue; and they saw them making-a-tumult, and weeping and lamenting much. ³⁹ And having entered, he said to them: 'Wherefore make-ye-a-tumult, and weep? the child died not, but she slept.' ⁴⁰ And they were mocking him. But he, having put (lit. thrown) all out, took away with him (the) father of the child and her mother and them who were with him, and went into the place in which the child was (imperf.). ⁴¹ And having laid hold on (the) hand of the child, he said to her: 'Talitha kûm,' which is this: 'Child, I said to thee, rise.' ⁴² And immediately the child rose, and walked; for she was (imperf.) [in] twelve years (old). And they were wondering immediately with great wonder. ⁴³ And he ordered them much that no one should know this: and he said that they should give (lit. give eat) to her to eat.

lay hold on him; and they feared the multitude; for they knew that he spake (lit. said) this parable concerning them: and having left him they went (away).

¹³ And they sent to him some of the Pharisees and the Herodians, that they might ensnare him by word. ¹⁴ And having come, they said to him: 'Teacher, we know that thou (art) true, and carest not for any one: for thou regardest not (the) person of men, but teachest the road of God in truth. Is it lawful to give tax to (the) king, or not? should (conj.) we give, or should we not give?'

¹⁵ But he, knowing their hypocrisy, said to them: 'Wherefore tempt ye me? Bring me a stater, that I may see it.'

¹⁶ And they brought (it). And he said to them: 'Whose is this image and this superscription?' And they said to him: '(The) king's are they.' ¹⁷ And he said to them: '(The) king's (things) give to (the) king, and God's (things) give to God.' And they were wondering at him.

Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is not another commandment greater than these.' ³² The scribe said to him: 'Well, Teacher, in truth thou saidst, that God is one; and there is no other except him; ³³ and the loving him with all thy heart, and with all thy power, and with all the understanding; and the loving thy neighbour as thyself,—they are greater than all the whole-burnt-offerings and the sacrifices.' ³⁴ And Jesus having seen him, that he answered (as) having sense (lit. heart), said to him: 'Thou art not far from the kingdom of God.' And no one could dare to ask him (further).

³⁵ And Jesus having answered was saying, (as he is) teaching in the temple. How say the scribes, that Christ is (the) son of David? ³⁶ David himself said in the Holy Spirit: 'The Lord said to my Lord: "Sit thou on my right hand, until I put thine enemies below thy feet."' ³⁷ David himself saying of him, 'Lord;' then (lit. and)

XIII. And (as he is) coming from the temple, one of his disciples said to him: ‘Teacher, seest thou of what kind are these stones, and buildings of what kind?’ ²And Jesus said to him: ‘Seest thou these great stones? a stone shall not be left upon a stone here, (which) will not be pulled down.’ ³And (as he is) sitting on the mountain of the Olives opposite the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him apart: ‘⁴Say to us when these (things) will be? and what is the sign if all these (things) should be going to be fulfilled?’ ⁵And Jesus began to say: ‘Take heed, let not any one lead you astray. ⁶For there are many (who) will come in my name, saying: “I am Christ;” and they will lead many astray. ⁷And when ye should hear of wars and rumours of war, be not troubled: it is necessary that they happen; but the end cometh not yet.

⁹ But take ye heed to yourselves: they will deliver you to councils; and in the synagogues ye will be beaten; and made to stand before governors and kings because of me, for a witness to them and all the nations. ¹⁰ The gospel must first be preached. ¹¹ And if they bring you (to judgement), delivering you up, do not take care beforehand what ye will speak: but that which will be given to you in that hour, this is that which ye will speak: for that which will speak (is) not ye, but it is the Holy Spirit. ¹² And a brother shall deliver (up) a brother to (the) death, and a father shall deliver (up) a son; and sons will rise upon fathers, and will kill them. ¹³ And ye shall become hated by all (lit. all hating you) because of my name: but he

The ordinary ending of the Gospel is found in all the examined MSS. as their text, and only in A and E₁ is there any reference to the alternative ending.

In A, at the end of verse 8, in the break, as if referring to the last twelve verses, is a gloss هذا الفصل المخرج في الرومي 'this is the chapter expelled in the Greek.' In the margin is written by the ordinary early corrector: ΟΥΟΖ ΠΗ ΤΗΡΟΥ ΕΤΑΥΖΟΠΖΕΠ ΜΕΛΟΥ ΠΠΗ ΕΤΑΥΙ ΜΕΠΕΠΣΑΠΕΤΡΟΣ: ΟΥΟΖ ΘΕΡ-ΟΝΩΠΖ ΕΒΟΛ ΔΥΣΑΧΙ ΜΕΛΛΩΟΥ: ΟΥΟΖ ΜΕΠΕΠΣΑ-ΠΑΙ ΔΕ ΟΠ ΔΥΟΥΩΠΖ ΕΡΩΟΥ ΠΧΕΙΠΣ ΙΣΧΕΠΠΙΜΑΠ-ΨΔΙ ΠΤΕΦΡΗ ΨΔΠΕΥΜΑΠΨΩΤΠ ΟΥΟΖ ΔΥΟΥΩΡΠΟΥ ΕΖΙΨΕΠΠΟΥΨΙ ΕΘΟΥΔΒ ΠΑΤΜΟΥΠΚ ΠΤΕΠΙΩΠΘ ΠΠΕΠΕΖ ΔΜΗΝ ΠΑΙ ΟΠ ΠΘΩΟΥ ΕΥΠΠΙ ΠΤΟΤΟΥ ΟΥΟΖ ΜΕΠΕΠΣΑΠΑΙ ΕΥΕΤΑΔΩΟΥ ΠΖΔΠΨΘΟΡΤΕΡ ΠΕΛ-ΖΑΠΖΟΧΖΕΧ: ΟΥΟΖ ΜΠΟΥΧΕΖΛΙ ΠΖΛΙ ΠΣΑΧΙ ΠΔΥΕΡΖΟ† ΓΑΡ ΠΕ. 'And all the (things) which (reading ΜΕΛΛΩΟΥ for ΜΕΛΟΥ) he ordered to them who came after Peter, (lit. and) openly they spake of them. And after these (things) indeed, again Jesus appeared to them from the risings of (the) sun until his settings,

(the) Father. ²⁰ And they, having come out, preached in all places, and the Lord was working with them, and (is) confirming the word by the signs which follow (lit. walk after) them, for ever and ever (lit. unto age of all the ages). Amen.

Gospel of life according to Mark in peace of the Lord.

Amen. Stichoi 1850, Chapters 52.

and he sent them to preach (lit. throw) (the) good tidings, holy, imperishable, of the eternal life. Amen. These (words) themselves are belonging to those: (viz.) And after these (things) troubles and perplexities seized them: and they said not a word to anybody, for they were fearing.'

In E₁, after verse 8, is the break which marks the end of verses in all MSS., and in it a sign corresponding to two similar signs in the margin, which seem to indicate an omitted section: then in the lower margin is written by the original hand ΒΕΝΚΕΥΡΑΦΗ:

Θωκ δε πιθεν εταυθενγεννηπετρος ερωου: αψ-αιτου βενουψωτ εβολ: μενεπεσαναι δε αφοουονγυ ερωου ηχειης: ιςχενπιμεανψαι ητεφρη ψανεψμεανγωτπ: εβολ. ριτοτοου αφοουαρπ μεπιριωψ εθουαβ ηατωδεε βενουουχαι ηπερε. 'In another writing: And all things which they ordered Peter, he did them quickly (συντομως): and after these (things) Jesus manifested himself to them: from the risings of (the) sun until his settings: by them he sent the preaching, holy, unpolluted, for (lit. in) eternal salvation.' This section is translated thus: وكل شى اوصا بهم لبطرس فعلوهم جزما (تقطعا) وبعد هذا ظهر لهم يسوع من مشارق الشمس الى مغاربها و من قبلهم ارسل البشرى الطاهر (المقدس) (gloss) غير النجس. 'And all things which he ordered to Peter, they did them decidedly (decisively): and after this Jesus appeared to them from the risings of the sun to her settings, and by their means he sent the Gospel, pure (holy), without pollution.' There is also a gloss في نسخة المعيد 'in the copy of the Sa'id,' which belongs to the translation.

In the version of A μεμεου probably should be μεμεωου, the distinction between O-ψ and ω-ου (semiconsonantal) being slight. 'Them who came after Peter' corresponds to τοῖς περὶ τὸν Πέτρον, which refers to verse 7, and is common to the Greek, Latin, Ethiopic, and Syriac forms given by Tischendorf, vol. i.

pp. 403, 404, as the versions of Gr. L 274^{mg} k aeth^m et^a syr^p mg. The repeated ΟΥΟΖ is found in the Ethiopic. 'Openly,' lit. 'in a manifestation,' is peculiar, but is parallel with 'quickly,' lit. 'in a cut off,' of E, which corresponds to συντομως. This form of the first sentence in A is nearest to the Syriac form. The second sentence is practically the same in A and E. ΨΩΤΠ is curious for ΖΩΤΠ, considering the interchange between the peculiar Akhmîm letter Ζ and Ψ. The reference to the rising and setting occurs also in the 'ab oriente ad occasum' of the paraphrase of the Pistis Sophia. 'He sent them' corresponds to the Ethiopic, as also does 'to preach.' Gr. 274^{mg}, k, and the Syriac have 'Amen.' 'These &c.,' lit. 'these again, they, belonging to them,' probably corresponds to εστην δε και ταυτα φερομενα, and to 'adduntur alicubi et haec' of the Ethiopic, unless these last translate the previous φερετε(αι) που και ταυτα of Gr. L. ΕΨΕΤΔΖΩΟΥ may be for ΔΥΤΔΖΩΟΥ, the Υ being difficult of pronunciation before Τ. Π must then be for ΠΧΕ.

The form of E₁ has ΔΕ in common with L, 274^{mg}, k, autem, and Syriac, autem. ΖΕΠΖΕΠ is the correct construct form, governing ΠΕΤΡΟΣ immediately; and ΕΡΩΟΥ appears to correspond to the هم of the translation referring to 'all things' (ΖΩΒ ΠΙΒΕΠ being often used as plural). The Arabic translation certainly has 'they did them,' which would agree in some sense with εξηγγιλαν, but better with 'perfectissent' of the Ethiopic, and would imply that the translator read ΔΥ for ΔΥ, the similar forms of Υ and Υ in E₁ making the confusion easy. For 'quickly' see above. قطعا is a gloss on جزما, as also المقدس on الطاهر. ΔΕ corresponds to the Greek and Syriac, but the absence of ΟΠ agrees with the Ethiopic, unless 'postquam' and 'et' have changed places. 'Sent the preaching' corresponds to Greek, k, and Syriac. 'Unpolluted,' 'salvation,' shew that the form of E is more correct than that of A; and the absence of the confused addition of Α, which is a version of the gloss of Gr. L, points to an earlier and more intelligent copyist.

daughters of Aaron, and her name was (lit. is) Elisabet.
⁶ And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and the ordinances of the Lord, being blameless. ⁷ And they had no son, because Elisabet was barren, and they both had grown (old) in their days. ⁸ And it came to pass (that in) doing his priestly-office in the order of his ministry-days before God, ⁹ according to the custom of the priestly-office his lot was to offer up incense.
And he went into the temple of the Lord: ¹⁰ and all the multitude of the people were praying outside at (the) hour of the incense. ¹¹ And an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing on the right hand of the altar of the incense.
¹² And Zacharias having seen, was troubled, and fear came upon him. ¹³ But the angel said to him: 'Fear not, Zacharias: because thy prayer was heard, and thy wife Elisabet shall bear thee a son. And thou shalt call his name "John."

³⁸ And Mariam said: ‘Lo, the handmaid of the Lord; it shall be to me according to thy word.’ And the angel went from her.

³⁹ And Mariam rose in those days, she went in haste to the hill-country to a city of Juda; ⁴⁰ and she entered (the) house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet. ⁴¹ And it came to pass (that) Elisabet having heard the salutation of Mariam, the babe moved in her womb. And Elisabet was filled with the (lit. a) Holy Spirit; ⁴² and she cried out (lit. up) with a loud voice, and said: ‘Blessed art thou among the women, and blessed is (the) fruit of thy womb. ⁴³ Whence is this to me, that (the) mother of my Lord should come to me? ⁴⁴ For lo, as soon as (the) voice of thy salutation was in mine ears, the babe moved for gladness

Simon. Jesus said to Simon: 'Fear not, for henceforth thou shalt be a fisherman catcher of men.' ¹¹ And having drawn the nets to the shore, they left everything, they followed him.

¹² And it came to pass, that (lit. and) they having come into one of the cities, lo, a man full of leprosy. And having seen Jesus, he threw himself upon his face beseeching him, saying: 'My Lord, if thou shouldest wish, it is possible for thee to cleanse me.' ¹³ And he stretched out his hand, he touched him, saying: 'I wish, be cleansed.' And immediately the leprosy went from him. ¹⁴ And he ordered him, saying: 'Tell not any one, but go shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing according as Moses commanded, for a witness to them.' ¹⁵ But the report (lit. word) concerning him spread abroad the more: and great multitudes gathered to hear him, and (for him) to heal them in their sicknesses. ¹⁶ And he used to go to the desert places and pray.

¹⁷ And it came to pass on one of the days, that (lit. and) he was teaching, and Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting, having come from all Galilee, and Judea, and Jerusalem: and the (lit. a) power of the Lord was (present) for (the) curing them. ¹⁸ And behold, men brought one, paralysed upon a bed: and they were seeking to bring him in, and to lay him before him. ¹⁹ And having not found the way of bringing him in because of the multitude, they went up on the housetop, they let him down with the bed through the tiling in (the) midst before Jesus. ²⁰ And having seen their faith, he said to the paralysed: 'Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.' ²¹ And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying: 'Who is this who speaketh this blasphemy? For whom is it possible to forgive sin, except the one alone—God?' ²² And Jesus having known their reasonings answered, he said to them:

they may not see, and hearing they may not hear, and may not understand. ¹¹ Now the parable is this. The seed is the word of God. ¹² And they who are by the road are they who hear: then the devil cometh, and taketh away the word from their heart, that they may not believe and be saved. ¹³ And they who are upon the rock are they (who), when they should hear, receive the word to them with joy; and these have not root, who believe for a time, and in (the) time of temptation they cease. ¹⁴ And that which fell in the thorns, these are they who hear, and the cares and the riches and the pleasures of this life, in which they walk (lit. walking in them), choke them, and they bring not forth fruit. ¹⁵ And that which fell in the good ground, these are they who having heard the word in an honest and good heart (are) laying hold on it, forth on (lit. to) the land, a man came forth to him from the city, having (lit. being) demons with him. And having been (so) a long time, he clothed himself not with a garment, and abode not in a house, but in the sepulchres. ²⁸ And having seen Jesus, he cried out, he threw himself down at his feet, and said with a loud voice: 'What (hast) thou with me, Son of God, who liveth? I beseech thee, pain me not.' ²⁹ For he had ordered the unclean spirit to come from the man. For it had carried him off many times, and they used to bind him with chains and fetters, keeping him; and he used to burst the bonds, and the demon used to lead him to the deserts. ³⁰ And Jesus asked him: 'What is thy name?' And he said: 'Legion;' because many devils went into him. ³¹ And they were beseeching him that he would not command them to go to (the) abyss.

⁹ Herod said: 'John I beheaded: but who is this, concerning whom I hear these (things) of this kind?' And he was seeking to see him. ¹⁰ And the apostles, having returned, spoke before him the things which they did. And he took them away with him, he went apart alone into a city called 'Bethsaida.' ¹¹ But those multitudes were walking after him: and having received them to him, he was speaking to them concerning the kingdom of God, and them who had need of healing he was curing. ¹² And the day was beginning to decline.

And the twelve, having come to him, said to him: 'Send the multitudes away, that they may go to the villages which are around, and the fields, that they may rest themselves, and find that which they will eat: because we are here in a desert place.' ¹³ And he said to them:

(imperf.) right that we should delight ourselves and rejoice: because this thy brother was (imperf.) dead, and he lived; he was (imperf.) lost, and we found him.”

XVI. And he was saying to the disciples: ‘There was a rich man, who had a steward; and this (man) was accused before him as scattering his possessions. ²And having called him, he said to him: “What is this which I hear concerning thee? Give (the) account of the stewardship; for thou wilt be steward no longer.” ³And the steward said in himself: “What shall (lit. will) I do? My lord will take away the stewardship from me. I shall (lit. will) not be able to dig; and I am ashamed to need alms. ⁴I know (lit. knew) what I will do, that, when I should be cast out of the stewardship, they may receive me to them into their houses.” ⁵And having called each of the debtors of his lord, he was saying to the first: “How much owest thou to my lord?” ⁶And he said:

of Arimatheas, a city of the Jews, (one) who was looking for the kingdom of God. ⁵² This (man), having come to Pilate, asked (for) the body of Jesus. ⁵³ And having brought him down, he wrapped him in a linen cloth, and laid him in a sepulchre, which he hewed (in rock), in (which) they laid not yet any one: and he rolled a great stone against (the) door of the sepulchre. ⁵⁴ And it was a day of Preparation.

And (the) beginning (lit. early) of (the) sabbath had happened. ⁵⁵ And the women who came with him from Galilee, having walked after him, saw the sepulchre, and the manner in which his body was laid. ⁵⁶ And having returned, they prepared spices and ointments: and (during) the sabbath indeed they rested according to the commandment.

XXIV. On (the) first (lit. one) of the sabbaths, very early, they came to the sepulchre, having brought the

GOSPEL ACCORDING TO JOHN.

I. In (the) beginning was the Word, and the Word was (imperf.) with God, and God (indef. art.) was the Word: ²this (one) [who?] was (imperf.) from beginning with God: ³all things became through him; and without him did not anything become of (lit. in) that which became: ⁴(the) life was that [which] is in him. And (the) life was (the) light of [the] men: ⁵and the light gave light in the darkness, and the darkness did not apprehend it (lit. him). ⁶There was (lit. became) a man sent from (lit. through) God, his name being John: ⁷this (one) came for a witness, that he

Jesus said to him: 'They have not wine.' ⁴ And Jesus said to her: 'What (hast) thou with me, thou Woman? mine hour cometh not yet.' ⁵ And his mother said to the servants (lit. deacons, also ver. 9): 'That which he will say to you, do.' ⁶ Now were (imperf.) set there six stone waterpots, according to (the) cleansing of the Jews, holding two or three firkins apiece. ⁷ Jesus said to them: 'Fill the waterpots with water:' and they filled them up to the brim. ⁸ He said to them: 'Draw out now, and bring to the ruler-of-the-feast:' and they brought. ⁹ And when the ruler-of-the-feast tasted the water made wine, and was not knowing whence it is; but the servants were knowing, they who filled the water. Then (2€) the ruler-of-the-feast called the bridegroom, ¹⁰ he said to him: 'All men set the good wine first, and if they should drink freely, they bring that which is worse: but thou kept the good wine until now.' ¹¹ This is the first sign which Jesus did in (the) Cana of Galilee, and manifested his glory; and his disciples believed.

(the) Samaria. ⁵He came then to a city of (the) Samaria called 'Sychar,' being near to the field which Jacob gave to Joseph his son. ⁶And a fountain of water of Jacob was (imperf.) there. Jesus then having been wearied from the road of walking, sat thus at (lit. upon) the fountain; it was the sixth hour. ⁷A woman then came from (the) Samaria to fill water: Jesus said to her: 'Give to me that I may drink.' ⁸And his disciples had gone to the city that they might buy victuals for them. ⁹The Samaritan woman said to him: 'How dost thou, a Jew, ask from me to drink, I (being) a Samaritan woman?' for the Jews mingle not with the Samaritans. ¹⁰Jesus answered and said to her: 'If thou knewest (imperf.) the gift of God, and who saith to thee: "Give to me that I may drink,"

⁴³ And after the two days he came from there to Galilee. ⁴⁴ For Jesus himself bare witness, that there is not a prophet honoured in the city which is his own. ⁴⁵ When then he came to Galilee, the Galileans received him to them, having seen all things which he did in Jerusalem in (the) feast; for they also had come to (the) feast. ⁴⁶ He came again to (the) Cana of Galilee, the place in which he caused the water to become wine. There was a king's-officer, having a son sick in Kapharnaum. ⁴⁷ This (man) heard that Jesus came from Judea to Galilee: he went to him.

For the things which the Father doeth, these likewise (lit. again) the Son also doeth. ²⁰ For the Father loveth (the) Son, and will shew to him all things which he doeth; and greater works than these will he shew to him, that ye may wonder. ²¹ For as the Father raiseth the dead, and maketh them live, thus again the Son also maketh live them whom he wisheth. ²² For the Father will not judge any one, but he gave all the judgement to the Son; ²³ that all might honour the Son as they honour the Father. He who honoureth not the Son, honoureth not [again] the Father also who sent him. ²⁴ Verily, verily, I say to you, that he who heareth my word, and believeth him who sent me, hath eternal life, and will not come to (the) judgement, but removeth from (the) death into (the) life. ²⁵ Verily, verily, I say to you, that an hour cometh, which now is, when the dead will hear (the) voice of (the) Son of God, and they who will hear shall live. ²⁶ For as there

Thus the Coptic gives three versions: (1) B, the nearest to the Greek, but not having the peculiarities of Gr. D. (2) V, which is said to be translated from the Syriac, but does not agree closely with either of and wrote with his finger upon the earth. ⁷ But having delayed in his answering, he lifted his head up, and said to them: 'He who is sinless among you, let him cast a stone upon her first.' ⁸ And he bent down his face, and wrote upon (the) earth. ⁹ And having heard these (things) of him, they knew that he (is) reproving them. They began to come forth one by one, until all the old men came forth; and Jesus was left alone with the woman who was (imperf.) in (the) midst.

¹⁰ And Jesus lifted his head up, and said to her: 'O woman, where are they (ⲡⲁⲓ for ⲡⲉ)? no one judged thee.'

¹¹ She said: 'Not even one, Lord.' Said Jesus to her: 'Neither do I judge thee: go, henceforth, and set thee not to sin any more.' Translation of the section in B ends.

Tischendorf's authorities: although often allied to B, it belongs more closely to A^{mg} &c., and the differences from them look like a different translation rather than a different version. (3) A^{mg} &c., of which D₁^c E_{1.2} J₁ are said to have been translated from the Arabic, and E₂ from the Greek also, though containing no important variation. The Arabic version of the Gospels, where not depending on the Coptic, is regarded as connected with the Syriac, and the resemblance here between A^{mg} &c. and V points to a common Syriac origin.

even in some of these it is written in lines which differ from the lines of the original, and it is remarked against it, that it is not in the Coptic.

I found it in one Coptic copy which says that it was translated from the Arabic copies into the Coptic language.

The Greek copy which I possess, and which is written in two columns, one Greek and the other Arabic, does not contain it either; the Arabic being a translation by Ibn Thâwfil (Theophilus). And the original of the other Arabic copy, also a translation by the aforesaid, only contains it on a small leaf attached, and the writer remarks as follows:

‘And this section was wanting in the copy which I transcribed, a correct (and) ancient copy; so I transferred it from another copy.’

I found a note in the Syriac translation, as follows: ‘This section is not in the Syriac, nor in the Greek, and is only found in the Coptic translation.’ Therefore I was unwilling that the copy should be without it.

It is written in the margin in Syriac in some of the Syriac Gospels, but not in others. I found it also in a Gospel in the Syriac writing by Abba Yûnas, archbishop of Damascus, in very small writing with a different pen from the original; and he has remarked as follows: ‘This section is not in the Syriac, but Baulâ (Paul) translated it from the copies of the Alexandrians.’

We mentioned this section to the priest, Abu ’l Faql, the Melkite in Cairo, being of those who are acquainted with the Greek language; so ¹²Again Jesus spake to them, saying: 'I am (the) light of the world, he who will walk after me, shall not walk in the darkness, but shall receive (the) light of (the) life.' ¹³The Pharisees then said to him: 'Thou thyself bearest witness about thyself; thy witness is not true.' ¹⁴Jesus answered and said to them: 'Even if I should bear witness about myself, true is my witness, because I know whence I came, and whither I am to go. But ye know not whence I came, or whither I am to go. ¹⁵Ye judged according to flesh; and I judge

he wrote it on paper in Greek, and gave it us, and said: 'I have transcribed it from a copy which I had from Constantinople.'—The end of the note.

The Bodleian text of this note is rather the fuller of the two, but the Brit. Mus. text makes several places clear where the meaning of the authør Ibn al 'Assâl would have been otherwise obscure.

The Vienna MS. of like character, edited by Lagarde, has هذا الفصل ليس في القبطي ولا في نسخ الرومي كلها ولا كل السرياني 'this section is not in the Coptic, nor in all the Greek copies, nor all the Syriac.'

IX. And passing, he saw a man blind from birth. ² And his disciples asked him, saying: 'Rabbi, who sinned? this (man) is it, or his parents is it, that he was born being blind?' ³ Jesus answered: 'Neither this (man) sinned, nor his parents; but that the works of God might appear in him. ⁴ We must work the works of him who sent us while it is the day; and the night cometh, when it is not possible that any one work. ⁵ While I am in the world, I am (the) light of the world.' ⁶ Having said these (things), he cast spittle down, and he made clay from the spittle, and he anointed (the) eyes of the blind from birth. ⁷ And he said to him: 'Go, wash thy face in the pool of the Siloam,' which they interpret 'he who was sent.' He went then, he washed his face, and he came seeing. ⁸ His neighbours then, and they who knew him at first, that he was one begging alms, were saying: 'Is this not he who was sitting, begging alms?' ⁹Some indeed were saying that it is he; and others were saying: 'Nay, but he was like him.' And he was saying: 'I am (he).' ¹⁰They were saying then to him: 'How were thine eyes opened?' ¹¹That (man) answered, he said: 'The man who is called "Jesus," he made clay, he anointed my eyes, and he said to me: "Go, wash thy face in the Siloam." I went then, I washed my face, I saw.' ¹²They said to him: 'Where also was that man?' He said: 'I know not.' ¹³They then brought to the Pharisees him who was (imperf.) once blind. ¹⁴Now it was (the) sabbath (on) which Jesus made the clay, and caused his eyes to be opened. ¹⁵Again then the Pharisees were asking him: 'How sawest thou?' and he said to them: 'Clay he put upon mine eyes, and I washed myself,
